Perry's Victory Takes Davis Cup To Great Britain

Defeats Andre Merlin, France, 4-6, 8-6, 6-2, 7-5, in Deciding Match For International Tennis Supremacy at Auteuil

Austin Defeated By Henri Cochet

Latter Makes Gallant Comeback to Take Five-set Struggle; First British Victory Since 1912

Canadian Press and Associated Press

Auteuil, France, July 31.—Great Britain now holds the historic Davis Cup for the first time since 1912, having ended France's six-year international tennis reign with a three-two victory in the challenge round.

The British triumph yesterday robbed France of a chance of tieing the record of seven successive Davis Cup victories and took from Paris this silver bowl which almost had become identified with the national honor.

Frederick J. Perry, galloping steed of the British squad, rounded off a great victory in the final and deciding match, beating audacious Andre Merlin, French youngster, 4-6, 8-6, 6-2, 7-5, after Henri Cochet had defeated Bunny Austin in a stubborn duel, 5-7, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, to square the series count at two all.

The bitterness of defeat was softened somewhat for the French by Cochet's gallant comeback after his unexpected defeat in the singles Friday and by the plucky fight Merlin made against Perry.

CROWD FRANTIC

There were times when the French thought a fairy hand was reaching over the court to give the weaker player victory over the stronger. A capacity Sunday crowd shouted, screamed and applauded their former hero, Cochet, and passed to moments of virtual delirium when Merlin played magnificently to win the first set from Perry.

The youngster, aided by the crowd, rattled Perry from the first game which the Frenchman won at love. The newcomer to cup play launched into an accurate volleying and lobbing game which swept the Englishman from his feet and caught him time and again at the net.

Playing Cochet's style of game, Merlin used many of the ex-champion's customary shots more effectively than Cochet used them yesterday. Letting nothing pass, Merlin kept this sensational streak up to the fifth game of the second set, when Perry found his strokes and his courage and began the drive which took the cup to England.

BANK CLEARINGS UP FOR MONTH

July bank clearings in Victoria rose $422,979 over last year according to figures released to-day by the Victoria Clearing House. The total for July of this year was given as $6,606,357 while in 1932 the July clearings only amounted to $6,183,378. This is the greatest rise since the present movement of increases started in May.

PREMIER BACK, TALKS FARMING

Back to Work Before Election Announcements, Says Dr. Tolmie

Proud of British Columbia's Showing at World Grain Fair at Regina

Premier S. F. Tolmie returned to his desk this morning after attending the world's grain show at Regina, but had nothing to say regarding the date for the election.

"An announcement will be made soon," he said, in reply to reporters' questions. "Just now I have a lot of back work to catch up."

The Premier said he was firmly convinced that business was on the upswing again and was highly pleased with the wonderful record of British Columbia in capturing thirteen first prizes out of a total of fifty-four against exhibits from all over the world.

The United States came second with twelve and other nations trailed far behind.

"Experts from all over the globe had their eyes opened by the British Columbia exhibits," said the Premier, "and the prizes awarded to this province show what can be accomplished here by scientific agricultural methods. I am proud of the part the Department of Agriculture has taken in encouraging farmers throughout the province to send exhibits to Regina and prouder still of the accomplishments of our exhibitors."

MIXED FARMING

Mixed farming is increasing on the prairies, the Premier stated, and inquiries were being made as to how many hogs Canada could ship to Great Britain this year, the quota of this country being 50,000.

Government officials from the east were agreed that business was beginning to pick up, and with it, grain prices.

Charts were produced at the meeting showing that world prices did not depend on grain prices. On the contrary, grain prices followed the trend of other commodities.

WHERE POLICE SAY AGED MAN HELD BY ABDUCTION GANG

Ransom of $40,000 Paid For Freeing of New York State Democratic Leaders' Nephew After Twenty-three Days; One of Men Questioned By Police Is Waiter

Albany, N.Y., July 31—With John J. O'Connell Jr. free to-day after more than twenty-three days in the hands of abductors, three men were held by the police here and questioned.

A ransom of $40,000 was paid for the release of the twenty-four-year-old National Guard lieutenant and nephew of Ed. and Dan O'Connell, Democratic leaders of Albany, who was kidnaped early July 7 as he alighted from his auto.

"We are questioning three men," was the curt statement of District Attorney John T. Delaney to-day. "I cannot give you further details."

One was said to be a waiter.

Two men were picked up yesterday evening and early to-day a third was taken into Delaney's office.

CLEAN-UP PREDICTED

A general clean-up, including the arrest of the abductors and recovery of the money, was predicted by one of the officers. He believed it would come in "short order."

RESCUE AFTER PLANE CRASH

Three Men Picked Up Where Col. V. Spencer's Machine Wrecked in North B.C.

Vancouver, July 31.—The seaplane "City of Prince George" was wrecked near McConnell Creek, northern British Columbia, but its occupants, Pilot W. R. McCluskey, Air Engineer Fred Stanes and W. S. "Duke" Harris, mining man, were not injured, according to advices received in Vancouver to-day.

The men were picked up by Pilot Ken Dewar of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, who started a search after the all-metal seaplane, owned by Col. Victor Spencer of Vancouver, had been unreported for a week.

Dewar found the machine had been wrecked in a forced landing and took the three men to Burns Lake yesterday.

BANK INQUIRY SOON TO START

Montreal, July 31.—In a dispatch from its Ottawa Correspondent, The Montreal Star says:

"The appointment, very possibly to-day, of the royal commission which is to inquire into monetary and allied matters was indicated this morning by Sir George Perley, Acting Premier.

"Lord MacMillan of London, who is to head the commission, is en route to Canada aboard the same ship as Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, and will arrive at Quebec on Thursday. Other members, who it is understood include Sir Thomas White and Beaudry Leman, will come to Ottawa, probably next week, to confer with Baron MacMillan concerning the procedure to be followed.

"Discussion is proceeding whether the commission will be decided on to make the commission fully representative."

MAN MISSING; GANG SUSPECTED

David Kahan, once wealthy real estate dealer of Brooklyn, was missing to-day and relatives feared he was held by abductors ignorant of the fact he is no longer well-to-do.

A survey shows six states have increased the penalty for kidnaping to death since the abduction wave started sweeping the United States.

JANITORS RUN MAN TO EARTH

Other Cases Cleared Up By Arrest; Two Others Are Apprehended

Caught by two janitors in the Pemberton Building early yesterday morning, James E. McNaughton pleaded guilty in the City Police Court this morning to three charges of breaking and entering and two of possessing stolen goods.

William Watkins and Frank Davies, who were arrested by detectives later pleaded not guilty to charges of possessing stolen goods and possessing drugs.

Sentence on McNaughton was reserved and the other two remanded to Thursday for hearing before Magistrate George Jay.

George Hawes and Stanley Weston, janitors in the building, were responsible for the arrest of McNaughton, just after he had come out of the office of Dr. M. J. Keys. Sighting him, they gave chase and he fled down the stairs from the fourth floor. Running down, he slipped and struck his head on the wall, sustaining two bad bruises.

The janitors pounced on him and then called the police patrol, Constables P. Atkinson and H. Mercer taking McNaughton to the station.

Detectives Henry Jarvis and Pearon Woodburn took up the case at headquarters and as a result of their investigation went to a house on Earsman Street where they arrested Watkins and Davies. They also recovered a large amount of property allegedly stolen from several stores in the city.

Charges to which McNaughton pleaded guilty were: Breaking and entering Dr. Keys's office with intent to commit theft; breaking and entering Dr. Thomas McPherson's office and committing theft; breaking and entering the Begg Motor Company's garage and committing theft; having possession of stolen goods, the property of Alderman James Adam, grocer; unlawful possession of drugs, cocaine, morphine and heroin.

The two offices in the Pemberton Building were entered by way of the transoms after midnight Saturday. At Dr. McPherson's office $5 worth of stamps, $7.50 in cash and $75 in cheques was missing.

Watkins and Davies were charged jointly with McNaughton on possession of stolen goods and drugs but pleaded not guilty.

James Adam's grocery was entered last week and a quantity of cigarettes and groceries stolen.

The drugs allegedly found in possession of the accused came from Jeanneret's Drug Store, 1545 Fort Street, which was also entered last week.

Victorian Wins First Round In B.C. Contest On Hospitals Aid Measure

In Vancouver Magistrate Acquits F. C. Elliott, Barrister, of Charge of Violating Act by Refusing to Pay Levy on $2.50 Meal Check; No Statement on Behalf of Provincial Government Yet By Attorney-General, But Early Move Before B.C. Appeal Court Is Expected

Canadian Press

Vancouver, July 31.—F. C. Elliott, Victoria barrister, won his first round against the British Columbia tax on meals today when Magistrate J. A. Findlay acquitted him of a charge of violating the Hospitals Aid Act, which imposes a tax on all meals costing 50 cents or more. Mr. Elliott recently declined to pay a 14-cent tax on a $2.50 meal check in a Vancouver restaurant.

The magistrate stated he would hand down written reasons for his decision later.

Mr. Elliott had contended the act imposing the tax is ultra vires and had said he would appeal if the case should go against him in the police court.

At the police court hearing on July 13 M. B. O'Dell, appearing for Mr. Elliott and A. C. Desbrisay, for the provincial government, presented a mass of evidence and quoted numerous court cases bearing on the tax.

DECLARED EXCUSE TAX

The magistrate this forenoon said: "I have considered carefully the cases cited and the reasons for the judgment given by the honored judges of the Court of Appeal in the case of the Attorney-General of British Columbia vs. Kingcome Navigation Co. Limited.

"The nature of the tax imposed by the Fuel Oil Tax Act and that imposed by the Hospitals Aid Act is to all intents and purposes the same. The difference, if any, is neglible. As the majority of judges has held that a tax on the consumers of fuel oil is an excise tax, I feel bound to find the duty imposed on the consumer of a 50-c. meal by the Hospitals Aid Act tax is also an excise tax and ultra vires of the Provincial Legislature. I therefore dismiss the case."

Attorney-General Pooley this morning said he would await the written reasons the magistrate said he would hand down before he would make any official comment on the government's action. His remarks, however, indicate, the next step will be an appeal to the British Columbia Court of Appeal.

PAYROLLS ADD OVER 79,000

Return to Work Movement in Canada Gains Momentum in Three Months

With 35,398 workers being added to Canadian payrolls, the increase in employment at the beginning of July was greater than it has been in any July since 1920, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports in a review of the employment situation throughout the Dominion received in Victoria to-day.

The 8,125 establishments reporting data had 778,148 persons on their staffs on July 1 as compared with 742,750 on June 1. This pronounced increase of 35,398 employees caused the bureaus index to rise by 3.8 points to 84.5 as compared with the average seasonal advance of about two points in the experience of the last twelve years.

The upward trend of employment noted in the last three months, gathering momentum in its progress, has provided work for over 79,000 persons, besides increasing the working hours of others previously employed.

It is worthy of note that during the same three-month period in 1931 the firms reporting added some 38,000 to their staffs, while last year in the corresponding period the gains were only slightly over 18,000. The second quarter of the year is normally a period of industrial expansion, but the increase this year was over twice as large as that of 1931, and more than seven times as great as in 1932.

Especially pronounced advances have occurred in manufacturing, in which the gain exceeded that reported on July 1 in any preceding year for which data are available.

CHINESE FISHERMEN OUSTED BY FRENCH

Canton, China, July 31.—Reports from Hainan to-day said Chinese fishermen had been ordered to leave seven islands recently annexed by France and were being removed to the Paracel Islands, in the China Sea.

France recently announced the occupation of seven small islands between the Philippines and French Indo-China.

MRS. E. FAWCETT PASSES AWAY

Came With Parents From England Via Panama in 1862

Death took toll of another of Victoria's few remaining pioneers in the passing yesterday at the Jubilee Hospital of Mrs. Myra Fawcett, of "Dingley Dell," Selkirk Avenue, Victoria West, widow of Edgar Farwcett, who was for many years in the Dominion Customs Service in this city.

A native of Yorkshire, England, where she was born nearly seventy six years ago, the then Myra Holden came to Victoria at the age of five with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. John Holden and two sisters. They sailed from England in May, 1862, and traveling by way of the Isthmus of Panama and San Francisco arrived in Victoria late in July.

After residing in Victoria for two years, the family moved to Nanaimo, where Mr. Holden carried on a business in co-operation with the local mines. Mrs. Fawcett was educated at St. Ann's Convent, Victoria, and in 1876 married Edgar Fawcett, residing in this city ever since.

She is survide by two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Morgan, Nanaimo, and Mrs. Frank H. Shepherd, Nelson, and two sons and three daughters, Thomas Douglas Fawcett, Seattle; Mrs. W. C. Shiner, Victoria; Mrs. W. W. Stephens, San Diego, Cal.; Victor C. Fawcett, Nanaimo, and Mrs. John H. Bimes, Victoria. One son, Edgar L. Fawcett, died in July, 1925, from the effects of overseas service.

Funeral services will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Interment will be made in the family plot in Ross Bay cemetery.

RETAIL STORES

Washington, July 31—Authorization for retail merchants to put into effect temporarily their own proposed code providing for a 48-hour work week, instead of 40 as provided in President Roosevelt's blanket wage and hour agreement, has been given by Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator.

Bennett's Failure Means Early Change States King

Election Will See People Turning From Conservative Policies to Those of Liberals, Leader Tells Big Audience at Henribourg, Saskatchewan

Henribourg, Sask., July 31.—The Bennett government was given a free hand, and it has not succeeded. It is time to try other methods.

Addressing a large picnic audience at this point in his constituency of Prince Albert on Saturday, Mr. King referred to the difficult conditions under which people were living. The Dunning budget of 1930, he said, had been designed to improve conditions not only for the farmers but for the eastern manufacturers. But Mr. Bennett had come along with another plan and the people had accepted it.

Had Mr. Bennett's plan succeeded? asked Mr. King. Was the unemployment problem solved? Had Mr. Bennett blasted into markets for the Canadian farmers? He had failed.

BIG EXPLOSION WRECKS HOTEL

Eight Or Nine Persons Killed To-day in Blast in Brunn, Czechoslovakia

Brunn, Czechoslovakia, July 31.—An explosion of undetermined origin blew out the front of the four-story Hotel Europea here at 7.45 a.m., burying scores of guests in the ruins.

Three bodies were recovered shortly before noon.

Late this afternoon it still was impossible to search the ruins completely, but it appeared the total dead would remain below ten, with approximately fifty persons injured, seven of them critically.

The blast rocked the whole city and flames from the explosion shot 200 feet in the air.

The explosion took place at a morning hour when most of the guests were still inside.

It was not known whether it was a bomb or gas explosion.

Brunn, with a population of 263,646, is in west central Czechoslovakia, about 110 miles southeast of Prague.

Political observers declare the government as a government will offer few candidates. Its strategy will be to offer no opposition to candidates who appear to be more or less friendly.

Care Required In Civic Budgetting

Need For Strict Economy Not Past, Says Mayor Leeming in Annual Report

Net Debt of City Now $12,366,000; Nearly Half-million Matures This Year

"While our financial postion is absolutely sound, it is imperative for the next few years that most careful consideration be given to the city's financial requirements, and the strictest economy in every department of the civic service must be exercised."

This is the warning sounded by Mayor Leeming in his remarks introductory to the city's annual report for 1932, which was released to-day.

The mayor's statement covers in summary form the steps taken by the City Council to meet the unusual financial situation created by additional burdens due to the depression, and makes particular reference to relief.

ANDORRA HAS REVOLUTION

Universal Suffrage Hereafter For Little Republic Between Spain and France

Associated Press

Toulouse, France, July 31—Residents of Andorra, the world's oldest republic, according to dispatches received here, have won universal suffrage and have set up a new provisional government by insurrection.

The revolution, apparently bloodless, was led by a young element, which was discontented with a rule specifying only heads of families could vote.

The dispatches said the provisional government had taken an oath to support the new constitution.

Andorra, whose maximum length is seventeen miles and maximum width eighteen miles, is situated between France and Spain among the peaks of the eastern Pyrenees. It has an area of 191 square miles, with a population of slightly more than 5,000.

O'Connell, Albany, N.Y. Freed By Abductors

whom struck him over the head as he was alighting from his automobile, and being imprisoned in an apartment, shackled, handcuffed and blindfolded, with only sandwiches to eat, was related to-day by John J. O'Connell Jr., in an interview copyrighted by the Albany Times Union.

The nephew of Albany's powerful Democratic leaders, released early Sunday in New York city after being held for ransom since July 7, said he had had no opportunity to see any of his captors and did not believe he would be able to identify any of them.

"My feet were tied together and I was hancuffed," young O'Connell said in the interview. "Several times I was required to sign messages sent to my family. The bandage was lifted slightly, just enough for me to see the edge of the paper where I placed my name."

SUFFERS FROM SHOCK

Albany, N.Y., July 31.—John J. O'Connell Jr., twenty-four-year-old scion of the politically powerful O'Connell family of Albany, was released to an intermediary early yesterday by the abductors on payment of $40,000 ransom. Young O'Connell, who was kidnaped July 7, was uninjured, but suffering from shock and exhaustion.

An automobile carrying only young O'Connell and Louis Snyder, attorney, representing Manny Strewl, intermediary, who effected the youth's release, climbed the steep mountain road to the O'Connell camp at 4 o'clock yesterday morning and delivered him to his father, John J. (Solly); and his uncle Dan. Ed., another uncle, the county Democratic chairman, arrived at the camp later.

After holding him more than three weeks in an attempt to collect $250,000 ransom, the kidnapers apparently became alarmed, possibly by the death sentence meted out in Missouri to Walter McGee, who kidnaped Miss Mary McElroy, and hastened to restore the young Albany athlete and National Guard officer.

REDUCED AMOUNT

Last Monday the gang reduced the demand to $75,000, and when the family offered $40,000 and ignored other demands, the abductors finally agreed to accept less than one-sixth of their original demand.

In a limited statement given out for young O'Connell by one of his uncles, he was said to have had the impression he was held in a comfortable New York City flat. He also believed, Dan O'Connell said, four or five armed men had snatched him. They knocked him unconscious as he stepped from his motor car about 1.15 a.m. July 7. When he recovered consciousness he was in the flat.

"I was not ill-treated," he said. "They gave me plenty of good food and shaved me twice."

The ransom was paid last Friday evening at the O'Connell camp, Dan turning the money over to Strewl. The bills were small ones. They were marked, the numbers being made known to both local and federal agents.

CHECKMATED

It was said the abductors in order to obliterate a trail, deposited the money in a New York City bank and then a few hours later checked it out. This was checkmated by the bank returning the same bills.

Charles F. Urschel, millionaire oil man kidnaped by machine gunmen in his Oklahoma City home July 22, was still missing to-day, according to dispatches. There was no word from his captors.

PERRY RECOVERS

With the luck of youth behind him, Merlin ran to two set points in the tenth game, but Perry's racquet was becoming more and more trustworthy and the Briton ran out the set at 8-6 and moved into the third set with growing confidence and considerably more respect from the hilarious stands.

Merlin won his first service as he did in every set, but dropped three straight. He halted Perry's rally temporarily in the fifth game, but Perry wrung out three more for an easy 6-2 victory.

But Merlin declined to let the cup go so easily. He fought to the bitter end. To the tenth game of the last set wagers were being made freely that the youngster would come out on top. In the tenth game he stayed off match point and then lobbed to square at 5-5. The Englishman was annoyed, but put on steam and ran out at 7-5, breaking the Frenchman's service at love for 6-5 and then sliding out on his own service for the game that won set, match, series and cup.

COCHET ERRATIC

Cochet found his old form in streaks to beat Austin, but the veteran Frenchman still lacked the killing punch he once had. Time and again he prepared the way cannily, then failed to bring off the shot that should have earned the point. Ten times he missed easy net shots.

The battle opened softly, but developed into a smashing duel starting with the fifth game of the first set. This game was twelve times deuced before Cochet netted. The Frenchman dropped his service four times and Austin, leading 6-5, went on to take the set at 7-5.

In the second set Cochet speeded up and forced Bunny into many errors, but although he won the set the Frenchman's game still was weak. He frequently dropped his service after leading 30-0 or 40-0.

The pair skidded along on fairly even terms through the next two sets and Austin gained a 4-2 lead in the fifth and seemed to have the match in hand. Then Cochet summoned all the reserve strength left in his body, won his own service in the seventh game and then staved off the imperturbable Englishman to win the next three games, set and match.

CUP PRESENTED

The Davis Cup officially changed hands in a ceremony in the Roland Garros Stadium, built for and by it. The crowd arose as the huge bowl was carried to the centre court. A phonograph blared the strains of "God Save the King" and the "Marseillaise."

Pierre Gillou handed the cup to Herbert Roper Barrett, who hugged it tightly as though it were a baby while the fans, with lumps in their throats, bid it Godspeed.

MOVE TO RAISE U.S. STEEL WAGES

Secretary of Labor Tells Employers Proposed Recovery Code Needs Revising

Associated Press

Washington, July 31.—Secretary Perkins of the United States Department of Labor today told the steel industry the working hours it proposed were too long and the wages too low to accomplish President Roosevelt's "broad purpose" of re-employment and widespread purchasing power.

Appearing at the opening session of hearings on the code, designed to fix pay and hours for the industry, the woman cabinet officer asserted it did not make adequate provision for abolition of child labor and severely criticized the proposed method of apportioning hours.

Instead of numerous wage zones with differing hourly rates, ranging from 25 cents in the south to 40 cents in highly industrialized areas, she proposed the number of such zones with a differential be determined by a thorough study of costs.

Washington, July 31.—Directors of the United States iron and steel industry voted unanimously to-day to eliminate the much-disputed "company union" clause from the proposed steel code.

The move was in the face of determined opposition to the "company union" section, which organized labor was preparing to combat. It was welcomed by Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, as a harbinger of more harmony.

PREMIER BACK, TALKS FARMING

Accompanying the Premier west were Hon. Robert Weir, federal Minister of Agriculture, who will attend the opening of the Vancouver Exhibition; Hon. Adelard Godbout, Minister of Agriculture for Quebec, and his deputy, J. A. Grenier. Mr. Godbout and Mrs. Godbout are guests of the Premier at his Cloverdale home.

APPLES

Premier Tolmie said he was in favor of a satisfactory form of "orderly selling," of farm products. He cited the marketing of apples as an example, saying one variety of apple would be thrown on the market before the supply of earlier varieties had been marketed, resulting in lower prices all around. With proper marketing arrangements, growers would receive a more satisfactory price than in the past few years.

BENNETT IS TO SPEAK ON TOUR

Ottawa, July 31.—The voice of the politician is being heard on the hustings these days in increasing volume, and if indications do not fail the air will be filled with party debates in rising volume in the next few months. It is understood a committee of the Dominion Cabinet will arrange tours for such speakers as may be spared to carry to the people a statement of the government's record, and it would not be surprising if Prime Minister Bennett, on his return from London, should find time to make some speeches in the west.

MANION SPEAKS

St. Eustache, Que., July 31.—The system which the Canadian Co-operative Federation leader, J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., proposed to introduce into Canada, if his party should be successful, was the system which existed under the name of Communism in Russia—"A system based on tyranny and oppression and the outlawing of personal and religious freedom," said Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, in speaking here Saturday at the twenty-fifth anniversary of the entry of Hon. Arthur Sauve, Postmaster-General, into public life.

An attempt, Dr. Manion declared, was being made by the C.C.F. leader to capitalize the discontents of to-day—discontents which existed throughout the world due to the three years of depression. Whatever Mr. Woodsworth might call himself, it was the Communistic system of Russia that the C.C.F. head proposed for Canada.

Care Required In Civic Budgeting

Tribute is paid to the late city engineer, F. M. Preston, who died during the year after twenty years of service with the city.

The financial statement accompanying the report notes the surplus of $22,406.21 carried forward to the 1933 budget.

On the city's two waterworks systems, a net profit of $29,913.76 is shown on the Sooke system and a loss of $5,308.30 on the Goldstream section.

Figures on the city debt show the gross bonded debt at the end of the year as $16,510,227.74, to which $4,144,007.81 is applied in sinking funds, leaving the net debt as $12,366,219.93. The amount maturing this year is $449,646.92 and next year $296,100. Without new borrowings the full debt would be paid off by 1970, although it drops to practically nothing in 1961, when more than $4,500,000 is due.

WATER CONSUMPTION

Interesting figures on water consumption are provided by the city engineer. The metered consumption from the Sooke system was 1,[illegible],000 gallons plus 391,850,000 for sewer flushing and 101,000,000 gallons for watering boulevards. From Goldstream 359,933,000 gallons was recorded on the meters. Including the amounts lost by leakage and for fire fighting, and other causes the total consumption from the two systems was 3,402,040,000 gallons.

The vital statistics submitted by the health officer reveal 697 births and 637 deaths during the year, the birth rate being 11.4 per thousand and the death rate 10.4. There were 375 marriages, a rate of 6.1. The leading cause of death was heart and circulation trouble which accounted for 31.7 per cent. Cancer was second and cerebral hemorrhage third.

HEADS MEXICO'S SIX-YEAR PLAN

GEN. PLUTARCO CALLES

Mexico City, July 31—The mobilization of Mexico's resources for rehabilitation of its economic life through a six-year programme, began to-day under the command of General Plutarco Elias Calles, the "Iron Man" and former President of Mexico.

The first act was a conference of General Calles, President Rodriguez and Finance Minister Alberto J. Pani, just back from the World Economic Conference in London.

One point involved in the plans concerns the possibility of a trade agreement with the United States in preparation for what Calles predicts will be an "economic warfare between continents."

POLICE FAIL TO FIND GUNMEN

Attack on Home of Woman in Denver Remains Unexplained

Associated Press

Denver, Colo., July 31—Police investigation of the mysterious hail of bullets into the home of Mrs. Frances Ellsworth, housewife who aided in the solution of the Charles Boettcher abduction case, ran into a blank wall today.

Mrs. Ellsworth and her husband, W. B. Ellsworth, narrowly escaped from a fusillade of slugs fired at their home late Saturday evening by unknown assailants.

Acting Captain of Detectives Charles Burns said he had virtually abandoned a theory the bullets might have been fired by either Verne Sankey, former Saskatchewan railroad worker, and Gordon Elkhorn, fugitives who were indicted for the abduction of the wealthy Denver broker, or by any of their relatives or henchmen.

"I can't reconcile myself to the belief any of the Sankey gang would face the danger of coming back here for the purpose of trying to 'get' Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth," said Burns.

PIONEER DIES AT WELLINGTON

Nanaimo, July 31.—Charles Hosko, aged seventy years, a pioneer of East Wellington, died there yesterday afternoon. He was a native of Austria and is survived by the widow and eight daughters, Mrs. R. Meredith, Mrs. W. Meredith, Mrs. J. Godfrey, Mrs. G. Banasky, Mrs. R. Tatro, Mrs. C. Morgan and Mrs. L. Morgan, all residing at East Wellington, and Mrs. H. Waite, California. The funeral will be held on Wednesday with Rev. J. Hitchen officiating.

TO-DAY'S GOLD PRICE

Montreal, July 31 (Canadian Press).—Gold sold in London to-day at a premium of 46.62 per cent in terms of Canadian currency. The official price was 124 shillings, while a premium of 6½ pence was paid, making the price 124 shillings 6½ pence. Price in Montreal was $30.30 an ounce.

CANADA RAISES LOAN IN LONDON

union Government within a week. The other was the renewal of the loan of $50,000,000 borrowed from the chartered banks of Canada. The renewed loan is to run for one year.

In both cases it indicates the lower trend of interest rates. The interest on the loans to the Canadian banks was reduced from 4½ per cent to 3½ per cent. In the case of the British loan, which will run for twenty and twenty-five years, the 4 per cent money to some extent no doubt will be used to pay unconverted Victory Bonds falling due this autumn, and which bear interest at 5½ per cent.

CONVERSION LOAN

The Victory Bonds falling due in the autumn total $169,971,850 and the expectation has been the Canadian people would be asked to convert these into new bonds at a lower rate of interest. However, if the response in London this week is encouraging it may lessen the pressure to sell in Canada and leave more money for other investments in this Dominion. The plans have been to float a $500,000,000 conversion loan in Canada this fall.

As far as is known there, there are no plans formulated for borrowings this year in London apart from the £15,000,000.

MOVE WELCOMED

London, July 31.—A cordial welcome has been extended the new Canadian loan of £15,000,000 to be floated in 4 per cent bonds, press commentators pointing out the supply of trustee stocks offering such terms is hard to find and the Dominion's credit has always stood high here.

"Canada alone among the Dominions has not gained anything by the Lausanne agreement," remarked The London Times, "for while she has ceased to receive anything in respect of reparations, she does not benefit, like Australia, from the moratorium granted by Britain to her own debtors, for she owes nothing in respect of war debts outside her own borders."

The London Daily Telegraph declared the issue, first of Canada's loans on the British market in many years, lends stress to last week's declaration of the Dominion's representatives and the United Kingdom leaders of a desire for solidarity in monetary matters, and effectively advertises to the rest of the world that London is again in a position and willing to resume sound overseas lending.

"When one remembers," The Telegraph continued, "that last March the Canadian Minister of Finance pronounced strongly in his budget speech against linking the Canadian dollar with sterling, the change in the trend of feeling is unmistakeable."

It is the first time in twenty years a Dominion of Canada loan has been underwritten here.

Arrangements for the loan had been in hand since some time before the World Economic Conference was assembled and the announcement it had been underwritten caused no surprise in the money market.

NOT SURPRISED

New York, July 31.—Commenting today on the £15,000,000 loan Canada is negotiating in the London market, The New York Times says:

"News Canada has gone to London for its latest financing will be no surprise to the New York financial section. That such a loan would be floated in the English market has been reported for some time.

"Since the departure of Great Britain from the gold standard in September, 1931, virtually all Canadian financing has been done internally. The wide discount of the Canadian dollar in relation to the United States dollar operated against the flotation of loans in this market. That discount, of course, has been greatly narrowed since the United States followed Great Britain off the gold standard.

"The resumption of borrowing in London fits in with the British Empire's new monetary policy. The Empire delegates to the World Economic Conference, in their declaration last Thursday, noted with satisfaction the progress which has been made . . . . in the resumption of overseas lending by the London market, and agreed that further advances on these lines will be beneficial."

and possibly make the momentous announcement soon.

The most important thing the Premier had to talk of this morning was British Columbia's success at the World Grain Fair. "I am proud of our people and our record at Regina is conclusive answer to the criticism that we are not making progress in agriculture," he said.

To direct questions about the election date, put to him by reporters, the Premier smiled. "An announcement will be made soon," he said. "I have a lot of work to catch up on just now."

* * *

Adding to the troubles already facing the government, comes the news today that Magistrate Findlay of Vancouver has decided against Hon. J. W. Jones's meal tax with which he expected to solve British Columbia's hospital problems.

Major S. F. M. Moodie, Liberal organizer, is busy on party matters on the mainland.

This year, due to the redistribution of constituencies, preparation for the election will take longer as the names of thousands of voters must be transferred from one polling division or one constituency to another. Six weeks is about the shortest practical time between the announcement of the election and the event allowing for printing of ballots and organization of polling staffs.

"The complexion of the whole issue was more or less a Conservative camouflage," says a mainland paper, referring to the nomination of Major J. McGregor as independent candidate for Mackenzie. Major McGregor is a strong supporter of the Conservative Party.

Liberals, who have nominated Henry Castillion in Mackenzie, look upon that constituency as one of the most certain gains in the province.

At a meeting held last week at the home of James Elrick, Bowser candidate in Esquimalt, committees were appointed to look after the campaign. Mr. Elrick in a short speech, said Hon. R. H. Pooley, present member for the Esquimalt constituency, has never represented the district, and has never taken much interest in the welfare of the people. Mr. Elrick criticized the provincial government for the wastage of money and for the unnecessary number of cabinet ministers. He also touched upon the general inefficiency of the government.

Glowing reports were made by Mr. Elrick's workers, and everyone was immensely cheered by the expressions of confidence and popularity that were expressed by the large gathering, which included a good representation from the rural districts.

Bennett's Failure Means Early Change, States King

NOT THE SAME

He spoke of the C.C.F. "The people will have to consider whether they are going to accept untried panaceas or tried leadership," he said. The C.C.F. had started the cry that "the two old parties are just the same."

They were not the same, Mr. King insisted.

He spoke of the Liberal policies. The Liberals stood for establishment of a central bank which would control currency and loans, he said. It stood for establishing a national commission to deal with unemployment. There must be means of providing necessary credit for reliable farmers and others who require money to conduct their activities. The Liberal Party advocated the creation of a central institution which would see that adequate credit and necessary money were available. There should be a board of control for investments and the Liberals stood for this.

C.C.F. AND INSURANCE

Supposing the C.C.F. took over all insurance companies, what guarantee was there any of those who had paid premiums for years would receive anything for their investment? Once the public confidence in these institutions was disturbed there was danger. But they could and should be controlled in the interests of society as a whole, and this the Liberal Party stood for.

State control as advocated by the C.C.F. was condemned by Mr. King. He did not think people who had come to Canada to escape the sort of thing the C.C.F. stood for would be taken in.

The C.C.F. was offering a new heaven and a new earth, he said, but the people would be indescribably foolish to think it could bring it about.

Mr. King remarked that "we all have our ups and downs,' but if an election was held to-morrow he probably would be up and Mr. Bennett down'.

ALBERTA M.P.P.'S SPEECH

For the meeting the Liberal leader drove out from Prince Albert and found the large audience waiting under a dull gray sky with a cool wind blowing. On the platform erected on the picnic field were seated J. G. Gardiner, M.P.P., former Premier of Saskatchewan; Mrs. Gardiner, Hon. T. C. Davis, M.P.P., of Prince Albert, and stalwarts of the Liberal Party in the vicinity.

Brief speeches were given by Mr. Davis and Mr. Gardiner. The former remarked he was told "Mr. Bennett had kept only one of his promises. That promise was to put the Canadian farmer on his feet, and he has done it." This remark, with its suggestion the farmers were walking now where they formerly rode, aroused a laugh.

Toronto, July 31.—Former stage manager for a number of Toronto theatres, Charles O'Donnell died yesterday at the age of forty-seven. At one time he was connected with the International Association of Theatrical Stage Employers and Motion Picture Operators' Union. Later he became secretary of the Canadian Motion Picture Projectionists' Union.

ROBBERY IN WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, July 31 (Canadian Press)—Police to-day sought expert safe crackers who blasted the strong box of a Portage Avenue fruit store during the week-end, and escaped with $1,200 in cash and cheques. The cash haul was $960. Refusing to be burdened, the robbers left $5 in coppers and $2.50 in nickles in the safe.

GANG MURDER IN NEW YORK

Jim Dolan, Who Was Late Mrs. Diamond's Bodyguard, Shot to Death

By Dale Harrison, Associated Press Writer

When Mrs. Alice Shiffer Diamond, widow of the notorius "Legs" Diamond, was murdered a few weeks ago, Jimmy Dolan said, "I'll get the guys who did this I'll get 'em."

But he never will. They "got" him first—"got" him through the back yesterday evening in a Brooklyn beer garden and then ran away into the night. Dolan mortally wounded, staggered in pursuit, fumbling for his gun. At the curb he fell. When police arrived he was dead.

Doland was acting as bodyguard to Mrs. Diamond up to the time she was slain.

Mrs. Diamond was found murdered in her apartment soon after she had remarked to friends she was "getting tired of covering up for a lot of lugs," by which she apparently meant she might start talking, to the discomfiture of whatever "lugs" she had in mind.

They "got" her first, and Dolan swore his oath of vengeance, and they "got" him.

BABY LOSES ITS LIFE IN FIRE

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, July 31.—A fourteen-month-old baby lost its life and a house maid to-day lay near death in a hospital here following a fire which destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Buss at Whitemouth, Man., during the week-end. The fire followed an explosion of kerosene when Rosie Beyer, the maid, poured oil into a cook stove.

The youngster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buss, was trapped in an upstairs room.

AUTO DRIVER LOSSES LIFE

Wyevale, Ont., July 31 (Canadian Press).—Joseph Tarick Walsh, Toronto lawyer, was killed Saturday while motoring near Cawaja Beach. His car struck the railing of a bridge three miles south of here and rolled into the Wye River. The accident was not discovered for four hours.

Visitor Missing From Ontario Camp

Canadian Press

Brockville, Ont., July 31—Dr. A. Hugh Hipple, sixty-eight, dean of Creighton Dental College, Omaha, Neb., is missing from his summer home near here. Although a careful search was carried out yesterday and to-day under the direction of Ontario provincial police, no trace was found of him.

Dr. Hipple left his home in a boat for a fishing trip Saturday intending to return in two hours. When he failed to appear, the search was started.

BODY FOUND IN LAKE

SOFTWOOD WARNING

Newcastle, Eng., July 31 (Canadian Press)—Dr. Herbert Levinstein, chemist and former president of the Society of Chemical Industry, warned of a wood famine as a real danger in a speech at a conference of the society here. He predicted softwood supplies from Canada would be exhausted in the lifetime of living people.

Langford

Representatives from Luxton and Colwood were present at a meeting held on Thursday evening in the Women's Institute Hall.

Dr. Cyril Wace, who was the first speaker, explained the principles of the Red Cross workshops. The one in Victoria was opened in April of 1921 to enable disabled ex-service men to supplement their small pensions with work.

Since its organization ninety-five men have found suitable employment and an appeal has never been made before to the public for funds, but owing to present conditions more work was solicited for the men in the workshop.

Major Stanley H. O'Kell, manager of the workshop, thanked the L.W.I. members for the use of the hall and the opportunity to bring the activities of the workshop to their notice.

Letters were read showing the value such a training as the shop gives, to disabled veterans.

Miss Kelly, president of the Colwood Women's Institute, and Mrs. J. E. MacDonald, L.W.I. secretary, thanked the speakers, saying their institutes would do all in their power to aid the workshop.

Mr. and Mrs. James Duncan and Jimmie, who have been spending a vacation in Portland, have returned to their home in Station Road.

Mrs. N. A. Moss and Sons, who have been the guests of Mrs. Stephen at "Idlewilde," Langford Lake, have returned to their home in Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Maxam and sons, who have been spending a week at Upper Lafalot, Langford Lake, have returned to their home on Tinto Street, Oak Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Timberlake and family, who have been spending a vacation at Langford Lake, returned on Friday to their home on Quadra Street, accompanied by Mrs. M. Crawford and daughter from California.

Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen and family, who have been spending a vacation at Sassenos, have returned to their home, Marshwood, on Station Road.

STRAWBERRY VALE

Miss Nancy Barr, Wilkinson Road, has returned from a visit to Nanaimo.

Miss Eva Jones, Carey Road, returned on Wednesday from Sooke, where she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Percival.

Mrs. W. Wallington and daughter Kathleen, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Williams, Roy Road, have returned to their home in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Pratt, Snowdrop Avenue, have as their guests Mrs. E. Kelly and Sons, Robert and James, of Port Angeles.

Miss Ethel Rogers, Burnside Road, has returned from a visit to Vancouver.

BADGE OF ROOSEVELT PROSPERITY CAMPAIGN

Above is a reproduction of the poster of the National Recovery campaign in the United States, of which Times readers have been told so much in dispatches in the last few days. In blue and red, the badge now is seen on the windows of hundreds of thousands of factories, stores and other business plants. The device also is affixed to labels on goods and printed on letterheads. The N.R.A. stands for National Recovery Act. President Roosevelt himself urged that organizations displaying this label be patronized rather than others which have refused to sign the agreement with him and co-operate.

By James P. Selvage, Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, July 31.—Hundreds of thousands of workers throughout the United States went to their jobs at increased wages to-day, while in the capital a long-awaited hearing on a code of fair competition for steel, the key industry, tested the machinery of the national recovery administration.

A tremendous response of the people to President Roosevelt's appeal for higher wages and shortened working hours to spread employment was shown on the recovery administration's chart of progress.

In the Chicago area alone the Department of Commerce district office estimated 100,000 persons were affected by employers signing the agreements.

More than 2,000,000 club women had been summoned by their national organizations to-day to establish a virtual boycott against merchants and others who refuse to adhere to the national recovery programme.

FLYERS GUESTS OF PRESIDENT

Capt. and Mrs. Mollison Entertained at Roosevelt Home Yesterday

Hyde Park, N.Y., July 31 (Associated Press).—The flying envoys from Great Britain—Capt. and Mrs. James Mollison—were received yesterday by President and Mrs. Roosevelt at the family home here.

Despite his intention to spend the first week-end at home alone, Mr. Roosevelt happily cancelled plans in order to welcome the daring flying family from overseas for luncheon at "Krum Elbow."

The only woman to cross the treacherous Atlantic alone — Amelia Earhart Putnam — and her husband, accompanied the Mollisons here from New York.

The fliers remained for luncheon and early in the afternoon departed by automobile with a motorcycle police escort for New York.

PLANES USED AGAINST TRIBES

Canadian Press

Simla, India, July 31—Four squadrons of British bombing planes to-day were standing by, ready to bomb certain villages of the Bajarui tribe on the northwest frontier of India at dawn to-morrow if the tribesmen have not by then complied with a demand to surrender three agitators accused of fomenting unrest in the Bajarui and Mahmand tribes.

The leader of the trio is known to the British as the "Mad Fakir," and is regarded as mainly responsible for the situation. The operations were undertaken partly to defend the friendly Kalimzai tribe, whom the Mohmands and Bajaruis have been threatening.

The King of Afghanistan, against whom the tribesmen also have been trying to stir up trouble, is using influence for peace.

Fusilades of rifle fire greeted the British airplanes yesterday when they dropped notices of the intentions to bomb on the Khar headquarters of the Bajarui tribe.

ATHLETES HEAR CHANCELLOR HITLER

Associated Press

Stuttgart, Germany, July 31.—The "March into the Third Reich" climaxed the great turnfest yesterday as 150,000 turners paraded in a body twenty-three miles long before Dr. Paul Goebels, Nazi Minister of Propaganda and Public Englightment. Later the athletes listened to an address by Chancellor Hitler.

The Chancellor, who had flown here from Bayreuth, in substance delivered a passionate eulogy of brawn over brains. Intellectuals lacking in physical courage and strength, he declared were apt to become schoolmasters for healthier races.

"We want a strong Reich of hard-fisted men," he said. "The so-called intellectual period with its liberalistic stamp threatened the people with decay. Not strong philosphers but browny men can protect us."

CHIEF INJURED

CIVIC PICNIC BIG SUCCESS

Large Attendance at Annual Outdoor Gathering of Employees' Association

Favored by glorious weather, the annual picnic of the Civic Employees' Protective Association at Goldstream Flats on Saturday was a great success. There was a large attendance of employees and their families and friends, who spent the full day outdoors.

Mayor Leeming and Aldermen J. D. Hunter, P. R. Brown, John A. Worthington, R. T. Williams, Walter Luney and W. D. Tood were guests of the association, and after lunch, which was prepared by the ladies, the mayor addressed the gathering.

His worship made reference to the difficulties faced by the council in abnormal times. It had been necessary to reduce wages, he said, and thanked the civic staffs for their co-operation during a trying period. This co-operation had been very helpful

Games and sports made up the afternoon programme with a baby show as an added attraction.

PARTY TO VISIT POWER SITE

Canadian Press

Nelson, B.C., July 31.—A visit of sixty-eight motorists from Bonners Ferry, Idaho, under the auspices of the Kootenay Valley Commercial Club, will be made to inspect the Corra Linn dam and river control works generally of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company, whose application is now before the International Joint Commission for permission to control the flow of the Kootenay River here and to utilize Kootenay Lake water storage at the low water period. Idaho is an interested party.

Chemainus

Chemainus, July 31.—Under the patronage of Chemainus Women's Benefit Association a successful garden tea and sale of home cooking was held in the grounds of Mrs. Frank Work, Chemainus, July 27. Tea was served at small tables arranged with vases of sweet peas. The general arrangements were in the hands of Mrs. James Cook and the ways and means committee. Tea arrangements were by Mrs. Cherrington and the social committee. The proceeds will go into the general fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn C. Layton and their two sons, Wayne and Lawrence, of Southgale, Cal., who have been camping at Bear Point, were shown over the Victoria Lumber and Manufacturing Company's plant Thursday. They left Chemainus Friday for Nanaimo, and from there they crossed to Vancouver.

Mrs. A. W. MacDonald of Vancouver, a former Chemainus resident, is staying here with friends.

Miss Mary Wyllie has as her guest for a few days Mrs. W. J. Calhoun of New Westminster.

Mrs. George Neale and her son Gordon, who have been spending a vacation in Vancouvr with Mrs. Neale's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Olsen, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkerson (nee Miss Margaret Arbuthnot), who were recently married in Victoria, have returned from their honeymoon.

Mrs. Russell Robinson and her daughter, Muriel, who have been spending a vacation in Nanaimo, guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Trenholm, have returned home.

Wallace Gourlay of Ladysmith is visiting his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Wyllie.

Miss Edith Payne has returned to Fuller's Lake from Portier Pass, where she had been spending a vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Allison.

Mrs. Alexander Work and her daughters, Gladys and Eileen, are visiting friends in Port Angeles.

Duncan and Tom McLaughlin are holidaying with friends at Langford Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Balgent have returned to Vancouver after visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Balgent, and Rev. E. M. Cook and Mrs. Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McBride have as their guest Miss Ena Henderson of Victoria.

Mrs. M. A. H. Reid of Ladysmith is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Allester.

Mrs. A. V. Lane and Mrs. Hilda Brown, who have been guests of Mrs. Lewis G. Hill for a week, have returned home to Vancouver.

Mrs. A. Gustafson has as her guest Mrs. John Martin of Vancouver.

Mrs. Robert McBride, who has been visiting Dr. and Mrs. Allan Fraser, Quadra Street, Victoria, has returned home.

SALT SPRING HOME BURNED

Ganges, July 31.—Fire completely destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Whims, near St. Mary's Lake, Salt Spring Island, last Friday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Whims and their family had been staying in Victoria with relatives during the week. The cause of the fire is unknown. The property belonged to Mr. W. M. Palmer of Ganges and was insured, but the contents of the house are a total loss.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Halley of "Sandal," North Salt Spring, entertained last week in honor of their daughter, Miss Sheila Halley, at an "American tennis" tournament. The match ended in a tie between Betty Scoones, Michael Ley, Sheila Halley and Garnet Young, the two latter winning the play-off, 7 to 5. Betty Scoones and Michael Ley took second prize.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Parsons and their family are camping on their property overlooking Ganges Harbor.

Mrs. Benzie and Mrs. A. J. Eaton were joint hostesses at a tennis tea at Harbor House courts Friday afternoon. Owing to illness, Mrs. Eaton was unable to be present, but in her absence her daughter, Miss Edna Morris, assisted Mrs. Benzie. Among those present were: Capt. and Mrs. Waugh, Mrs. H. Moorhouse and Miss Dorothea Moorhouse, the Misses Middleton, Mrs. Cecil Springford, Mrs. W. Stacey, Mrs. A. G. Crofton, the Misses Doreen and Denise Crofton, Dr. R. Rush, Mr. H. W. Bullock, Misses Nora Turner, Sheila Taylor, Jean Benzie and Simone Chantelon; Messrs. E. Borradaile, J. D. Halley, P. Bion, P. Crofton and several others.

Mrs. H. Moorhouse was hostess at a luncheon party given in honor of Mrs. W. H. Belson. The guests included Col. and Mrs. W. H. Belson, Mr. and Mrs. Herkemer, Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Popham, Mrs. Andrew Smith, Mr. H. W. Bullock and Miss Dorothea Moorhouse.

Miss Gladys Borradaile has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. Graham Shove, in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Evans and Miss Daisy Evans, accompanied by Mrs. D. Tweedhope, left Ganges Friday morning on a motor trip up Vancouver Island.

Douglas Hamilton left Thursday evening for Keating after a two-week visit with relatives on Salt Spring Island.

The boys of St. Martin's Guild, Vancouver have returned to their homes after an enjoyable two-week camp on Formby Island.

NEW DWELLINGS TO BE ERECTED

Permits for five new residences were issued in the Greater Victoria area last week.

In Saanich Mrs. A. Blythe, 1879 Null Street, will build a four-room frame and stucco dwelling at a cost of $1,800, and Philip Blythe, 504 Beach Drive, plans a five-room dwelling costing $3,000 in Cloverdale.

A frame dwelling at 608 Oliver Street, Oak Bay, will be built at a cost of $2,300 by B. Brandson, the owner of the property.

F. C. Johnson was given a permit for a five-room stucco bungalow on Bewdley Avenue in Esquimalt, the cost being estimated at $2,000. W. H. Liddiard plans a rustic dwelling at the corner of Tillicum and Colville Roads costing $2,200.

The total value of the new work planned is about $10,300.

BEAVERBROOK ON TOUR

London, July 31 (Canadian Press)—Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born newspaper peer, has gone on a visit to the French colonies in Africa expressly for a study of the customs union between France and her colonies. The baron, who conducted a vigorous empire "free trade" crusade some years ago, explains this is the system he thinks should be adopted by Great Britain with respect to her colonies.

MUNICIPALITIES DO WELL

In his report for 1932, Mr. Robert Baird, Inspector of Municipalities, strikes an optimistic note and pays a generous compliment to the municipalities of the province for the manner in which they have conducted their business during one of the most trying times in their history. Mr. Baird very properly remarks that the year 1932 was one in which they carried a tremendously heavy burden, and says the results of the year's work "are really a source of considerable satisfaction."

Mr. Baird is not given to superlatives; he is a very able and conscientious official. His praise for the municipalities, therefore, may be taken as a well-merited tribute. They have had a great deal of difficulty to contend with by reason of the fact that the province underwent many months of uncertainty while the Dominion government was floundering in haphazard relief policies. It would not have been surprising if Mr. Baird's report had been a gloomy one under the circumstances.

When everything is considered, an expenditure by all the municipalities of $31,003,420, compared with total receipts of $28,111,219, is by no means a bad showing. And Mr. Baird notes a reduction in land assessments by $9,680,084 and in improvements by $11,060,079, reduction in debenture liabilities by $581,099, elimination of new borrowings, save for unemployment relief, an increase in sinking funds by $221,947. These go down on the credit side.

The report shows that the combined liabilities of the municipalities as at December 31 last were $142,017,677, of which the total debenture debt was $129,332,791. Itemized, the liabilities included: schools, $15,592,820; streets and bridges, $29,090,106; other non-revenue producing items, $18,069,817; domestic water, $23,684,603; electric light, $2,621,187; other revenue producing items, $1,167,013; sewers, general, $16,673,553; sewers, local improvement, $1,842,739; other local improvements, $19,605,614; better housing, $907,495; unemployment relief, $77,884; sundry outstanding debts, $12,684,886.

Total sinking funds were $29,928,209, against requirements of $33,406,429. The net shortage in sinking funds increased by $1,899,017, and was largely contributed to by a few areas. Surplus sinking funds, reducing the group shortage, were $792,449, contributed by thirty municipalities.

When the Municipal Inspector's report for 1933 is ready, we may expect a much more satisfactory record. There are evident in most centres a new spirit and new activities. As already referred to in these columns, the increasing volume of the weekly bank clearings is an indicator of the economic revival which has set in.

THE BANFF CONFERENCE

Next month the Institute of Pacific Relations will hold, at Banff, its first international conference on Canadian soil. Probably one hundred and fifty delegates will be present, representing not only all of the great nations bordering on the Pacific but European countries as well.

The purpose of the Institute of Pacific Relations and therefore of the Banff Conference is, in the words of its constitution, the "study of the conditions of Pacific peoples with a view to the improvement of their mutual relations." The study which the institute carries forward consists of a continuous process of unofficial discussion and education, supported by scientific research. The biennial conferences form the focussing points of this process which is carried on between conferences by organizations in the constituted countries—in Great Britain by the Royal Institute of International Affairs; in Canada by the Canadian Institute of International Affairs; in the United States, Japan, China, the Soviet Union, Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines by national councils of the Institute of Pacific Relations.

The importance of these unofficial conferences is evidenced by the calibre of the delegates who have attended them. Lord Hailsham was the leader of the British delegation in 1929; Mr. Matsuoka, who has been pleading Japan's case before the League of Nations was a member of the Japanese delegation of the same year; Sir Arthur Currie, the Hon. N. W. Rowell, and the Hon. Vincent Massey have headed the last three Canadian delegations; while this year the British delegation will include Sir Herbert Samuel and Dr. W. T. Gregory of the London School of Economics; the United States delegation will be headed by the Hon. Newton D. Baker, and the Canadian delegation will include Mr. Rowell, Mr. W. M. Birks, Mr. George C. McDonald and Sir Robert Falconer. The names of the Japanese and Chinese delegates have not yet been announced but it is understood that they will include leaders in the political, academic, professional and business life of the Orient.

The very fact that competent though unofficial representatives of Japan and China are willing at this crisis in their countries' fortunes to come to Banff to meet face-to-face in friendly and frank discussion, speaks volumes for the work of the Institute of Pacific Relations. Mr. Matsuoka may advise the Japanese government to withdraw from the League of Nations; he does not advise the Japanese Council to withdraw from the Institute of Pacific Relations. Those who have studied the work of previous conferences realize the reason for this, for they look to the informal contacts of Japanese, Chinese and the members from the western countries, outside as well as inside the round table discussions at the Banff Conference, to provide the most fertile source of the ideas which will eventually prove to be the solution of the Far Eastern problem. Only in such an atmosphere can national representatives get away from the artificial question of national prestige and reach the fundamentals of economic and social realities which underlie the conflict in the Far East.

This is not to say that the Banff Conference expects to find an immediate solution of the Far Eastern problem, for the Institute of Pacific Relations is thinking in terms of results in the next decade, rather than in the present one. It seeks at conferences and between conferences by a patient, quiet, objective search of scientifically-minded men and women in different countries to understand the forces which underlie the development of civilization in the Pacific area, for these forces must first be understood before they can be controlled. And though the institute refrains carefully from even the appearance of action in its corporate capacity—for it passes no resolutions and advocates no policies—yet it seeks to influence events by the influence of its research activities and conferences on the men and women who take part in them.

Yet even the by-products of conferences have been important in the past and may be important in the future. Thus Lord Hailsham has attributed the improvement in the relations between Great Britain and China which occurred between 1927 and 1929 in part to the 1927 conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations. That conference was also followed by the appointment of the leader of the British delegation, Sir Frederick Whyte, to the position of chief adviser of the National Government of China, where he played an important part in restoring good relations between China and foreign powers.

SENATOR TAYLOR TO MR. POOLEY

Attorney-General Pooley's elaborate defence of the Ladner Bridge contract and his refusal to permit an inquiry into the matter because, in his opinion, it would be absurd for the Lieutenant-Governor to investigate his own actions, has by no means impressed The British Columbian, the New Westminster daily owned and edited by the Conservative Senator J. D. Taylor.

An editorial in Saturday's issue observes that "it is foolish procedure on the part of a Prime Minister to put his limb of the law into harness for duties so drab as those of a Minister of Public Works, who should be the cart horse of the administration." Our Conservative contemporary goes on to say that the natural effect is to disturb the mind of the Attorney-General, and cause him to forget some of the statute law of the province. "To the confusion of Mr. Pooley there is the imposing volume of the Consolidated Statutes of British Columbia," says The Columbian, "which he can find in the legislative library, and which will tell him this, on page 1419":

> 3. (1) Whenever the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council deems it expedient to cause inquiry to be made into and concerning any matter relating to the election of any member of the Legislative Assembly, past or present, or into and concerning any matter connected with the good government of the province, or the conduct of any part of the public business thereof, including all matters municipal, or the administration of justice therein, or into payments or contributions for campaign or other political purposes, or for the purpose of obtaining legislation, or obtaining influence and support for franchises, charters or any other rights or privileges, from the legislature or government of the province by any person or corporation or by any of the promoters, directors or contractors of such corporation, or by any other person in any way connected with, representing or acting for or on behalf of such corporation or any of such promoters, directors or contractors, the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may by commission intituled in the matter of this act, and issued under the great seal, appoint commissioners or a sole commissioner to inquire into such matters.

The New Westminster daily suggests to Mr. Pooley that the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, meaning the ministers of the day assisted by the Lieutenant-Governor as referee for the whole people, might very well find it expedient to inquire into the recent goings on in connection with the franchise for the bridge in question. It then concludes:

"The public are becoming very uneasy about this matter; and it is not reassuring to find ministers like Mr. Pooley deciding in the name of the Lieutenant-Governor that the lid is to be kept clamped down. If the Lieutenant-Governor has no authority in a case of this kind where his ministers act so strangely, the people are foolish to incur the expense of his establishment."

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE POUND AND DOLLAR

The Montreal Star

Is the new situation good or bad? No simple answer is possible. It cuts both ways, helping our trade here and hurting it there. But the issue would have to be decided on broader grounds, in any case. If Canada wants to join the United States in its world price-raising movement, then everything is going finely with our dollar. In the end what we really will want is stability for our money, stability in terms of the pound in which we sell wheat and the American dollar in which we pay debts. The happy situation for Canada will come when our money finds a firm level, pound-dollar fluctuations cease, and we can get on with our daily business without perpetual headaches and currency disturbances.

U.S. GOVERNMENT'S CLUB

The Detroit Free Press

The government has a special new club to use on dissenters from the Industrial Control programme. It will probably be more effective than either public hearings or the example of co-operating industries.

It consists of private advice to this effect: "We know you don't see things our way. But unless you co-operate—unless you put men back to work and raise wages so the effect is noticeable by the end of the year—what the next Congress will do to you is going to be just too bad."

This treatment has worked in two cases already. Business Tories are more afraid of Congress than of anything else in the world.

Insiders predict that resistance to the shorter week will reach a point where only the full weight of the President's personal prestige can get the results the government wants. Several industries have amended their code plans since the retail trade proposal was published. They are thinking of ganging up on General Johnson to prove that the shorter week would ruin them.

By H. B. W.

HAPPINESS

A NOBLE gentleman in the British House of Lords has proposed the creation of a chair of happiness in every university. This seems to be a sound idea, for unquestionably we are living in the most unhappy age in all history. Apparently most of the civilized world, in the scramble for the means of happiness, has forgotten altogether how to be happy. But to think, as Keats said, is to be full of sorrow, and that is just the point that the noble gent overlooked in proposing a chair of happiness in every university.

You can't learn happiness in universities or other places where they think too much. For once you start to think about the condition of the world, once you become interested in the latest theories of science concerning life and the universe, happiness becomes quite impossible. No man of knowledge and conscience can look out at the present spectacle of mankind and the latest discoveries and be anything but full of sorrow.

For that reason our universities are hotbeds of disluusionment and cynicism and unhappiness. I never saw such an unhappy generation as is pouring out of our schools and colleges to-day. Indeed, if our politicians and governors knew what the young were thinking these days, how cynical they have become about politicians and governors and all the arrangements of society, these eminent gentlemen would not sleep in their beds at night.

The only happy people left, so far as I can discover, are those too ignorant to realize how bad things have become, among whom may be numbered many successful politicians and leaders of business. What is evidently needed at every university, is a chair of Cheerful Ignorance to be filled by some fellow like you or me. But the world doesn't want that, doesn't want happiness. It wants to get ahead, which is an entirely different thing. It wants to keep moving at a violent speed in the pursuit of happiness, even though happiness is probably going in the opposite direction. This is called progress. With the depression lifting, we are getting ready for another inspiring burst of progress just around the corner.

NO VERVE

I AM BEGINNING to think there is something lacking in the political capacity of Victoria. We don't seem to have any imagination in our public life down here, no talent for excitement and verve. Here we are on the eve of something or other which may occur at any time (but probably will be delayed until November), and yet no one is thrilled. No one is doing anything he shouldn't do. Apparently we are going through the election smug and comfortable and mid-Victorian.

Look how much more spirit other people can put into this thing, what fun they get out of it, what a jolly summer they are having. In North Vancouver the Liberals hold a nominating convention and, such is the surging, crusading spirit of Liberalism over there, that it ends in a mild and friendly riot, with a few noses broken, some collars torn off and one man's trousers being removed in the rush. That's what I call politics and patriotism. The men of the North Shore believe in things passionately. They get a kick out of life.

Up in the green and pleasant land of Cowichan politics is still more interesting. There the campaign is being waged, not on any mundane issues of economics, not on the usual selfish demands of a country constituency, but on the eternal verities. One candidate says he stands for the principles of the Oxford Group. Another insists that he has always stood for them, that the labor movement has fought for them these thousand years. And the electors seem to like it. It is all unreal and radiant and innocent like a child's dream of Santa Claus.

But here there are no eternal verities. There aren't even any broken noses and minor riots. It is a great mistake. We won't get another chance like this for four or five years.

BOMBS

THE BRITISH Government insists that, while it will agree to the prohibition of aerial bombing in civilized warfare, it must be allowed to use "police" bombing in its far-flung empire. On this interesting distinction, the problem of prohibiting aerial bombing at present is held up, to be discussed again when the poor old Disarmament Conference reconvenes in October.

The ethical reason of the British Government in this matter is peculiar. The argument, in brief, is that it is wrong to bomb civilized people in warfare, but it is quite all right to bomb uncivilized people on the borders of India or Asia Minor in times of peace. But there is more logic here than you would think. The point is that if you bomb a civilized country it will proceed to bomb you back. But if you bomb a tribe of pesky dark-skinned natives, including their women and children, they can't do anything about it. Therefore, by all means bomb them.

The funny thing about it is that hardly any other nation has supported the British view. The other nations hold that if you allow police bombing, some foreign aviator may get the idea he is a policeman and drop a few bombs absent-mindedly in undesirable places. It is all very amusing anyway, for so long as there are airplanes and bombs and the present economic hatred of every nation against every other, no one is going to stop any form of warfare once the trouble starts. Once you get into a modern war, it becomes not only a military necessity but a solemn duty, supported usually by the churches, to destroy the other fellow, his house and family, as soon as possible by any means available. You will also be assured by the best authorities that God is with you in this holy work, which is always comforting to a man of conscience.

HATS

IT IS EXTRAORDINARY how, in this well-organized world, an idea takes hold and spreads, like measles. They are rationalizing and controlling American industry to such an extent now that the master milliners of New York have passed a resolution agreeing to set only one style in women's hats every season. Apparently some great tribunal of style is to be set up to decide what every woman in America shall wear on her head for the ensuing twelve months—a rather grisly prospect when you consider what they are wearing now. I mean, the present system is wildly inefficent and wasteful and costly, but at least it offers variety and relief from the current horror, even if the next one is worse.

When it becomes possible to rationalize women's styles, then the triumph of the new Rooseveltian system of economics will be complete. Then, indeed, we shall have a Controlled Economy. But one doubts that even Roosevelt can safely interfere in this matter. He can make people work less. He can make employers pay more. He can turn the banks upside down and spank Wall Street, but let him leave these larger and sacred matters, like the tilt of the hat or the length of the skirt, alone.

There seem to be three things under our system which no government and no system of economics can limit or control. It can't stop women creating new styles. It can't stop scientists creating new universes every week or so and destroying all the old ones. It can't stop economists creating new and final theories of economics several times a year. And even if it stopped scientists and the economists, no force in nature is strong enough to stop the urge of women to attract men who aren't worth attracting.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

THE PIRATE'S CHEST

What treasures lie in the pirate's chest
From high and low, from far and near,
From north and south, from east and west,
Each one a thing some heart held dear!
With these rare pearls the Orient
Has to the loot a splendor lent.

Gay figurines of ivory,
A Chinese talisman of jade,
And sapphires bluer than the sea
That once were prized by some fair maid;
Grim daggers and a sword whose hilt

And . . . what a strangely alien thing! . . .
Amid the treasures jumbled there
A heavy, golden wedding ring
Some happy woman used to wear!
Rich treasures in the pirate's chest:
But this, of all, was once loved best!

SINNERS ONLY

To the Editor:—After reading friend Eekman's doleful letters, and other fundamentalists, like him, assailing and bewailing human frailties, their bemoaning whinings recall to mind Mark Twain's remarks concerning the vagaries of the weather, that "everyone talks about the weather but no one does anything about it." And that is exactly the attitude of whimpering prophets, thanking God "that thou hast not made me like other men." Those that can—do, and those who can't—lament.

Fundamentalists should address their petitions of criticisms to their Almighty God. He is the Creator of the world and all that in the world is. Holy Writ says that God formed man, and not that man made himself. We are what we are, and God made us so. Then who is responsible for our frailties? God or man? Who, pray, is responsible for the imperfections of a machine? The designer or the machine?

Man is not consulted as to his wishes of either coming into this atrocious world of when he leaves. He is a victim of hostile environments from the cradle to the grave. It is estimated that there exists about 1 per cent happiness in this cruel world, pitted against 99 per cent misery.

Did you ever stop to consider that innocent babies are born and cursed before their birth, due to no fault of their own? Did you ever stop to think of the millions of afflicted and bedridden cases praying for annihilation rather than immortality? And what is more, the "believers" share no more favors than the "unbelievers."

Paul states: "For the good that I would I do not, but the evil which I would not, that I do"; just like all the perverse sinners. The human "things" that seem pleasurable are said to be "wicked." We are all inborn with immoral tendencies, with but a modicum of restraining morality and intelligence. It is a marvel that man is no worse than he is. The problems that civilization is wrestling with to-day have been the same in modified form since the year 1. Noblesse science has done much to ameliorate the discomforts of man with the onward march of evolving progress, despite the ranting of fundamentalists.

Did you ever stop to think of the betterment in political and social conditions when looking backwards 50, 100, 500, 1,000 and more years, in wavelength proportions, of the enlightenment and the rising standards of sociology? Think it over what knowledge has accomplished. It is the unreasoning emotionalism of fundamentalists that drives men into agnosticism. This writer has yet to meet an illiterate, uncultured and immoral infidel unchristian in principle. Would the same could be said about emotional Christians. It pays to be moral.

H. M. DUNLAPP.

POLICE DOGS

To the Editor:—In your issue of recent date there appeared a letter under the above heading. Would you please permit me a little of your valuable space to say a few words on the subject?

The gentleman who calls himself "Cave Canem," which, for the benefit of those who may not know Latin, means "Beware of the Dog," says police dogs are a menace. I entirely disagree with his sentiments. I have never yet known a police dog attack any person in the street, unless the dog was first molested.

"Cave Canem" gives an incident where two children had their pet dog killed by a police dog, but forgets to state whether the said pet dog first tried to interfere with the police dog, or not. Any dog will go for another if bothered.

The same gentleman says that there is no use for these dogs in Victoria, as it is free from prowlers, etc. Oh, yeah! He had better read the press a little more carefully. One does not open the newspapers at the beginning of the week without reading of stores and houses being broken into over the week-end, and during my twelve years in Victoria I have read of quite a number of hold-ups in this city. Victoria free from crime! Now, I'll tell one.

In conclusion, I am going to tell this gentleman that before he writes further on this subject he had better get hold of facts and also summon up enough courage to write under his own name and not hide behind a nom de plume.

Further tributes to the outstanding contribution Frank Burd, managing-director of The Vancouver Daily Province, has made to newspaperdom on this continent as well as to the development and progress of British Columbia, were received by The Victoria Times over the week-end. They were as follows:

FROM JOHN W. DAFOE

Editor The Winnipeg Free Press

I am very happy to associate myself with The Victoria Daily Times in extending congratulations to Mr. Frank Burd upon the attainment of the fiftieth anniversary of his entran[ce] into newspaper work. Having myse[lf] attained this dignity (or whatever is to be called) a few months since, [I] am in a position to welcome my o[ld] friend Frank upon his admittance [to] the ranks of the Real Old Boys [of] newspaper work. In referring to Fra[nk] as an "old friend," I am well with[in] the record. It is now forty-sev[en] years since I came from the east [to] join the staff of The Free Press; a[nd] here I found young Burd already fil[ling] a responsible position in the offi[ce] organization and displaying tho[se] qualities of efficiency, industry, i[n]tegrity and capacity for co-operati[on] which have marked the discharge [of] the much greater duties which ha[ve] devolved upon him with the passage [of] the years. We were thus thrown t[o]gether at a time of life when t[he] making of enduring life-long frien[d]ships is easy; and in our case, this w[as] the result. I have rejoiced in his su[c]cessful career, not only in his chose[n] vocation but also as the good citiz[en] in all walks of life; and I send hi[m] my congratulations and good wish[es] for a future that will crown the pa[st].

A Pleasant Financial Programme

for YOU, Miss Business Girl

To pay you up to $100 a month after you leave your desk for good—

To enable you to provide for any dependents—a mother, an invalid relative—should you die unexpectedly—

To give you a substantial return with perfect safety on your savings—

To provide a reserve fund for unexpected demands at any time.

If your life plans do not include the above very reasonable provisions for your comfort and safety we invite you to discuss the matter with us right away.

Every thoughtful woman knows that she will not be able to work all the days of her life. She knows how unpleasant it would be to be dependent on friends or relatives for support in her later years.

$100 a month under our Retirement Income Plan would be a very snug income to be sure of when you wish to retire. Enough to make a woman independent and able to come and go as she pleased.

And even a small sum, saved regularly, will provide generous protection under our Plan.

ANNIVERSARY TO BE OBSERVED

Service in Beacon Hill to Commemorate Declaration of War

A community service in Beacon Hill Park will be held next Sunday, sponsored by the Remembrance Day committee, to observe the anniversary of the declaration of war nineteen years ago.

The service will be held from the bandstand, starting at 8.30 o'clock, and a feature will be the showing of lantern slides depicting the part which Victoria played at the beginning of the war as well as views from overseas.

The sub-committee handling the service consisted of Capt. C. F. L. Money and A. Palmer, under Col. H. T. Goodland, C.B., D.S.O., and is preparing a programme which is expected to make the event unique among Remembrance Day celebrations.

Uncle Wiggily's Cookie Party

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"What are you laughing at, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one morning as she saw the rabbit gentleman's fat stomach jiggling up and down as he thought of something funny. He was sort of laughing to himself.

"Tell me the joke," begged the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"It isn't exactly a joke," said Uncle Wiggily. "But I just happened to think of something very nice for the animal children to have a good time with, now that they are on their vacations from school."

"Don't you think they are having good times by just not going to school?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Well," said Mr. Longears, slowly, as he twinkled his pink nose, "of course it's fun not to have to go to school. But when you stay out more than two months, sometimes it isn't easy to find fun for all that time. I have begun to notice that Baby Bunty and some of my rabbit children aren't having as much vacation fun as they did at first."

"That's so," agreed Nurse Jane. "They often come to me and ask me what they can do to have a good time. I don't know what to tell them."

"I do," said Uncle Wiggily. "At least I know how to give them one good time to-morrow."

"How?" asked the muskrat lady.

"I'm going to invite them to a cookie party," Uncle Wiggily answered.

"You mean you are going to bake a lot of cookies and invite the animal boys and girls to eat them?" asked Nurse Jane. "Oh, please don't I beg of you! The last time you tried to make a strawberry shortcake the kitchen looked as if the water pipes had burst."

"Have no fear, Nurse Jane," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "I am not going to bake the cookies for the party."

So Nurse Jane had no fear, but she asked:

"Then what do you mean by a cookie party?"

"I mean," said Mr. Longears, "that I am going to invite all my little bunny children and all the other animal girls and boys like the squirrels, the puppy dogs, the pussy cats and the ducks to a party in the woods. It will be a party with ice cream and candy. But each one whom I invite must bring one cookie. I don't care what kind of a cookie it is as long as they bring one."

"Oh, then the cookies will be sort of like tickets," said Nurse Jane.

"That's it!" answered Uncle Wiggily. "You know, if you pay for something you think more of it than if you get it for nothing. So I am going to have the animal boys and girls pay for coming to the cookie party. Of course it isn't much pay—just a cookie ticket. And," he whispered to Nurse Jane, "I am going to let them eat their cookies with the ice cream that I give them. But don't tell them that. I want them to think they are helping get up the party themselves."

"I won't say anything," promised Nurse Jane, laughing.

So Uncle Wiggily sent out his invitations for a cookie party in the woods near his hollow stump bungalow next day. Each animal boy or girl who came to bring a cookie.

"Oh, that will be easy!" said Jonnie Bushytail, one of the boy squirrels. "My mother has a lot of cocoanut cookies. She will give me one for Uncle Wiggily's party."

"I'm going to bring a chocolate cookie," barked Peetie Bow Wow.

"I think I'll bring a sugar cookie," mewed Kittie Katt.

"I wonder why Uncle Wiggily wants us to bring cookies to the party," said Curly Twistytail, a piggie boy.

"Oh, just to be different!" grunted Floppy, his brother. "I'm going to bring a molasses cookie."

Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit who lived with Uncle Wiggily in his bungalow, said she would ask Nurse Jane, for a caraway seed cookie.

"But it's sort of funny," said Baby Bunty hopping up and down and trying to twinkle her pink nose like Uncle Wiggily's. "I wonder why he wants us to bring cookies to a party?"

"You'll find out when you get there," said Nurse Jane. And though Bunty and the others teased her to tell them what it was all about, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy would not.

At last came the day of the cookie party. Dozens of animal children, each one with a cookie in a paper bag, marched to the woods where Uncle Wiggily waited for them. He was keeping his part of a secret very well.

All of a sudden, when the crowd of children animals were almost at the party place, Lulu Wibblewobble, a duck girl, opened her cookie bag and began to quack and cry very loudly. Oh, it was a dreadful cry.

And what it was all about I'll tell you to-morrow night. Then the story will be Uncle Wiggily's party fun. And I hope the ice cream doesn't try to play hide and go seek with the gas stove or it may turn into a puddle of molasses.

POPULAR PAIR WED SATURDAY

Miss Josephine Perry Becomes Bride of Albert H. Clarke

After Honeymoon at Banff Will Live in Calgary

In the presence of a large congregation of friends of the young people, one of the prettiest weddings of July was solemnized at the Oak Bay United Church on Saturday evening, when Miss Josephine Perry, second daughter of Mrs. F. L. Thomson, Quadra Street, became the bride of Mr. Albert H. Clarke, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Clarke, Amphion Street. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and summer flowers in pastel shades, sweet peas tied with tulle marking the guest pews.

BRIDE IN SHELL-PINK

Rev. J. C. Switzer officated at the ceremony, and during the signing of the register Mrs. S. M. Morton very effectively sang "Beloved, It is Morn."

Given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. Frank L. Thomson, the bride was a charming picture in her gown of shell-pink point d'esprit.

Rows of ruffled net marked the tight-fitting sleeveless bodice and the full, ankle-length skirt, and the waist was encircled with a pink taffeta sash. Her veil of fine silk net was arranged to her head with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a round bouquet of white sweet peas, pale pink roses and pink carnations.

Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Reginald Allin, in a pretty frock of sky blue organza made on tight-fitting lines, flaring and frilled below the knees, with large puff sleeves, and finished with a pink sash. She wore a large picture hat of blue mohair turned off her face and trimmed with pink velvet ribbon, and carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations and blue scabius. The best man was Mr. Hugh Francis.

A reception of relatives and a few intimate friends was held later at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Allin, Oscar Street, where the floral decorations were also carried out in pink and white. Mrs. Thomson, in a becoming gown of beige krinkle satin and matching accessories, and Mrs. Clarke Sr., in a pretty ensemble of pale blue silk crepe, and matching hat, assisted in welcoming the guests. They both wore corsages of carnations and sweet peas. The supper table was centred with the two-tier cake, and was arranged with pink and white sweet peas at each end and lighted with tall pink tapers.

TO LIVE IN CALGARY

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke left at midnight for the mainland en route to Banff, where they will spend their honeymoon, the bride traveling in a smart ensemble of beige and brown, a beige hat and a camel's hair overcoat with a handsome beaver collar.

They will make their home in Calgary, Mr. Clarke having been transferred to the Calgary branch of the Hudson's Bay Company from the local store, where he has been assistant accountant for some years. The bride has also been a popular member of the fur department of the local store, and among the many beautiful wedding gifts received by the young couple was a case of Rogers anniversary pattern table silverware and cutlery, and a set of carvers, the gift of their fellow-employees at the local store.

DIES IN MONTREAL

Montreal, July 31 (Canadian Press)—Prominent socially and a well-known member of many clubs and societies, Mrs. Alfred D. Finnie died in hospital yesterday. Mrs. Finnie was the daughter of John Leslie, retired vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Daughters of St. George—The regular meeting of Victoria Lodge No. 83, Daughters of St. George, will meet in the S.O.E. Hall on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Officers and guards will be in the hall at 7.30 o'clock for drill practice.

WOMEN TWICE ARE RUN OVER

Associated Press

Palo Alto, Cal., July 31.—Two women sunbathers were run over twice by the same automobile Sunday.

Ormando Ferdinani, the driver, told police he did not see the women, clad in bathing suits, lying behind his automobile. He backed the car over them. Their screams frightened and confused him and he drove forward—over them again.

The women, Mrs. Ona Ritter, twenty-two, and Miss Elsie Korrell, forty-five, both received severe abdominal injuries.

VIOLIN RECITAL HERE TO-NIGHT

The purpose of the special violin recital this evening at the New Thought Hall is to assist the expense fund of the local orchestra, which is to compete in the music festival string classes in conjunction with the Pacific Exposition at Vancouver in August. This orchestra of seventeen "strings" will demonstrate the competition test-piece—minuet from Handel's "Berenice." George J. Dyke's string ensemble will contribute six numbers as played at the local music festival, and there will be some solos, duets and trios.

THE FILM STARS ARE GETTING IN PRINT

Jane Shadduck

Prints are the coolest looking things you possibly can wear on the hottest days of summer. And prints, trimmed with simple, pure white lingerie touches, spell chic for the girl who wears them. Jane Shadduck wore a red and white printed frock with a rippling collar of white chiffon. The full sleeves fastened in a tight cuff just below her elbow. Jane attained the popular square shoulder [illegible] on each shoulder dress.

ATTAINS EIGHTIETH MILESTONE

MRS. THOMAS LUSCOMBE

OCTOGENARIAN HAS BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Thos. Luscombe "at Home" to Friends Saturday; Eighty Years Old

Well-nown Pioneer Came Here in 1876; Active in Metropolitan Church

Mrs. Thomas Luscombe of 1019 Collinson Street was at home to her many relatives and friends on Saturday, it being the occasion of her eightieth birthday.

Mrs. Luscombe, formerly Miss Louisa Ford, was born in England on July 29, 1853, and came to Canada as a girl with her father's family, making their home in the Muskoka district of Ontario. Shortly after arrival she was united in marriage to the late Thomas Luscombe of Cornwall, England, and they lived in Hamilton for three years. In 1876 they came west via San Francisco, then the only route, and took up residence in this city. Mr. Luscombe passed away several years ago.

ACTIVE CHURCH MEMBER

During her sojourn here, Mrs. Luscombe has taken an active interest in all movements that have had as their object the advancement of the city, and has seen many changes take place—the city having grown from almost a village to its present leading position among Canadian cities. For over fifty-seven years Mrs. Luscombe has been associated with Metropolitan Church, taking her part in its many undertakings for the benefit of humanity.

Mrs. Luscombe on Saturday was showered with tokens of good will and messages of congratulation by a large number of friends and relatives at her home during the afternoon and evening.

All members of the family who were able to be present, arrived to do honor to their mother: Miss Evelyn Luscombe and Mrs. L. M. Brown of this city; Mrs. Dr. A. Knight, Cordova Bay, B.C.; Mrs. W. M. Ritchie of Vancouver, B.C.; Mrs. E. T. Jennings of Duncan, B.C., and Mr. Charles Luscombe of Prospect Lake, B.C. The absent members are Mrs. L. Dawson and Mrs. R. Eaton, who reside elsewhere. Mrs. Luscombe's family consists of eight children living, twelve grandchildren and one greatgrand-child.

A delightful feature of the occasion was the presence of Miss Emma Luscombe, a sister-in-law, eighty-five years of age, who, like the hostess, enjoys splendid health.

During the afternoon Mrs. Edward Parsons delighted those present with the singing of two songs, "Because" and "Mother Machree."

Delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Knight and Mrs. Jennings poured tea, while Mrs. Ritchie, assisted by the Misses Lillian and Patricia Knight, Lenora Jennings and Kathleen Ritchie, four granddaughters of the hostess, served the guests from the daintily decorated table.

Governor to Wed Secretary To-day

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, July 31.—Executive secretary of the State of Virginia for ten years, during which she has served under four governors, Miss Violet E. McDougall, a Canadian, will become the bride of Governor J. Garland Pollard here this afternoon.

The Virginia governor arrived in Winnipeg Sunday, coming from San Francisco, while Miss McDougall reached the city a few hours earlier from Richmond, the capital of Virginia.

Rev. Gordon Maclean of First Presbyterian Church will officiate. Only immediate [illegible] the family are [illegible]

A native of Gregory County, Ontario, Miss McDougall lived for a time in Regina.

It will be a quiet wedding, attended only by members of the family and close friends.

Immediately after the ceremony the governor and his bride will leave for Chicago, and then to Sulphur Spring and Green Brier, West Virginia, where the chief executive will set up temporary offices preparatory to calling an extra session of the Legislature, opening August 17, when the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment will be the main item of business.

Douglas Chapter To Meet.—The Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter I.O.D.E. will meet on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at the Municipal Chapter headquarters, Union Building. All members are particularly asked to attend as arrangements must be made for Heather Day, the annual commemoration of the departure of the first contingent for overseas service in 1914.

Weddings

DIXON-WATERS

At the home of the officiating minister, Rev. J. S. Patterson, Esquimalt Road, on Saturday evening, the marriage was celebrated of Marjorie, second daughter of Mrs. L. Waters, Caledonia Avenue, and of the late Mr. Waters, England, and Mr. Charles Edward Dixon, son of Mrs. E. Dixon, Millstream, and of the late Mr. Dixon.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Frank Waters, wore a pretty sleeveless frock of white organdie, patterned in green, finished with a green sash tied in long ends. She also wore a large mohair hat and carried a showered arm bouquet of pink roses, white sweet peas and carnations.

The only bridesmaid was her sister, Miss Florence Waters, in a white satin frock and a large white picture hat, who carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations and mauve sweet peas; and the dainty little flower girl was the bride's niece, Irene Waters, in a frock of Nile green crepe marocain, who carried a basket of flowers.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, who welcomed the guests in a becoming gown of powder blue silk and hat to match. The reception rooms were bright with summer flowers, the supper table being arranged with pink and white flowers and tall pink candles, on which was set the handsomely decorated two-tiered wedding cake given by Mrs. Alice Drake, by whom the bride had been employed for the last five years.

After a honeymoon on the island, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon will make their home at Sooke. The bride traveled in a smart ensemble of blue with matching accessories.

OADES—WILSON

A wedding of much interest to Saanich friends of the bridegroom was quietly celebrated at St. George's Anglican Church, Vancouver, on Wednesday evening, July 19, of Isabel Emily, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Wilson, 1063 West Thirteenth, and Mr. Leslie Cameron Oades, eldest son of Mrs. E. Oades of Royal Oak, Vancouver Island.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. H. Jackson, and only relatives and immediate friends were present.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a swagger suit of cream French tricot serge, with accessories to match. Her hat was white wool and her corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. F. M. Story, matron of honor, wearing a hyacinth blue rough crepe frock fashioned on princess lines, her hat, shoes and gloves being white. Carnations and roses composed her corsage bouquet. The groom was attended by Mr. Austin D. Oades.

After a honeymoon on Vancouver Island, Mr. and Mrs. Oades will make their home in Vancouver.

DUNCAN WOMAN CALLED TO REST

Mrs. R. H. Whidden Dies; Forty Years' Residence in Island City

Special to The Times

Duncan, July 31. — Mrs. Robie McNeill Whidden, wife of R. H. Whidden, for forty years a well-known resident of Duncan, passed away early this morning, at the age of seventy-four. Funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the United Church, Somenos, interment being made in the churchyard.

Mrs. Widden came of United Empire Loyalist stock, and during the whole of her long residence in the Cowichan district had been prominently identified with every cause tending to the welfare of the community. She was instrumental in the organizations of the Cowichan health service, was an active member of the Cowichan Women's Institute and of the Cowichan Chapter I.O.D.E. For twenty-five years she was a member of Maple Temple Pythian Sisters, of which she was a charter member and a past chief.

WHAT ONE GIRL WORE

By Betty Grownlee

I don't believe cottons will ever lose the popularity they have won this summer. Of course every summer we have worn cottons to some extent but generally the frock of this fabric was thought of as a morning costume.

For sports wear the cotton piqué frock is perfect. It can be tubbed just as frequently as necessary, and it comes forth the each time looking just as fresh and crisp as it did before.

Afternoon frocks of voile, eyelet batiste, and handkerchief linen add some [illegible] to the summer fashion picture [illegible] is a [illegible] of [illegible] and gaiety and charm about cottons that we'll loathe to let go of.

As for summer evening wear—well, personally, I feel that the summer dance has only become bearable because it is now smart to go forth to the warm night's festivities clad in a gossamer frock of cotton, that will not crease and make you feel after the first foxtrot that you have been through the war with it.

Consider, for instance, the lovely frock sketched to-day. It's fashioned of printed handkerchief linen—a white background with a deep rose design; fresh crisp white organdie is used effectively for trimming and also fashions the large bow, the front panel, and the skirt and cape edging. A narrow white leather belt marks the waistline.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

RESTRICT CHILD'S DIET IN SUMMER

During the hot weather excessive bowel activity, due to over-feeding, old or spoiled foods, spoiled milk, over-ripe fruits, or ice cream of dubious cleanliness, is one of the commonplace ailments of the second year.

TIME FOR A HALT

Diarrhea may easily be dangerous. Ordinarily it simply means that the mother should call a halt upon indiscriminate eating and give the child's stomach a chance to regain its equilibrium.

The first step is to withdraw food. It is usually unnecessary to give laxatives, as nature is doing its best to remove the cause of the disturbance and seldom needs any additional help. An enema of soapsuds is not harmful and may be given.

The child should be kept quiet, preferably in bed. Give lots of cool boiled water to drink and nothing to eat. All food should be withheld for the first twenty-four hours. If the child is thirsty, give the juice of sweet oranges or a thin starchy drink made of rice barley or oatmeal. Usually a complete rest is all the digestive organs need and in a day the stools will have a more normal appearance.

SUGGESTED RATIONS

The child may be put upon half rations the second day. Boiled milk, partially skimmed, diluted with water and with no sugar added, can be given the first day, with orange juice and plenty of water to quench the child's thirst and relieve any hunger pangs. There is such a loss of body fluid in the numerous stools that the body needs plenty of liquid.

Do not force the child to eat. When the stools are nearly normal, the ordinary rations may be returned to gradually. At this time the mother should decide not to risk real illness by letting the child indulge in an indiscriminate diet. Watermelon, muskmelons, seedy fruits, inadequately boiled milk, ice cream, and all concoctions made of ice cream, sausages, sweet corn, cucumbers, fat meats, and, over-ripe fruits are of dubious value to small children. Stick to the well cooked or home-cooked cereals, vegetables, breadstuffs and a minimum of meat and the child will not be apt to suffer even one illness from diarrhea no matter how hot the weather may be.

To-morrow—"Let Child's Personality Develop Naturally."

FILM KISSES TOO ARDENT

Will Hays Tones Down Love Scenes For Canadian Consumption

Associated Press

Hollywood, July 31.—The world embraces much that is Hollywood's, but receives its kisses coolly. It does not like the burning kiss, the clinging kiss.

Produces say the office of Will Hays, who guides the industry's policies, frequently issues them gentle warnings to tone down the love scenes.

Countries in the British Empire, particularly Canada and Australia, demand that Hollywood kisses be cooled and abbreviated before they will show them on their screens. Latin countries are more liberal, but even they feel Hollywood waxes a little too ardent "in the clinches."

However, Hollywood has many kinds of kisses—with subdivisions—and has them well timed:

The clinging kiss—Four seconds for foreign audiences. As long as forty for American.

The platonic kiss — Respectfully touched to the brow. One second.

The Latin hand kiss—On the back of the hand, two seconds. On the palm, three.

The parental kiss—Tender love, three seconds; dutiful, half second; farewell, four and clinch; joyous return, three and clinch.

Relations—One-fourth second; except rich uncles and aunts, two.

In-laws—Mother, swift peck; father, half second; sisters, one; brothers, one and a half; stepfathers, doubtful peck; stepmothers, more doubtful.

Dear old Charlie or good old Martha—Two seconds.

Dutiful matrimonial — One-fourth second peck.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

IN CANNING BABY BEETS BE SURE TO ADD LEMON JUICE TO PREVENT SPOILAGE

Although winter beets are available during the winter months, many homemakers find them inconvenient and expensive to use on account of the long cooking required to make them tender and palatable. The housekeeper who buys her fuel by feet or units discovers that several hours spent in cooking of a vegetable is quite an item.

However, new "baby" beets are ideal for home-canning. They are less perishable than almost any other summer vegetable and do not lose their flavor and natural sweetness if some time elapses between the gathering and use. For this reason the woman who must buy her vegetables for canning runs less risk of spoilage after canning.

OVEN CANNING METHOD

The oven method of canning is particularly easy for beets. If you have a thermostatic controlled oven, the regulator is set to 250 degrees F. and the oven heated while packing the vegetables. A portable oven thermometer can, of course, be used, but frequent checking in necessary to insure satisfactory results.

Lemon juice is added to preserve the bright color, and to furnish the acid which insures a non acid vegetable against spoilage.

In preparing beets for canning, slice or dice large ones ready for serving and can the small "baby" beets whole. They are very attractive for serving reheated in butter or in a tart sauce.

Wash beets thoroughly, using a vegetable brush. Cut off tops, leaving about two inches of stem. Take care not to break the skin nor cut the long, straight "tap" root. Drop into a kettle of boiling water and boil fifteen or twenty minutes. Dip into cold water and slip off skins. Pack in hot sterilized jars, adding 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar and 1 teaspoon lemon juice to each pint jar. Add enough boiling water to fill jars to within an inch of the top, half seal and place in pre-heated oven. Leave two hours, remove from oven and completely seal. Invert for a few minutes to be sure the seal is perfect, then place upright and let stand until cool.

ALLOW FOR CIRCULATION

As soon as a jar is filled place it in the oven and keep jars about two inches apart to allow for circulation of heat around each jar. Two racks may be used, one above the other, if the oven is large enough. Work fast and dip beets in cold water only long enough to slip skins, not long enough to chill them. The hotter the beets are when they are put in the jars the better.

MAUVE HAIR OF MINISTER'S WIFE

Ottawa Interested in Argentinian Wife of W. D. Robbins, U.S. Minister

Canadian Press

Ottawa, July 31.—Society in the capital is looking forward to welcoming the wife and family of the new United States minister to Canada. Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Robbins are expected here early in September. With them will come their daughter, Helen. Their two sons are at present studying at Harvard.

Mrs. Robbins is an Argentinian of Belgian extraction, nee Irene de Bruyn. She was born and reared "in the saddle," a circumstance that has made of her an accomplished horsewoman. She met Mr. Robbins, who is a first cousin of President Roosevelt, in Buenos Aires when he was attached to the United States embassy there.

Many nationalistic prejudices against marrying an American had to be overcome before the couple were married, but the ceremony was eventually solemnized in 1911.

In 1914 they had a narrow escape from death when an earthquake destroyed their home in Guatemala.

Mr. Robbins has served the United States in a diplomatic capacity in a number of Latin-American states, but in 1921 he was appointed chief of the Near Eastern division at Washington.

Following that he became counsellor to the United States embassy at Berlin, returning to Washington a few years ago.

Mrs. Robbins's cosmopolitan tradition has enabled her to adjust herself to any environment, and she is a fascinating hostess, being vivacious and amusing. She is noted for her black and white costumes, a rollicking Spanish accent and mauve hair, which match the draperies in her lovely home in Georgetown. Besides this she is devoted to her family, and has brought up three children, two boys who are in Harvard, one of whom is interested in politics and is thinking of following his father's footsteps in diplomacy. Her daughter, Helen, who come out last year, is an ardent Junior League member, a crack rider, knows five languages, looks like her mother and has the same distinctive taste in dress.

World's Women Weigh Future Of Feminism

Frances Perkins

Dr. Christine Galitzi

Selma Ekrem

Carrie Chapman Catt

Miss Margaret Bondfield

Chicago, July 31.—Feminism is being weighed in the balance here. And it is the outstanding feminists from all over the world who are holding the scales!

Women from twenty-eight countries, attending the International Congress held under the auspices of the National Council of Women, have gathered at the Century of Progress Fair to debate the question whether feminism really has won or whether it is faltering.

Marianne Beth of Austria, who forced her way through a school of theology with every man's hand against her and became the first woman theologue in Austria, then turned to law and was Vienna's first woman barrister, has come to testify the struggles of European women.

Baroness Shidzue Ishimoto, who left the School of Peeresses to learn typewriting and stenography in an American school and was Tokio's first business woman, has come a long way to demonstrate that the desire for feminine equality has penetrated even to Cherry Blossom land.

Alice Kandaleft of Syria, who holds the ranking educational position in Bagdad, has many fascinating illustrations of the difficulties women have in the Near East to win equality. Lily Kelly, who organizes nation-wide peace demonstrations for the women of the Argentine, brings messages of the eagerness with which dark-eyed senoras of her native land await real equality.

NO ROSE BED FOR WOMEN

Any self-satisfied feminist fares better away from Chicago, for her peace of mind's sake. For women have no bed of roses in the far reaches of the earth. The world-wide depression has brought about a retrogression of the feminist movement in many corners of the globe.

"Everything we have been fighting for for ages is endangered in some countries, lost in others," one European spokeswoman said. "Women's organizations have fallen speedy victims of recent political exchanges abroad," added a German delegate.

However, all the reports being expressed are not so gloomy. There is still a sunny side to woman's story. Selma Ekrem, a cropped-haired representative of young Turkey, has arrived to prove the strides that feminism has taken in Turkey since 1923, when the republic was established. Gone are the veils, and gone too are the archaic customs which the veils symbolized.

"The present-day Turk takes his sweetheart to the movies. They dance to American jazz tunes, with the same freedom as an American young couple—but with this difference. There is as much liberty, but less license. We are brought up to respect our parents. We would not do anything that they did not want us to do. But it's not compulsion; just respect!

"Turkish men have a difficult time mastering western manners," Miss Ekrem testifies. "Usually they forget trifling courtesies, such as allowing women to precede them, or helping them on with their coats. But the modern Turkish girl brings them sharply to time. She is quite capable of holding her own."

PROGRESS ELSEWHERE

Other countries, too, have encouraging reports about the progress women are making. India's women have never enjoyed western standards of freedom, but their lot is easier than it was a few decades ago, according to Dr. Mathlakshmi Reddi. Finland, too, sends encouraging reports, via Cecelia Hasselirom, her spokesman.

The conference has for its general subject, "Our Common Cause, Civilization." Therefore, only part of the conference's time is spent discussing strictly feminist problems.

Frances Perkins, first woman cabinet member, is here to tell what labor thinks of the world economic conference. Dame Rachel Crowdy, formerly Secretariat of the League of Nations, has as her subject Internationalism. Mme. Kraemer-Bach, French lawyer and feminist, is explaining what French women want and expect from their government.

"Economic Security Through Government" is the topic of one session. Dr. Maria Castellani, a Fascist, who heads the statistical bureau of the largest insurance institute in Italy; Rose Laddon Hanna, a Russian, and Hon. Margaret Bondfield former Minister of Labor of Great Britain, have charge of this session.

NOTABLE SPEAKERS

The speakers convened for this international Congress of Women range from Yi-Fang-Wu, head of the biggest women's college in China; Jane Addams, and Carrie Chapman Catt, to young Christine Galitzi, an intimate friend of Princess Ileana of Roumania, and Viola Ilma, twenty-three-year-old editor of the magazine Modern Youth.

Though men are appearing on the programme, it is primarily a woman's convention. For the congress is based upon the conviction that women will have a more important part to play in a world which recognizes "a new deal" than in the pre-depression era. In a way, the congress is a "rally" for women, to show them how they, as women, can help make this world a better place for all countries and to urge them on to greater efforts in behalf of civilization.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

NEW LIQUID COSMETIC FOR BROWS AND LASHES

There is something new under the sun! It's makeup for your eyelashes and eyebrows!

It's a big mistake to try to change the color of your lashes and brows. In doing so, you defeat the true purpose of cosmetics. Cosmetics are to enhance the beauty that is already there. Completely change the color of your eyelashes and eyebrows and you throw them out of the line of harmony which causes them to blend with your complexion and hair.

There is a new cosmetic (it's liquid and has a bluish transparency) which is to be used on both eyelashes and brows. You apply it with the little dropper which comes in the bottle and then brush your eyelids upward with the same kind of a brush ordinarily sold with mascara

It does not change the natural shade. It only darkens it. It is not creamy and will not rub off, nor wash off. You have to use cleansing cream to remove it.

In other words, it is a dye. The same color is suitable for every complexion.

If a blonde, with light skin and hair, uses dark brown mascara and eyebrow pencil, she makes herself look unnatural. With the new transparent dye, she retains her blonde type but, at the same time, increases the prominence of her eyes and lashes.

Don't outline your eyes with your eyebrow pencil. I'll wager you never saw a woman who had that line on her eyes unless she, herself, put it there. Be natural always!

Country Fair To Aid Scouts Of St. Barnabas

On Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, a country fair will be held by the Third Victoria (St. Barnabas) Scouts and Cubs group committee, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Gurney, 3020 Quadra Street, having kindly loaned their house and grounds to the committee for this occasion. Also, a card party will be held in the evening at 8 o'clock at the same residence, convened by Mrs. S. G. Gurney and Mrs. V. Rolfe.

An attractive programme is being drawn up by the members of the committee, which will include dancing by pupils of Miss Florence Clough and various displays given by the cubs of both the Third Victoria and St. Barnabas packs. The St. Barnabas Cubs will be under Mrs. A. H. Phipps, district cub commissioner, and those of the St. Barnabas pack under District Cub Master J. Slater.

Under the able management of Mrs A. Mainprize, general convener, tea will be served on the lawn, where the future will be foretold by teacup or palm. There will also be a cantaloupe shie, white elephant and lucky throw, not forgetting the hotdogs, home cooking, ice cream and candy.

The proceeds of the country fair and of the card party are to be used in aid of camp expenses and general funds and the committee extends a cordial invitation to all who may wish to attend either or both of these functions.

Esbecee Cooking Sale.—The Esbecee will hold a home cooking sale in Spencer's store next Saturday morning, August 5, commencing at 9 o'clock. On August 11 they will have a "balloon dance" at Hampton Hall from 9 to 1 o'clock.

SOCIAL WORKER HEADS RELIEF

Whole U.S. Public Relief System Handled By Trained Official

Canadian Press

Montreal, July 31.—For the first time in history, the administration of a whole country's public relief funds is in the hands of a professional social worker. This condition was inaugurated a few weeks ago when President Roosevelt appointed Harry Hopkins head of the federal relief fund of $500,000,000; Miss Joanna C. Colcord, director of the charity organization department, Russell Sage Foundation, New York, told the Montreal Social Workers' Club at their annual meeting here recently.

The bill had the speaker's wholehearted approval. It was in all essentials drafted by four social workers and met all the situations which the previous bill, passed by the Hoover regime last July, had failed to cover. It did not function under the myth of "loaning," she said, but set aside $250,000,000 of its $500,000,000 fund for outright giving, where state and municipality would match it, each unit contributing one-third to the needed sum. The remaining $250,000,000 was to be given in the form of grants on a discretionary basis to the bankrupt states.

Mr. Hopkins, who occupied a somewhat similar position to his present one on the New York State emergency relief commission when Mr. Roosevelt was governor, had the widest administrative powers, Miss Colcord said, and was going to make a hard drive to take politics out of relief. He did not even have a board to work with but reported direct to the President. "We are elated that one of our number is in a position of such power and hope he will do it wisely," she added.

Variations in local conditions made it impossible for him to make a blanket rate of so much relief for a family of so many. For instance, in a southern community popular feeling would not allow a colored and a white family to get the same relief. "Mr. Hopkins and the President do not believe that these families should not get the same assistance," Miss Colcord said, "but the community does and you cannot change it overnight."

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

©1933 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Dear Children:

Did you ever hear about the little gnome who was called "So-Sorry?"

That was because every time he got into mischief he would say "So sorry!" When people are polite we never get very angry and almost always forgive them.

He had learned that he could get into the farmer's cream crocks, or tickle the baby and wake it up, or do almost anything, as long as he would tip his little pointed cap and bow and say, "Oh, I'm 'so' sorry!" And he would look sorry too. And so the cross old farmer, or the baby's mother would say, "Well, it's all right this time, but never let it happen again."

That is, when he was caught. But mostly he wasn't caught.

STINGING EXPERIENCE

So he went on having a perfectly lovely time, and when Mrs. Brown missed all the tops from her pansies or Mrs. Jones found the cat's whiskers snipped off, they guessed who had done it, but they couldn't be sure.

One day the little fellow thought he would like to have some honey. The bee-hive belonged to the farmer whose cream crocks he had been robbing. But he wasn't afraid of the farmer any more, because when he had said he was "so sorry" it had worked beautifully.

So he sneaked inside the dark hive. But no sooner had he entered than a bee stung him on the finger. "Oh, I'm SO sorry," he stammered and started to back out of the hive.

He said it over and over but all his politeness didn't do any good. A dozen bees stung him all over, and he had to run for his life. But not before the big white Queen Bee had time to say, "It's best to be sorry first and not afterwards."

MOTHER KNOWS BEST

He limped home and made some poultices and plastered the bites. After they stopped burning he began to think. "I guess that old bee is right," he muttered to himself. "I'm going to behave." And he did.

That is the way it is about behaving. We are likely to say to curselves, "I can easily think up a good excuse. Or I can coax. Or I can say I'm sorry. It will be all right this time."

But sometimes it won't work. And like the little gnome we never know when it isn't going to.

Mother says, "You are not allowed in the street, children." But we think we'll take a chance. What are the cars going to do? They don't care about excuses made afterwards. They come right along and if we get in their way we are likely to be hurt. Or she says, "Don't touch those green apples." Stomachs don't stop aching just because we say, "Oh, I'm so sorry!" You can't apologize to a stomach.

The best way is to do as we are told and mind mother. She knows best.

Supplies of plums from Empire sources to the United Kingdom in 1932 reached a new high level, Canada sending 20,102 cwts., as against 12,939 in 1931.

We haven't yet heard the outcome of a trial at Auburn, Maine, where a husband and wife were chosen to sit on the same jury, but if the jury was able to agree it certainly should surprise a lot of people.

Working Wives

By ANNE GARDNER

The plan worked, as Nan's plans had a way of doing. Inside of a week Jocko received an interesting offer from a publishing house, and he wired his acceptance, wiring Nan at the same time that he was coming at once.

The reunion was all that Nan had hoped for. The hungry adoration with which he took her in his arms proved to her once more the folly of letting mere money interfere with their happiness.

"It seems years!" Nan murmured, as soon as Jocko would let her speak. "Oh dearest, it must never happen again."

"I'll never, never let you go again," Jocko vowed.

He was pleased, too, with the charming apartment Nan had rented, but a cloud came over his face when he learned the price.

"Everything's so much more here, dear." Nan explained hurriedly, and launched into a series of comparative prices to keep from saying more.

But Jocko, too, had been thinking since their separation. He realized that it was asking too much to expect Nan to manage on his little earnings—little in the light of their combined incomes. He realized it the more when he understood how expensive their living would be. It was a concession he would have to make, since the other course meant so much unhappiness for Nan.

So they worked it out that evening. Jocko would give Nan a certain generous amount each week. She could add to it as she chose from her own salary.

But Jocko never felt quite easy about it. Especially as they plunged at once into a gay social life, with the people whom Nan's beauty and brilliance attracted.

An evening's entertainment now sometimes cost as much as the sum Jocko gave Nan for an entire week.

Nan began to build up a reputation as a hostess, a thing she delighted in. She had small, informal, pleasant little dinners. She had evenings after the New York style, when anyone came and brought anything.

On these occasions, and with Nan's new friends generally, Jocko felt out of the picture. He didn't wisecrack easily. He couldn't produce a cliche for every occasion. Many of Nan's importations bored him. They might have bored Nan, too, except that the admiration accorded her made up for any oddity in the people she met.

As the weeks and months went on, Jocko slipped more and more into the background when they were with people. And as they were almost constantly with people, he began to feel like a shadow.

A number of the men liked him as they grew to know him. There was usually a congenial soul with whom he could smoke a cigarette in a corner. Occasionally some girl took a fling at him, but finding him unresponsive, gave up.

Nan was so absorbed in her own triumphs that she paid little attention to Jocko, beyond wondering pettishly now and then why he didn't show some life and begin to develop to meet his new environment.

But one night it was Jocko who scored the triumph. The lion of the occasion was the publisher, whose presence Nan had secured after considerable plotting. His was a wealthy house, which had both magazines and books. Nan, with her instinct for getting ahead, considered him a good friend to have, even though she had no immediate plans for using him.

She was surprised, therefore, and perhaps a little annoyed, when she found that Blair Conway was Jocko's companion in a corner for the evening—yes, with the wall flower. She might as well admit it, that was what Jocko was. She determined to bring Conway into the group of which as usual she was the central scintillating figure.

CHAPTER XXIV

Nan, almost using main force got Conway away from Jocko and placed him with what seemed to her to be more entertaining company. But to her surprise he seemed distrait, and presently she saw that he was back with Jocko.

That time she left him alone, being too clever a hostess to annoy an important guest. As he was leaving, she heard him make a luncheon appointment with Jocko. When he said farewell to Nan, he congratulated her on her brilliant husband, the first time this had happened to Nan in New York.

Nan, analyzing the situation, decided Jocko did have an appeal for a certain slow, heavy mind. She respected him more than she had been doing lately. But Blair Conway went to Europe and soon this incident was forgotten.

Besides, Nan herself was all but swept off her feet in a wave of business. The syndicate embarked on a big new enterprise, the signing up of exclusive rights for an important expedition. All the big services were after the same thing, and all exerted themselves to the uttermost to bring in the conveted prize.

Nan's talent for intrigue, her ability to impress people—especially of the male persuasion—made her inevitably useful. The leaders of the expedition were in no hurry to sign up and could afford to be coy. Negotiations dragged on, with Nan in the midst of them.

When she was not lunching or dining or going to the theatre with someone who could help the cause, she was having conferences with the syndicate heads. Jocko scarcely saw her from the beginning of the week till the end, unless he happened to be awake when she dropped into bed, dead tired, in the early hours of the moring.

All of Nan's forces were poured into the struggle. When she was not actively engaged, her mind was busy planning, scheming, thinking of new avenues of approach, of new inducements.

The apartment became merely a place to sleep. She did not even have breakfast there.

As Nan lost interest in home affairs, the Negro maid whom Nan had had to keep the apartment clean and cook dinner in the evening, became more and more slack. Jocko's solitary dinners became less appetizing, while at the same time the grocery bill mounted.

One Sunday morning the maid did not appear at all, and Nan, whose nerves now were unbearably tense, began to investigate things and to become more and more indignant.

When the maid at last came in the afternoon, her excuses froze as she faced her mistress' anger. Nan vented upon her all the strain of the harrowing weeks she had been through. The maid listened open-mouthed at first, then her face set in sullen lines.

"I don't have to take no talk like that from nobody," she declared at last, and flounced out of the apartment.

"Exit maid," Nan remarked philosophically. "But what do we do next?"

"I haven't heard of of any scarcity of maids around this town," Nan answered. She took off the dainty pyjamas she was wearing and found an old dress—ginghams did not figure in Nan's wardrobe. But this one would do. She wrapped her head in a towel, and she ensued such a cleaning as the Weltman apartment had not seen for many a month. Nan swept, scrubbed and scoured. She even pulled the mattress off the bed and cleaned the springs beneath, Jocko helping as best he could.

When she was through, Nan surveyed the results with satisfaction, but gave a wail when she saw her hands.

"I'll get another maid to-morrow," she said.

But to-morrow swept her once more into the thick of things and this task was forgotten. Jocko did not remind her, for he knew the strain under which she was laboring. The issue must be decided now in a very few days. That out of the way, Nan would straighten things out at home. It did not even occur to him to see about a maid himself. Nan handled so competently these things which were so foreign to him that he would not have dared.

The days dragged on once more. Dust and dirt accumulated. Jocko washed his own dishes after the scrappy meals he envolved for himself, but the kitchen still looked far from spotless. Yet there were no signs of help on the horizon, so far as Jocko could see.

Then came jubilant word from Nan—her syndicate had won the fight and secured and important contract. He breathed a long sigh of relief. Now things would return to normalcy.

But they didn't. Nan decided she wished to be the correspondent sent with the expedition. She did not tell Jocko, but again she worked hard and pulled innumerable wires, this time in her own behalf.

The answer, however, was no. The nature of the expedition absolutely precluded the possibility that a woman could go along. That made Nan all the more anxious to go. She would be the first woman on such a trip. It would make her feel famous. When she was at last convinced that the head of the syndicate and the head of the expedition were adamant, she began an elaborate scheme to stow away.

If any thoughts of Jocko intruded in these plans, she dismissed them quickly. This was a chance of a lifetime. He would oppose her going if he knew of it. Ergo, he should not know. If she could manage her scheme, she would leave a note telling him about it. Eventually she would return, covered with glory. Somehow, she did not see Jocko in her dreams of that home coming. Subconsciously, perhaps, she was eliminating the slow Jocko from her plans.

Superimposed on Nan's private plotting was a big burden on work in connection with publicizing the part her syndicate was to play in the expedition.

In the midst of it all, Nan collapsed. She ran a temperature, she had no strength. While she was not definitely ill, her employer ordered her to take several days in bed for a complete rest.

Attempting to relax now for the first time, her dreams of stealing on board the ship given up, Nan realized how desperately tired she was. She was not sick enough to require much attention, so Jocko attended to her needs. The sound of him moving about the apartment made her want to shriek. It seemed the most heavenly respite when he closed the door behind him and went to work. The noises of other tenants cut across her nerves too, but they were more remote.

On Sunday, Nan was feeling better. Jocko got her a little breakfast. She thanked him and ate it, stifling the criticisms she might have made, for his clumsy tenderness touched her, now that she was more nearly herself.

"Wouldn't you like to go for a walk, honey?" he suggested. "I believe it would do you good to get out in the air. Then you could have a rest and we'll go some place interesting this afternoon."

Nan agreed, glad to escape from the apartment. As soon as she was gone, Jocko set gravely to work to clean things up. Thank goodness, Nan had been too absorbed in her own troubles to notice how noisome it had become.

Not knowing how long a time he had, Jocko worked as rapidly as he could to create a good impression without going too deeply into corners. He swept the debris from the middle of the floor, ran a cloth over the broad sufaces that were thick with dust, stuck the dirty pans into the oven to be washed at a future time and washed the sink and table. Then he surveyed the results proudly.

When Nan came in, he was sunk in a chair, reading a paper.

"Had a good walk?" he asked solicitously.

"I guess so." She took off her hat wearily. Nothing really seemed good. She laid her hat on a table, then leaned over and looked at the wood. Then she looked about her.

"Heavens, this apartment. It's filthy! It's the dirtiest place I was ever in!"

"But honey, I just finished cleaning it up!" Jocko protested.

"Cleaning it up!" Nan ran finger over a windowsill—something of which up to now Jocko had been totally unconscious—and showed him that it was black.

She poked about the room, finding dust in places Jocko had not known existed. She went into the kitchen and discovered the dirty pans in the oven first thing. The bathroom offered plenty of material for her to speak about. But the last straw seemed to be in the bedroom, when she discovered that he had swept the dirt under the bed.

"Jock, how could you!" she exclaimed half hysterically. "I don't see how anyone with any bringing up could do things that way. I don't believe dirt makes anymore difference to you than it does to a—a—"

BRITISH FARMERS VOTE ON QUOTAS

Canadian Press

London, July 31.—Grave issues convulse the stolid world of the English pig. To-day and for a week he waddles by proxy to the poll.

For in this land of great democracies the pig world has been called on to decide whether there shall be a pig revival or not. The poll will close August 5, and the result will be made known four days ater.

This move for a pig remaissance is part of the marketing and quota schemes with which Major Walter Elliott, Minister of Agriculture, seeks to revive British Agriculture.

Similar schemes of controlled marketing are in progress for hops, bacon, milk and potatoes.

COUGAR KILLED AT COAL CREEK

Shirley, July 31.—Reg Clark trailed down and killed a large cougar at Coal Creek, which had been responsible for the killing of two calves belonging to a rancher, and a goat belonging to a neighbor, a few nights ago. These animals are getting numerous since the bounty was removed.

Mrs. Stanley Clark last week had as guests her mother, Mrs. W. J. B. Newman of Victoria, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Davies of Trail, who motored to the Coast on a two weeks' holiday.

Horoscope

TUESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1933

Benefic aspects appear to dominate today, according to astrology, although certain adverse influences are discernible.

Through this last month of summer the sun opposing Saturn forcshadows much controversy regarding practical matters including economic and political issues.

Unseasonable and unusual weather may affect many projects with outdoor features Tand changing temperatures may be difficult to endure.

This day is read as fortunate for all who acquire business property by lease or purchase. It is a lucky sway for signing legal papers.

It is an auspicious rule for those who seek interviews or attend conferences. There may be future benefits resulting.

This should be a favorable time to seek positions of any sort. Delayed rewards for political work are indicated.

Constructive efforts of many sorts are supposed to be wisely directed while this configuration continues, but there will be criticism of whatever is progressive, it is foretold.

Uranus is in a place that encourages discontent among those who expect the world to bestow blessings that are unearned.

Newspapers and magazines should prosper under this rule of the planets. Publishing houses will multiply.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the aurury of a year of success along well-beaten paths. They should avoid speculation.

Children born on this day probably will be adventurous and inclined to romance. Subjects of this sign usually find life exceedingly interesting.

William Clark, soldier, explorer and governor of Louisiana, was born on this day, 1770. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Robert Todd Lincoln, 1843, statesman, and Richard Henry Dana, 1815, writer.

In computing the number of words in an advertisement, estimate groups of three or less figures as one word. Dollar marks and all abbreviations count as one word.

In estimating the number of lines in an advertisement, count five words for the first two lines and seven words for each line thereafter. This is not an absolute guide to the number of lines, much depending on the length of the individual words.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one issue, nor any claim for rebate on account of errors or omissions must be made within thirty days from the date of the same, otherwise the claim will not be allowed.

Advertisers who desire it may have replies addressed to a box at The Times Office and forwarded to their private address. A charge of 10c is made for this service.

Subscribers wishing their addresses changed should notify this office as well as the carrier. If your Times is missing, phone E7522 before 8 p.m. and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

DIED

FAWCETT—On July 30, 1933, at the Jubilee Hospital, Myra Fawcett, wife of Edgar Fawcett, of "Dingley Dell," Selkirk Avenue, Esquimalt, aged seventy-five years. Born in Yorkshire, England, and resident in this city for nearly sixty years. The remains are reposing at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, where the funeral service will be held Tuesday, August 1, at 2.30 p.m. Interment in Ross Bay Cemetery.

RUSSELL—On Saturday, July 29, at 827 Pandora Avenue, Elizabeth Russell, aged seventy-seven years. The late Mrs. Russell was born in Ontario and had resided here for fifteen years. She is survived by a niece, Mrs. William Edgar, of Bobcaygeon, Ontario, and a nephew, Harry Garlick, of Toronto. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from McCall Bros' Funeral Home. Rev. Gordon Boothroyd will conduct the service, after which interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Harry Langdale and family wish to thank their many friends for great kindness shown and sympathy expressed, also floral tributes received during their recent sad bereavement in the loss of a loving wife and mother. They especially wish to thank Dr. Miller and the staff of the Royal Jubilee Hospital for their kind and sympathetic service.

Mrs. A. Scott and family wish to thank their kind friends for their kind words and letters of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings extended to them during their recent sad bereavement in the loss of their husband and father. We especially wish to thank Miss O'Neil, the nurse, Miss Retta Parfitt and Miss Elsie Snider.

BIG ISSUE OF BONDS IN U.S.

Washington, July 31 — An $850,000,000 issue of United States government securities was offered to-day to the public for use in retiring indebtedness and to finance the administration's recovery programme.

Dean Acheson, Acting Secretary of United States Treasury, said the issue consisted of $500,000,000 eight-year 3 1-4 per cent bonds and $350,000,000 two-year 1 5-8 per cent treasury notes. The bonds are the first in two years.

Through this programme and money in the Treasury's general fund, officials hope to have approximately $1,000,000,000 available in mid-August for the recovery efforts. The bonds are in denominations as small as $50, making them available to people in ordinary circumstances as well as to large investors.

Both issues are free of taxation except estate, inheritance and surtax levies.

HOT IN ONTARIO

Caledonia, Ont., July 31 (Canadian Press)—This district continued to parch when temperatures Sunday of 120 in the sun and 96 in the shade climaxed eight weeks of drought—the longest period in years. Hopes the extreme heat would bring on thunderstorms and rain did not materialize.

ONTARIO HAS HEAT WAVE

Three Drownings; Three Auto Deaths; Diver Loses Life

Canadian Press

Toronto, July 31.—Despite the fact a breath-taking heat of almost record intensity gripped Ontario over the week-end, fewer drownings were reported than for any other week-end since July set in. Of the seven sudden deaths in Ontario, three were caused by drowning, three by motor-car accidents and one by a diving accident.

Temperatures in almost all parts of the province hovered around record marks yesterday. Thousands in cities were driven to parks and beaches for relief. Farmers were forced to carry water to cattle. In some sections there has been no rain for six weeks.

Windsor, Sarnia, North Bay, Peterboro—any place in Ontario with the exception of Moosonee on James Bay—the report was the same. "Unless rain falls here soon, crops will be ruined." Read the identical messages from all corners.

Toronto area thermometers recorded 98 degrees—hottest day of the year. Strangely enough Lake Ontario was in a contrary mood, with the water temperature at around 50, too cold for any but the hardiest swimmers.

Ninety-six at London, 99 at Hamilton, 92 at Kingston—so read the official temperatures yesterday. Ottawa escaped the full blast, enjoying a comparatively low 80.

AT NEW YORK

New York, July 31.—A heat wave which brought a temperature of 92 degrees here yesterday caused the deaths of three persons and sent more than 1,600,000 persons to beaches.

FORMER M.P. CANDIDATE

Hawkesbury, Ont., July 31 (Canadian Press).—Offering himself for nomination at the Liberal convention to be held at Plataganet August 10 as a candidate in the county of Prescott at the next provincial election, Louis M. Auger, former Dominion member for Prescott, addressed a large gathering here Saturday evening. The meeting was one of a series Mr. Auger is holding throughout the country.

M'GAFFEY HERE FOR MATERIAL

Former Publicity Director Getting Atmosphere For Illustrated Articles

Says Victoria Is One Place in World Where Life Can Be Really Enjoyed

"This is the one place in the world where you can really enjoy life," said Ernest McGaffey, former secretary of the Vancouver Island Development League in Victoria and now manager of the magazine bureau of the Southern California Automobile Club, Los Angeles, who is visiting the city after an absence of sixteen years.

Mr. McGaffey, who is accompanied by his wife and their daughter, Lenore, plans to remain here this week and will sail by the Ss. Emma Alexander on Saturday at midnight on the return trip to Los Angeles.

One of Victoria's publicity officials, Mr. McGaffey first came to Victoria in the spring of 1909, succeeding the late Herbert Cuthbert as secretary of the Vancouver Island Development League. He held the post for five years, relinquishing it to become head of the Bureau of Provincial Information under the late Sir Richard McBride. He has since been with the Southern California Automobile Club and last visited this city in 1917.

"Since I was last here there have been many changes, but the city has lost none of its attractiveness and charm," said Mr. McGaffey at the James Bay Hotel. "We are having a wonderful time meeting old friends and looking over old haunts in the district.

MORE BEAUTIFUL

"I find Butchart's Gardens even a more beautiful spot than it was when it was when I last saw the place. I am going out there for the second time on Tuesday to take some pictures to illustrate magazine articles I am writing about the gardens and Victoria and the island generally."

To-day Mr. McGaffey is going for a drive with Charles Whitney-Griffiths to see the progress that has been made in the construction of the West Coast Road out of Sooke and Jordan River. Friday he plans to visit Shawnigan Lake to see H. Goulding Wilson, a director of the old Vancouver Island Development League.

Saturday he went for a drive with Charles Harris, editor of The Island Motorist, and an old friend. Mr. Harris, he said, is well acquainted in California, where his magazine finds extensive circulation and maps supplied to tourists through his agency are invaluable to visitors seeing the island by motor. He plans to see Major Gordon Smith, of the Provincial Bureau of Information.

Mr. McGaffey stated that his organization is instrumental in sending a large number of Californians to Victoria, Vancouver Island and Vancouver.

"We know the work of your publicity commissioner, George I. Warren, and are familiar with the excellent articles covering the attractions here written by Frank Giolma," he said. "We are kept well posted on developments here and have no difficulty in supplying up-to-the-minute information to those who inquire about holiday trips."

Automobile travel had been well sustained this year, Mr. McGaffey stated.

REUNION HELD BY COLLEGIANS

International Relations Society of Victoria College Holds Banquet at Y.M.C.A.

The International Relations Society of Victoria College held a reunion dinner at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday evening, there being representatives of India, Austria, China, Japan, France and many other countries present. Cyril Chave, originator of the society, acted as chairman, and introduced the chief speaker for the evening, Dr. Thomas Miller, who spoke on "The Value of an Ideal."

Over thirty members and their friends attended and heard Dr. Miller compare an ideal to a new machine which had been developed through the use of esentials and the leaving out of those parts which were not necessary for the success of the venture. Florence Nightingale, who crystalized the idea of hospital accommodation during warfare, was cited as an example of a person with an ideal. Wilberforce's ideal of freeing the slaves was also given as an example.

Among the speakers of the evening were: Cyril Chave, Francois Joubin, president during 1932-33, Rev. Gordon Boothroyd, M.A., B.D., assistant pastor at First United Church, Yukio Takahashi, Piara Singh, Senga Singh, Hing Hope, Rudolph Williams and Donald Brewster.

Plans for the coming year were discussed at the conclusion of the meeting, and a programme was drawn up. The next session of the society will be held in October.

CONTINUE WHEAT NEGOTIATIONS

Associated Press

London, July 31.—Frederick E. Murphy, of Minneapolis, a United States delegate in international wheat restriction conversations, will visit continental European capitals soon to get the views of importing nations in anticipation of the resumption of the negotiations August 21.

Since the final meeting Thursday of representatives of Canada, the United States, Argentina, and Australia, informal plans have been going forward with the result that their viewpoint is said to be stronger than ever.

Canada and Argentine are said to favor an acreage reduction wholeheartedly, with Australia willing to cut exports. A slight difference of opinion prevented reaching an agreement last week.

Where To Go To-night

As Advertised

On the Screen

Capitol—Lee Tracy in "The Nuisance."
Columbia—Maurice Chevalier in "A Bedtime Story."
Dominion—"College Humor," starring Bing Crosby.
Empire—Mary Pickford in "Secrets."
Playhouse — "Platinum Blonde," starring Jean Harlow.

Fine Cast At The Playhouse

Eight thousand two hundred and ten books—just for one short scene. That was what was necessary for the property department of Columbia Pictures to secure to give correct atmosphere to the library set in "Platinum Blonde," the latest Frank Capra production showing now at the Playhouse Theatre.

With a forty foot ceiling, massive carved doors, bookshelves reaching from the floor thirty feet upward, this room is an exact duplicate of one in the mansion of a prominent New York family. When the task of filling the shelves with books began, it seemed a never-ending one. The book stores of Los Angeles and Hollywood were depleted of their supply before Steve Gooson, art director for Columbia, felt the set was ready to turn over to Director Capra.

Also on the came programme is "The Phantom Express" with J. Farrell MacDonald.

Chevalier At The Columbia

Norman Taurog combines the two types of movies he knows best in Maurice Chevalier's latest opus, "A bedtime Story," the film at the Columbia Theatre.

Taurog emerged full-fledged as a directorial personality when "Skippy," the successful "kid" picture which he filmed, won the Award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences as the best picture of 1931. He did so well with it that he made two more "kid" pictures—"Snooky" and "Huckleberry Finn."

As an added attraction "It's a King," a Comedy, is showing.

U.S. SECRETARY IS CRITICIZED

Associated Press

Kankakee, Ill., July 31.—E. E. Kennedy, secretary of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America, to-day made public an open letter addressed to United States Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace in which Kennedy charged recent market declines in grains were a result of a statement issued by Wallace's department.

Kennedy referred to a release issued by the federal Department of Agriculture July 12, in which it was said the cost of farm production in Iowa and Illinois was 4 cents a bushel for corn, 30 cents a bushel for oats and 86 cents a bushel for wheat.

The government statement, Kennedy said declared: "Farmers are now receiving more than the cost of farm production for both corn and oats."

Governor-General Travels Westward

Quebec, July 31.—After a stay of two months at their residence in the Quebec Citadel, the Governor-General and the Countess of Bessborough, accompanied by their son, Lord Duncannon, and A. E. Lascelles, the Governor-General's secretary, were en route west to-day. They entrained here yesterday evening for Winnipeg.

The party will spend some time touring western Canada, the Pacific Coast and the Peace River district.

FORD'S BIRTHDAY SPENT QUIETLY

Associated Press

Detroit, July 31.—Henry Ford has passed his seventieth milestone in excellent health and so engrossed with many interests he has no time to think of such things as retiring.

When his birthday falls on Sunday he observes the occasion in some manner other than usual work-day routine. That was the case yesterday, but the day was spent quietly with his family and a few close friends at the Ford home, "Fairplane."

ALGOMA CROPS HEAVY

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., July 31 (Canadian Press)—Grain and hay crops in the Algoma district have not suffered from the drought, which has parched farmlands in other parts of Ontario and a heavy yield is expected of all farm crops. Hay is an unusually heavy crop, it is reported.

LEE TRACY AT THE CAPITOL

Has Leading Role in "The Nuisance," "Gabriel Over the White House" Also Showing

Buying street cars and automobiles to wreck, photographing an actress by the invisible light of an "X-ray," rehearsing collisions and disasters and staging them, with trained stunt men, so accurately that they deceive experts—these are some of the technical feats that went into the making of excitement comedy and romance for Lee Tracy's latest screen appearance.

"The Nuisance," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new feature now at the Capitol Theatre, Tracy is seen as a shyster lawyer, whose principal business is chasing ambulances and working up faked accident injuries and lawsuits, and who is finally tripped up when he falls in love with the blonde private detective sent to ensnare him.

He ties up the traffic of a city, he meanders through comical troubles and difficulties galore, there are thrilling smashups, absurd sequences in a great skating rink, chases and other vivid incidentals.

Also being shown on the same programme is Walter Huston in "Gabriel over the White House."

EMPIRE THEATRE

When Mary Pickford was knocked unconscious by a 150-pound studio light that fell on her during the filming of "Secrets," now showing at the Empire Theatre, she remarked to members of the technical crew, after quickly recovering and resuming work: "If that is likely to happen again, I hope they cut the lights down to my size."

"India Speaks" To Show Here

An adventurous vagabond, a convincing lecturer and a world-wide traveler, Halliburton can always be counted upon for novelty in travel and adventure. As an author he leads his readers into strange places, into hilarious difficulties, into new appreciations of history and romance; yet he never qualifies his courageous philosophy of reckless living with a single trite moral.

He injects a boldly romantic and bright-spirited appeal into "India Speaks," which stars him for the first time on any screen. His eloquent tongue and the panoramic camera reveal sights amazing as well as spectacular. He shows a million blood-sucking vampire bats swooping from beyond a cliff; a spectacle of horror wherein Hindus inflict inconceivable self-torture; a public purging of filth and disease in the Ganges river; a Ramadan prayer of twenty thousand Mohammedans; a deadly combat between a lion and a tiger; and the dedication of a Buddhist living god to be conceived by a "white goddess" in the fastnesses of Tibet.

DOMINION THEATRE

New Method Employees Make Merry at Elk Lake on Saturday; Many Attend

The annual picnic of the employees of the New Method Laundries and Dry Cleaners was held on Saturday at Elk Lake. Through the co-operation of the entire staff the week's work was completed in time to permit the branches of the Vancouver Island Coach lines to leave the plant at 11 o'clock, noon three hundred persons including the children and friends of the staff were busy at lunch in preparation for an afternoon's fun and frolic.

The sports programme started at 2 o'clock under the able generalship of Dick Hartley and Bill Jones. The swimming events, following the track events, created considerable enthusiasm, and Jim Kean put on a life-saving display with Percy Wilcox doing the drowning stunt, who, as an expression of his appreciation at being resuscitated, rolled his life-saver off the diving platform back into the water, much to the amusement of the crowd. Supper was served at 5 o'clock and was followed by a softball exhibition game which terminated in a win for the "Has Beens," by 97 to 14. Stan Jones started on the mound for the Young "Uns," but he was sent for a swim in the lake at the end of the first inning, the "Has Beens" nicking him for thirty hits, scoring all their runs in that inning. Ruben Lamb and Sam Swetnam usually considered little food at poling out home runs but could not connect with the googly curves of Josh Smith.

The results of the races were as follows:

Tiny tots, 4 years and under—1, M. Mckenold; 2, R. Mottershead; 3, N. Chernoff.

BOYS SET OUT FOR "Y" CAMP

Twenty happy and carefree boys, bound for the Y.M.C.A. annual summer camp at Maple Lawn, Outer Sooke Harbor, left the city this afternoon for a week's holiday. Twenty other boys, who have already enjoyed a week under canvas, came home late this afternoon, tanned and thrilled with their experiences.

Yesterday parents and friends journeyed to see the camp and joined the campers in their games, meals, exploration parties and rest period. An inspection tour of the camp was undertaken and many favorable remarks were expressed regarding the delightful situation and the workings of the camp.

The programme, which includes early morning swims, devotional services, camp craft and first aid instruction as well as games, hikes and camp fire entertainment, was described to the parents and "samples" of the things that were being done were shown.

The short wave station, which is in operation at the camp, is proving to be very popular and over 100 messages have been broadcast during the last five days. The station is in contact with the Vancouver "Y" camp at Elphinstone, on Howe Sound, every day.

FUNERAL TO-MORROW

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Russell, who passed away Saturday at her home in the Pandora Apartments, will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from McCall Bros. Funeral Home. Rev. Gordon Boothroyd will conduct the service, after which interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park. The late Mrs. Russell was born in Ontario and had resided here for fifteen years. She is survived by a niece, Mrs. William Edgar of Bobcaygeon, Ontario, and a nephew, Harry Garlick of Toronto.

Dr. W. Newton, pathologist at the Dominion Experimental Station at Sidney, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Victoria Horticultural Society to be held to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock at the City Hall.

IS IT TRUE?

That the term "Old Blighty," meaning Britain, originated during the war?

Ans. No. The term "Blighty" is a corruption of the Hindustani word "Bilitahy," meaning British, originated during the India rebellion.

But it is true that Stevenson's delicious Nut Brittle is now selling for only 35c per ½ lb.

Question: Is it true that Foul Bay was originally named Fowl Bay because of the many species of water fowl at one time found in that vicinity?

Answer will appear Wednesday.

Send questions to Stevenson's Truisms, 725 Yates or 1119 Douglas Sts.

GANDHI AGAIN IS ARRESTED

Associated Press

Ahmedabad, India, July 31.—Mahatma Gandhi and his wife were arrested to-day.

His campaign was to have been turned into an individual disobedience effort this week.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Frank Robbins was fined $15 in the City Police Court this morning for driving an automobile to the common danger on View Street Saturday night.

When he pleaded guilty in the City Police Court this morning to a charge of supplying liquor to an Indian, James Bilsland was sentenced to one month.

A meeting in connection with an international anti-war day will be held by the Workers' Ex-servicemen's League to-morrow evening at 564 Yates St. W. Moulton, T. Guy Sheppard and F. Graham will be the speakers.

The Workers' Sports Association, by means of a tag day Saturday, collected $57.72. The committee, in charge headed by Fred McGee, expressed its appreciation for any assistance given to the undertaking.

Roy James, an Indian, pleaded guilty in the City Police Court this morning to a charge of being drunk and was fined $10 or five days. Andrew Tom, who admitted possession of an intoxicant, was fined $25 or one month.

Mrs. Jessie Johnson, 910 Caledonia Avenue, and Mrs. A. Young, 1418 Grant Street, were given first aid treatment for minor cuts and bruises, following an accident Saturday night when the car in which they were riding, driven by J. W. Davis, 755 View Street, struck the wooden barrier which was lowered at Johnson Street bridge as the bridge was about to open.

Acting in response to a request from ex-service men, T. Guy Sheppard wrote recently to the mayor in protest against the $2.50 per month reduction in relief allowances last May. He claims this works considerable hardship and is not justice for men who fought for their country. The mayor replied that it was a matter for the federal authorities and that the city had done all it could.

E. C. Montagu of Victoria, who returned Saturday from the World's Seed Grain Fair at Regina, Sask., says the exhibition is a great success and attended by immense crowds. The weather has been very hot and crops are very poor, being burnt up by the heat. Mr. Montagu, who farmed in Manitoba for forty-five years, says he never saw farm conditions worse, in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Preliminary figures for 1932, prepared by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, show there were 6,611 violent deaths in Canada in 1932, compared with 7,172 the previous year. Suicides numbered 1,021, compared with 1,004. Accidents took a toll of 5,434. The accident toll was the lowest since 1926. Automobile accidents accounted for 1,111 lives. Nine hundred and eighty persons lost their lives through drowning.

Ensign Parkinson of Glan Yowell, British Columbia, will give an address this evening in the Salvation Army Citadel, Broad Street. The ensign has spent six years in army native work in Alaska and northern British Columbia, and, with Mrs. Parkinson, is now in charge of the reserve at Glen Vowell, near Hazelton. All interested in work among the Indians are invited to attend. The meeting will commence at 8 o'clock.

The Victoria Short Wave Club held a very enjoyable picnic and beach party yesterday at Royal View Bay. The afternoon was spent in swimming and baseball which was greatly enjoyed by all the members and friends. A large game of baseball was played in the evening, and a beach fire and hot dog feed brought the picnic to a close. The active radio station owners present were: W7DGX (Port Angeles), VE5DQ, VE5DY, VE5DF, VE5DV, VE5EC, VE5IE, VE5IR, VE5HP and VE5JC.

On Saturday a picnic was held at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Sidney, when over 400 members, their families and friends of the Naval Veterans Branch, B.E.S.L., gathered there for an outing. Joseph Wittcomb, president of the branch, was in charge of the picnic. The bands of H.M.C.S. Skeena and the bugle band of the Rainbow Sea Cadets played throughout the afternoon. Twenty-six sporting events were run off and some close finishes witnessed. Supper was served with all sitting together.

The vacation church school, under the auspices of First United and Metropolitan Churches opened this morning at Metropolitan Church. There was a good attendance in three departments under the instruction of primary department, Mrs. M. Naysmith, superintendent; Miss Dorothy Scott, Miss Beth Stewart; junior, Miss E. Hudson, superintendent; Miss Z. Mossop, Miss P. Benson, Miss D. Davies, Miss P. Stife; intermediate, Miss E. H. Jones, Miss N. Halliday, Miss M. Bowden and Mrs. M. Hammond. Rev. J. H. A. Warr is general superintendent. The school will be open for three weeks to pupils of all denominations who care to attend.

The summer series of recitals at Christ Church Cathedral will conclude on Wednesday evening with a performance of Mendelssohn's pianoforte concerto by Stanley Bulley, the cathedral organist. The concerto is written in three movements the first two of which are connected and played without a break. Edward Parsons will play the orchestral part on the organ. The organ works to be played are all request numbers. The second and third movements of Elgar's second organ sonata which was published a few months ago opens the programme. The vision of Richard Peyto by Dunhill, Purcell's two trumpet tunes and air, and Wesley's Larghetto complete the programme. The Knabe concert grand piano has been lent by the Willis Piano Company. A collection will be taken in aid of the music fund.

Numerous Resolutions For Betterment of Ex-service Men Will Be on Agenda

When the convention of the Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire opens here Thursday there will be upwards of 500 delegates in attendance from all over British Columbia and the Northwest States.

A number of resolutions pertaining to betterment of conditions for ex-service men will come before the convention during the three days it is in session. The convention headquarters will be at the Shrine Hall on View Street, where all meetings will be held, while the women's convention will be held in the Pro Patria auditorium.

Immediately preceding the convention there will be a meeting of the provincial executive at Britannia Branch Wednesday and members of the executive will be entertained at dinner by the Victoria District Council.

Registration of delegates will take place at 9 o'clock Thursday morning at the Shrine Hall at 10 o'clock the convention will be called to order by T. A. Barnard, president of the provincial command.

WELCOMING ADDRESSES

After a silent tribute to the soldier dead, addresses of welcome will be given by Premier Tolmie, Mayor Leeming, T. D. Pattullo, leader of the Liberal Party in the Legislature; D. B. Plunkett, M.P. for Victoria, and W. G. Stone, chairman of the Victoria District Council of the Canadian Legion. Business will include the presentation of reports from standing committees, appointment of committee chairman and the selection of convention committees.

At 12.45 o'clock, the official luncheon will be held in the main dining-room of the Empress Hotel, after which the convention will reassemble at 3.15 o'clock for an hour's business. In the evening commencing at 6.30 o'clock the official banquet will be held in the dining-room of the Hudson's Bay Company store.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

On Friday the convention will open at 10 o'clock and the same afternoon election of officers will take place, also election of zone representatives. The delegates will fall in at the Royal Victoria Theatre at 6 o'clock Friday evening and march to the Cenotaph in Parliament Square where a wreath will be place on the monument and a short service held. There will be a veteran's reunion dinner and entertainment at the Armories commencing at 7.30 o'clock and at 9.30 o'clock the delegates will be guests at a ball in the Shrine Hall.

The Saturday morning session will officially conclude the convention and the afternoon will be taken up sightseeing.

ANYOX FREE FROM FLOES

Reaches Teller To-day, En Route to Dutch Harbor For Survey of Damages

Vancouver, July 31.—The Hudson's Bay Company steamer Anyox, with her Vancouver crew, has been freed from the ice southwest of Point Barrow by the U.S. coast patrol Northland, and is due at Teller, Alaska, this evening.

Whether the ship will be able to complete repairs and venture another attempt to pass Point Barrow, carrying winter supplies to Hudson's Bay and R.C.M.P. posts, is undecided. Capt. B. D. L. Johnson, her commander, in a wireless message at midnight yesterday stated the hull will be patched and the cargo restowed. Then the Anyox will proceed to Dutch Harbor for survey.

The voyage to Dutch Harbor will require several days, and a second attempt to pass Barrow would be late in the season, and would necessitate a quick turn round, for the Arctic ice pack locks at Point Barrow late in August.

The Northland reached the distressed Anyox on Saturday and broke a passage to her, and then assisted her to open water, where she was able to proceed under her own power.

CUPS AWARDED IN GUN CONTEST

Handsome Trophies to Be Shot For on Revolver Range Here Wednesday

With an attractive group of prizes to compete for, members of the police departments on the lower island, as well as several entrants from the mainland will participate in the all-day revolver shoot to be staged by the Victoria Police Department Wednesday.

The main trophy for which the local officers will shoot is a handsome perpetual challenge cup donated by the mayor and aldermen. This will go to the individual making the highest aggregate in the shoot, who will also receive a handsome serving dish. The Victoria Daily Times trophy has been donated for the leading squad in a shoot for British Columbia teams with fountain pens as the individual awards.

Both Canadian and United States teams will compete for The Daily Colonist trophy, the members of the winning team receiving miniatures.

The officer making the high individual score on the Victoria department will receive a cup donated by George Patton. P. J. Sinnott has given a trophy for the high individual of B.C. Police and F. W. Francis a cup for the winner of the six rounds deliberate fire open competition.

There is a handsome list of awards for the various other competitions, including silverware of various descriptions and other useful articles. Members of the committee expressed appreciation of the spirit shown by donors of the prizes.

The shoot will open at 9 o'clock and competitors will be firing all day, luncheon being served on the range at Esquimalt.

Birthday Greetings Are Extended To-day To—

JOHN ROWLAND
ALEX. R. BROWN
JOHN C. WILSON
H. LAUDER RAMSAY
FRANK I. DOHERTY

John Rowland is an authority on Vancouver Island. He has written approximately 200 articles for British Columbia newspapers about Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands, and the many interesting personal characters of the Islands. He is fond of all sports, particularly English rugby. Mr. Rowland served in France and Belgium with the 72nd Seaforth Highlanders, C.E.F.

Alex. R. Brown, wharfinger at Pier 1 at the Outer Wharf, was seventy-seven years of age Saturday. He has been in the employ of the R. P. Rithet Company for the last forty-seven years.

John C. Wilson, formerly Victoria manager of the Great West Life Assurance Company, retired a few years ago. He was born in Bruce County, Ontario. He spends a good deal of his time in the beautiful garden of his home at 981 Madison Street.

H. Lauder Ramsay, a native son of Victoria has a birthday to-day. He is the manager of the Ramsay Machine Works and Foundry Company, which was started a number of years ago by the late G. D. Ramsay. He is a keen follower of sports, soccer and baseball being his favorites. Mr. Ramsay, who is married and has two children, lives at 1735 Denman Street.

Frank I. Doherty, a partner in The Toggery Shop, is receiving best wishes to-day. Coming to Victoria in 1910 he was employed by a Toronto clothing firm and two years later he joined D. Spence at The Toggery Shop. From 1912 to 1929 they operated on Douglas Street and then moved to their present location. He is a member of the Rotary Club and Knights of Columbus. Mr. Doherty lives at 13 Olympia Avenue.

BRIDGE RIVER HAS JOBLESS

People Living on Camp Handouts There in Spite of Gold, States Bruce Hutchison

Describes Recent Trip Through Cariboo to Members of Gyro Club

A comprehensive but graphic account of his travels through the Cariboo was given by Bruce Hutchison ("H.B.W.") newspaperman and columnist, in an address before the Gyro Club in the Empress Hotel to-day. Dealing with a trip just completed, Mr. Hutchison told the Gyros he had followed the Fraser River north to Lillooet and seen in the Bridge River country names on signboards which were known to most people only as names on stock boards.

In spite of the great richness of some of the properties in the district, there were at present 200 Bridge River dwellers out of work and living on handouts from various camps, he stated. Though some of the claims were extraordinarily rich, experienced mining men considered that if one claim out of 100 was worth anything, it was a good average.

Mr. Hutchison told of picking up an old prospector who said he was going up a hill to stake out five or six claims. He did not expect there would be any gold, but he considered some promoter would give him $200 or so for his claims and that there would be plenty of "suckers" down on the coast to justify the promoter's expenditure. Other people were wild catting, the veteran reasoned, and why should he not get in on the game?

ENGLISH PEER

Beyond Bridge River the motorist entered the ranch and beef country. All along the excellent road were comfortable stopping places and at the 100-Mile House one's grips were carried in by an English peer, young Lord Martin Cecil, who says he became tired of society at home.

Further on, there was a semi-desert of sandy terrain, where only a few jackpine and muskeg survive. Here observed Mr. Hutchison, the mercury went below freezing on three separate July nights and here the government, "with ineffable wisdom," had placed one of the province's jobless under its settlement scheme. This man, living with his wife and four children, had had his potatoes frozen on three different nights.

Barkerville, Mr. Hutchison reported, was reviving with the extraction of lode gold from the hills, and there was a brand new shacktown on the flats below the old village, the one street of which once swarmed of an evening with 10,000 miners, but which later became a deserted village of some ninety-six people. Here still lived an old man who had been down to Vancouver before the era of street cars and automobiles, but who had not been "out" since because he heard the Coast metropolis had become a wicked place under the influence of modern habits. Here also was an old lady who had not visited nearby Quesnel since 1864.

Mr. Hutchison reminded his hearers of an alternative trip from Lytton east toward Kamloops instead of north. This took one through a country where the people were only interested in fruit, and later through the great smelting area of Trail. The speaker painted a vivid picture of a trip through the famous Sullivan Mine, with the mile-long tunnel in the side of the mountain, through which one was borne on electric cars into the mine area proper.

Beyond where the pavement ended, Mr. Hutchison asserted, there were many things to be seen which would convince the Coast dweller of the variety and complexity of British Columbia. The life also was different. People held different values, and they did not seem to understand the Coast dweller's talk about depression. And it was this country and these people that made the big cities possible.

WENT ASHORE, MISSED WRECK

Fred Berg Went North on Ss. Northwestern, But Landed at Juneau

Retired Hat Manufacturer of Beverley Hills Here After Salmon

"I usually call them right," said Fred Berg, retired hat manufacturer of Beverley Hills, Cal., in explaining the hunch which caused him to leave the steamer Northwestern at Juneau and stay ashore for awhile.

It was his intention to board the Northwestern at Juneau on her return trip from Skagway, but in the meantime the steamer drove ashore in the north and he missed the incident which excited a boatload of passengers.

"Call it a premonition, or what you will, but I had the urge to go ashore at Juneau, and now I am mighty glad I did, because I don't like shipwrecks," Mr. Berg said.

He took passage on the southbound steamer Aleutian, to which the Northwestern's passengers were transferred, and had a lot of fun yarning with them about their experiences on the way south to Seattle.

TO FISH HERE

Mr. Berg returned to Victoria to do some fishing, and he expects to find some good sport on Saanich Inlet. He likes this country, and comes here every year to spend part of the summer, and then winters in Honolulu.

Last year, Mr. Berg's secretary, Miss Ione Steuerwald, caught a twenty-three-pounder salmon at Brentwood and this year she expects to win a button by landing a fish equally as big.

SOLD ON CITY

"I am sold on Victoria and this northern country," said Mr. Berg. "Down in Beverley Hills we had to have the heat on to keep warm."

"It's going to be a tough pull," he observed in discussing the recovery efforts in the United States. We have got to get down to earth," he remarked.

Mr. Berg is at the Empress Hotel and will put in a few days fishing before motoring back home. He drives a big Pierce-Arrow and does all his traveling ashore by automobile.

ORCAS ISLAND ROAD OPENED

Herbert Anscomb at Ceremony Which Makes Mt. Constitution Accessible

Marking a new field for tourists and motorists, the formal opening was observed Saturday of the fine new road to the top of Mount Constitution, Orcas Island—the ceremony which was attended by Herbert Anscomb, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce; George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, and representatives of governmental, trade and travel organizations from the state of Washington.

Both Victoria delegates at the opening were on their return loud in praise of what they termed the unsurpassed scenic attractions of the new road which runs from sea level through the 3,000-acre Moran State Park to the very summit of Mount Constitution. At every turn new and beautiful views of sea, gulf island and mountains are revealed to the motorists. Timber land and a string of lakes enhance the beauty of the drive.

From the top of the mountain, which is the highest point in the gulf and San Juan islands south, Port Angeles and the Olympic range in the southwest, Mount Baker to the east, Blaine, Wash., the Fraser Valley and the Selkirks on the northeast and Vancouver Island to the north, as well as all the islands in the Gulf of Georgie.

Moran State Park, Mount Constitution, the lakes, abounding with trout which will rise to the fly, and the forests, where are many deer, were the gift to the State of Washington of Robert Moran, former mayor of Seattle and one of the best known shipbuilders on the continent. It had been Mr. Moran's dream of a lifetime to see a road constructed to the top of the mountain, and Mr. Moran was one of those present when this dream was fulfilled Saturday.

VICTORIANS MADE TRIP

Ten years ago the Victoria Chamber of Commerce sponsored a trip by prominent local people to the top of Mount Constitution. Among those who went were the late C. T. Cross, then president of the chamber; the late Arthur Lineham, the late Gen. R. P. Clark, B. C. Nicholas, Major Cuthbert Holmes, Joseph Patrick, A. S. Humphries, Mayor Leeming, George I. Warren, Frank Giolma, P. C. Rawlings, two representatives of the Department of National Parks, Ottawa, and others. Since that trip the State of Washington had accepted deed of the entire property from Mr. Moran, and about two years ago it was decided to build a road to the summit.

Special boats from Seattle, Bellingham, Friday Harbor and other points on Puget Sound carried official representatives to Orcas Island for the formal opening Saturday. They were welcomed at Rosario, the palatial home of Mr. Moran, by the owner in person. The formal ceremony, at which the Elks' Band of Seattle played, took place before the ascent to the mountain.

Mr. Anscomb spoke on behalf of Victoria and referred to the close relationship existing between Victoria and Orcas Island through the fact that the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau had been responsible for the establishment of an auto ferry connecting Orcas and Vancouver islands. Without such auto ferries, Orcas would be cut off from outside contacts. The speaker referred to the Moran State Park as one of the most scenic and valuable to tourist attractions in the northwest, which it had been his privilege to see.

IS LAID TO REST

Many lovely flowers covered the casket at the funeral Saturday of Mrs. Emma Langdale. Rev. G. K. Reynolds officiating at the service. The pallbearers were: J. Owen, G. Clifford, F. Thomson and R. Myers. Interment was in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Favorites Advance in National Tennis Championships at Vancouver

Vancouver Lawn Tennis Club, Vancouver, July 31.—Canada's national tennis championships opened on nine grass courts here to-day with men's singles filling the early draws. Favorites advanced without exception in the first round, but one of the visiting Canadians, Gordon Horn, Winnipeg, was eliminated from the tournament by the stylish San Francisco junior, Harry Goldman.

The third-seeded player, John Murio, San Francisco, was given a hard battle by a Portland junior, W. Hartman, who engaged in many long base line rallies before bowing to the Hawaiian, 6-2, 6-2. Mel Dranga, Seattle, seeded fourth, scored an impressive 6-0, 6-0 triumph over J. E. Roy, New Westminster, B.C.

Perfect tennis weather greeted the players as they took the courts for the first draw at 9.30 o'clock. A week of clear weather was forecast for the annual net classic.

RAINVILLE WINS EASILY

The top-seeded player, Marcel Rainville, Montreal, swept through a match with R. B. Pinney, Vancouver, 6-2, 6-1. The diminutive Davis Cup star played almost errorless tennis on the number one court.

The two Winnipeg juniors, Marshall Smith and Cuthbert Hopper, dropped from the senior singles. Smith lost to Don Campbell, Victoria, 6-1, 6-0, and Hopper bowed to Tom Butt, Vancouver, 6-4, 6-2.

George LeClerc, Ottawa, had little difficulty in disposing of D. Macrae, Vancouver, without the loss of a game. Walter Martin, the second-seeded Toronto and Regina player, found plenty of trouble with Leslie "Tinker" Porter, Britannia Beach, B.C., but won in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4. Porter led, 4-2, on his own service in second set, but the lanky Davis Cup player, a general favorite to win the tournament, took three straight games and the match.

Funeral To-morrow Of Francis J. Cox

Funeral services will be held to-morrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock for Francis John Cox, native son of Victoria and veteran of the Great War, who passed away Saturday in the Jubilee Hospital, aged fifty-three years. Interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Cox, pioneers of this city, and went overseas with the 48th Battalion, C.E.F., later transferring to the 123rd Battalion, with which he served until the end of the war.

He is survived by three brothers and four sisters, William H., and Herbert J., Victoria; Charles, in California; Mrs. W. J. Rennie, Mrs. W. F. Fullerton, Mrs. A. Tobin and Mrs. Leon Boldee, all of Victoria.

BIKE MARATHON STARTS TO-NIGHT

Montreal, July 31.—Start of the world championship, 4,300-mile transcontinental bicycle marathon, scheduled to take place from here yesterday afternoon, was postponed until to-night, Promoter Armand Vincent has announced. Heavy rains Saturday night and early Sunday made the opening fifty-mile lap impossible due to the muddy condition of the course.

Leroy Goldsworthy Makes Secure Major League Baseball Berth

WITH MANY stars threatening to withdraw from the United States Professional Golfers' Association tournament this year at Milwaukee, due to conflicting dates, the most unorthodox golfer in the country has an inside track to the title.

He is Leo Diegel, Detroit pro who tees his ball too high, crouches with his arms nearly akimbo while putting, and has the most acute case of jumping jitters ever seen on the course.

But with all his faults, Diegel's play this year has been up to that of the best golfers in the United States. If he is on his game at Milwaukee, whenever it is finally decided to hold the tournament, he may oust Olin Dutra, the dashing Californian, from the coveted pro seat.

Shute, Sarazen, Hagen and others say they cannot compete August 8 because of "other business." The U.S.G.A. may set the date back to September.

Diegel's winter golf left much to be desired, even though he did finish well up among the money winners. Even through the U.S. open, which he finished with a score of 299, he didn't look like the fellow who won the pro title in 1928 and 1929, and copped the Canadian open championship four times in six years.

But in the British open he played brilliant golf.

Denny Shute and Craig Wood, with their playoff score of 292, were only one stroke ahead of the Detroit demon. That 293 also was his British open score in 1930, when he finished second, two strokes behind Bobby Jones.

Should Leo fail to win the P.G.A. cup, honors probably either go to Olin Dutra, last year's champ; Ed. Dudley, Delaware pro; Joe Kirkwood, the trick shot artist, or Paul Runyan, youngster from New York.

1916	Jim Barnes
1917-18	No tournaments
1919	Jim Barnes
1920	Jock Hutchison
1921	Walter Hagen
1922-23	Gene Sarazen
1924-25-26-27	Walter Hagen
1928-29	Leo Diegel
1930	Tommy Armour
1931	Tom Creavy
1932	Olin Dutra

Several big league baseball scouts are focusing their eyes in the direction of Leroy Goldsworthy, starry pitcher of the Winnipeg club of the Northern League.

In the opinion of no less an authority than Joe "Patsy" O'Rourke, chief scout of the Philadelphia National League club, Goldsworthy is one of the best mound prospects in the minors. This discovery was made following his tour of the minors, which included a trip through several Northern League cities. He has decided to recommend the purchase of the Winnipeg hurler.

It is more than likely, according to reports, that O'Rourke will ask Bruno Hass, Winnipeg owner, for a price on Goldsworthy.

O'Rourke, the discoverer of such present-day major league stars as "Chuck" Klein, "Pinkey" Whitney, "Spud" Davis, and a host of others, is considered as one of the best of the big league scouts. The directors of the Phillies generally always accept his recommendation on minor league players as final.

A friend of O'Rourke's in Superior, Wis., first called the Phillies scout's attention to Goldsworthy.

Should Goldsworthy make the grade in the majors it will give him the distinction of playing on two major professional teams. In the winter months Leroy confines his duties to hockey for the Detroit Red Wings.

Did you know that—Homing pigeons travel any distance . . . at the rate of 600 miles a day . . . a carrier pigeon has a flying limit of about 100 miles . . homing pigeons in full flight hit it off at a rate of about a mile a minute . . . which makes Jack Lovelock's mile in 4.07 3-5 appear that the man was tied . . . if a homing pigeon hits a wire or other obstruction when all his cylinders are open he's a dead bird . . . some pigeons have been known to attain a speed of 2,000 yards a minute.

On Classic Day at Arlington Park, the "daily double" pool totaled $22,865, said to be a record for such a method of wagering. Miss Tulsa and Liberty Oak, both favorites, formed the winning combination which paid $11 for $2.

Red Grange definitely has decided to play one more season of American football and will be seen in the lineup of the Chicago Bears or New York Giants next-fall. The Galloping Ghost intends to land a coaching job in the east and become a mentor in 1934.

St. Louis Card's Star Hurler Fans Seventeen Batters

Best Performance in Forty Years of Baseball; Helps Wilson Set Mark

PITTSBURGH IN DOUBLE VICTORY

Gain Ground as Giants Are Beaten; New York Yankees Crush Washington

It was a busy week-end in baseball, perhaps the most eventful and exciting the major leagues have gone through this year.

Dizzy Dean, St. Louis Cardinals, shattered the modern major league strikeout record with the greatest feat in that line recorded in more than forty years, whiffing seventeen of the Chicago Cubs as he won the opener of yesterday's doubleheader, 8 to 2.

New York and Washington battled to a stalemate in two games of their series for the American League lead, which ends to-day.

Rogers Hornsby took active charge as manager of St. Louis Browns and his team took a double drubbing, Chicago White Sox, who had dropped nine straight games, won the first game 8 to 7 in ten innings then blasted out a 15 to 2 victory in the nightcap.

SET TWO RECORDS

Not only did Dean record seventeen strikeouts in a major league game for the first time since Tom Ramsey did it for Louisville in 1887 but he helped his catcher, Jimmy Wilson, establish a new modern mark of eighteen putouts. In the second game the Cards edged out a 6 to 5 victory.

Washington, after winning Saturday to go three games ahead of the Yankees, found the southpaw pitching of Russell Van Atta a bit too much and went down 7 to 2.

The Pittsburgh Pirates came through with a pair of ninth-inning rallies against Cincinnati to extend their winning streak to seven games. They took the opener 5 to 4 then put over five tallies for an 8 to 6 victory in the second game.

Boston Braves, meanwhile, cut down the league-leading New York Giants by a 5 to 3 count. The Phillies helped straighten out the National League standing by beating Brooklyn Dodgers 3 to 1.

Boston Red Sox walloped the Philadelphia Athletics 8 to 3, but two Chicago victories put the White Sox a point ahead. Detroit Tigers hammered out a 6 to 1 victory over Cleveland when homers by Hank Greenberg and Pete Fox drove in four tallies.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

St. Louis, July 31—Two modern baseball records fell before the brilliant pitching and catching of Jerome (Dizzy) Dean and Jimmy Wilson of St. Louis Cardinals, who took both ends of a double-header from Chicago Cubs yesterday 8 to 2 and 6 to 5.

Dean struck out seventeen men and Wilson made eighteen putouts in the first game for new modern records. The Cardinals, by their double victory, regained third place in the National League by one point, shoving the Cubs to fourth.

While other pitchers nearly half a century ago struck out more batters in a nine-inning game, Dean set a record for modern baseball. Wilson's eighteen putouts had not been equaled in almost a similar length of time.

G. SUTHERLAND IS BRILLIANT

Takes Five Firsts, Two Seconds and Two Thirds to Win Alberta Track Title

Tilly Sevastian Women's Champ; Several New Records Are Established

Calgary, July 31.—New records were marked up when Alberta's girls and boys gathered here Saturday for the provincial track and field meet. George Sutherland, Calgary, was crowned the province's all-around athlete, while Tilly Sebastian, Edmonton, was named all-around star in the women's sphere.

Sutherland entered nine events, winning five firsts, two seconds and two thirds for a total of thirty-five points. Miss Sebastian competed in four events, capturing two firsts and two thirds for a total of sixteen points.

Only one point behind Miss Sebastian in the grand aggregate was Charlotte Daws, Edmonton, with fifteen points. Miss Daws won the three events she competed in. Sutherland's closest competitor was Harris Walker, Raymond, far behind in the list with seventeen points.

GREAT PERFORMANCE

In a brilliant display Sutherland captured the 120 yards hurdles, pole vault, discus throw, 16-pound hammer and 16-pound shot, while Miss Sebastian was victorious in the javelin and baseball throws. In the latter she set a new Alberta mark of 178 feet 3¾ inches.

Victory in the six-mile run went to Jerome Platt, who recorded one of the four new provincial records in this event, stepping the distance in 32 minutes 57 3-5 seconds, compared to the old mark of 34.31, made by Hartington Andersen, Calgary marathoner.

Miss Daws was responsible for a new mark in the women's running broad jump, leaping 17 feet 2½ inches, an eighth of an inch better than the old mark. Miss Sebastian's baseball throw was more than twenty feet greater than the old provincial record set by Josephine Kopta.

The fourth new mark was recorded by Dorothy Jones, Calgary, who covered the eighty-metre hurdles in 13 1-5 seconds, trailed closely by Miss K. Hyatt with whom she previously shared the old record of 13 4-5 seconds.

Sons of Canada Defeat Nanaimo

Nanaimo, July 31.—Victoria Sons of Canada ball team defeated local nine here Saturday 4 to 3 in a close and exciting game. Nanaimo led 3 to 2 in the seventh when the visitors scored two runs to win. Musgrave, pitching for Sons, struck out nine in five innings, being relieved in the sixth by Shouldice. Watchorn, Nanaimo pitcher, struck out ten.

Former Heavyweight Wrestling Champion Is Suffering From Heart Ailment; Will Never Enter the Ring Again; Now Making Plans For Divorce

Los Angeles, July 31.—Gus Sonnenberg, former heavyweight wrestling champion and former Dartmouth football player, says he will fly from here Tuesday for Reno to establish residence so his wife, Judith Allen of the movies, may get a divorce.

"And it may be the last big act of my life," he said gloomily.

"The doctors have told me I've got only six months to live. "I'm through with the ring. I'll never wrestle again, they said.

"I'll stay in Reno six weeks and then let my wife sue and get the divorce.

"Down deep in my heart I know she loves me—and I love her." Sonnenberg's heart ailment—auricular flutter—sent him to a hospital after a body-slamming bout with Jim Browning.

Winooka Rates As Second Phar Lap After Great Win

WINS PURSE OF $10,000

Invader Comes Close to Record; May Next Appear on Programme at Hawthorne

San Bruno, Cal., July 31.—A possible worthy successor to the mighty Phar Lap to-day was seen in Winooka, great Australian thoroughbred, following his victory Saturday in the match race against Hueu over the five-furlong course for a purse of $10,000.

Some 6,000 fans gathered at Tanforan track saw the big bay son of Windbag out of Kanooka, gallop home to an easy victory over the Hawaiian-bred California-owned Hueu.

The time was 1.00 2-5, two-fifths of a second slower than the ten-year-old track record, but it was apparent the Australian invader ran only fast enough to win.

Under a nice ride by Edgar Britt and carrying an impost of 120 pounds to 105 pounds for the sprinter from the C. A. Hartwell stable, Winooka raced head and head until the stretch, before lengthening out.

When the horse that has most generally been compared to the late famed Phar Lap decided to run, he pulled away with ridiculous ease to split the finish line with a length and a half lead.

Winooka had the rail position in the first two-horse international match race since Zeve conquered Papyrus in a mile and a one-half gallop at Belmont Park, ten years ago. They started from a web barrier on even terms.

San Francisco, July 31.—Winooka, Australian race horse who won his American debut in a match race Saturday, may appear next at the Hawthorne track in Chicago, it was announced here to-day by his owners, J. A. Mathews and W. A. McDonald.

They said they expected to leave for Chicago within ten days.

Colts, Incogs And Albions Are Victors

In Saturday's three friendly cricket matches the Colts, Incogs, and Albions were victors. The first mentioned defeated Victoria 146 to 41, Incogs accounted for the Wanderers 181 to 118, and the Albions won over Cowichan at Beacon Hill 80 to 75 after an exciting match.

SONS-ROSEBUDS TIE FOR LEAD

Buds Defeat Eagles 5 to 1 to Jump Into Tie For First Place in Twilight League

Turning back the Eagles 5 to 1 in a Twilight Baseball League fixture at the Indian Reserve yesterday afternoon the Rosebuds crept into a tie for first place with the Sons of Canada, necessitating a play-off for first place. The last game of the regular schedule will be played to-morrow evening at the Athletic Park at 6.15 o'clock when the Talyos and Eagles will clash.

Scoring two runs in the first, two in the fifth and one in the last stanza the Buds held their opponents to a single run in the fourth canto. Both teams were credited with five hits. Jackson, pitching for the Rosebuds, fanned ten batters, while Emery, chucking for the birdmen, caused eight batters to fan the air.

Teams	W.	L.	Pct.
Sons of Canada	8	4	.667
Rosebuds	8	4	.667
Talyos	6	5	.545
Indians	6	6	.500
Eagles	1	10	.091

In an exhibition game played yesterday afternoon at the Indian Reserve a combined Eagles-Rosebuds team downed the Indian squad 18 to 5 in a hard hitting game. The Indians were forced to use two pitchers but still the batters of the combined teams kept knocking them out. Marsh, Holness and Cheswith formed the battery for the Eagles-Rosebuds team while Thomas, Page and Gould did duty for the redmen.

The score by innings follows:

Indians	0 0 0 0 3 1 1 1—5

BELLINGHAM IN WIN OVER V.A.C.

Bellingham, July 31.—The Bellingham Tulips won their final home game in the Vancouver Senior League race here yesterday by defeating the Vancouver Athletic Club 3 and 2 in a game featured by four double plays.

McKissock of the visitors and Clarke of the Tulips each drove a ball over the left field fence for four bases. Mittendorf, V.A.C., allowed nine hits, while Ford, Tulips, was nicked for seven safe blows.

SLINGERS TO MEET LEADERS

Will Hook Up With Camerons in Senior Amateur Baseball League To-night

Needing a victory to take over third place in the Senior Amateur Baseball League Slingers will field their strongest available club for the game at the Athletic Park to-night against Camerons, league leaders. Play will commence at 6.15 o'clock with Allie McGregor in charge.

Slingers are at present tied with the Sons of Canada for third position and a victory to-night would make their chances for a play-off position much brighter. The final league game is scheduled for Wednesday night between the Tillicums and Camerons, but there are six replay and postponed games to be run off.

Jack Noble will occupy the mound for Slingers with Bunny Purmall behind the plate. Bill Holness or Dan Lidstone is expected to start for Camerons

WEST INDIES AND DURHAM IN DRAW

Sunderland, Eng., July 31.—The two-day cricket match between the touring West Indies eleven and Durham ended to-night in a draw when rain forced stoppage of play shortly after the teatime interval. Scores were: Durham 256, West Indies 140, and twenty-nine for three wickets.

The Durham bowlers had all the best of it against the tourists, only Merry, with thirty-five out, and Valentine getting twenty-seven runs, making any sort of showing on a tricky wicket.

LANGFORD SOFTBALL

Three softball games were played yesterday at Langford. In the opening tilt Keatings defeated a team of former Westholme League players 6 to 5 and then disposed of Langford 19 to 8. In the third encounter Langford defeated the Westholme Leaguers 8 to 5.

Pair Of B.C. Tennis Titles Are Won By Two Victoria Women

MRS. WILSON JUST FAILS IN MIXED

John Murio Downs Hunt in Straight Sets; Wins Doubles With Kinneally

Due to the fine work of Mary Campbell and Mrs. R. B. Wilson, Victoria secured two British Columbia grass court championships and nearly snatched a third at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club Saturday afternoon. Miss Campbell downed Dorothy Bundy, Santa Monica, in the women's singles final, 6-0, 2-6, 6-4, and, paired with Mrs. Wilson, accounted for Gracyn Wheeler, Santa Monica, dethroned singles champion, and Mrs. Golda Meyer Gross, Berkeley, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1. With Dunc Williams, Mrs. Wilson carried Ed Russell, Hollywood, and Miss Bundy to 17-15, 6-3 in the last final on the programme.

Both men's titles went to California in all-California finals. John Murio, too powerful and exact for the youthful Charles Hunt, downed his fellow San Franciscan in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2, thus going through the tournament without even coming close to losing a set. Hunt, partnered with Ed. Russell, gave Murio and Martin Kinneally, San Francisco, a very close run in the men's doubles final, their more experienced opponents winning out at 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2 in a five-set battle that produced the finest tennis of the day.

BUNDY RALLIES

Mary Campbell won out after a great start and a rally by her opponent which nearly took the title south. The Victoria player won the first set at love, a great feat, but Miss Bundy, playing more firmly, quickly assumed a 3-0 lead in the second set. Mary then won her serve, but could get just one point on her opponent's next delivery and also dropped her own service to go behind 1-5. She broke Miss Bundy's serve in the seventh game and finally lost the set on her own delivery after having set point against her three times.

In the final set, Miss Bundy started away like a winner, winning her own serve and breaking through Miss Campbell's to go ahead 2-0. Four straight service breaks followed, Miss Campbell winning two games and Miss Bundy two to give the Californian a 4-2 lead. Having won ten out of fourteen games and with her own service to follow, Miss Bundy looked like a winner, but Miss Campbell is seldom so good as when down and once again she came from behind.

Miss Bundy had game point in the crucial seventh game, but finally lost it and also dropped Miss Campbell's next delivery to tie the score. A double fault at game point in the ninth game gave it to Miss Campbell, who proceeded to run out her own service and match in the next game at 6-4.

SERVICE BREAKS DECIDE

Murio served thirteen times in his match with Hunt and won all thirteen games. In addition, he broke Hunt's serve once in the first set to give him it, 6-3, twice in the second set and twice in the third set. The match started off in a burst of speed, games following service to the sixth game and the exchanges being marked by great speed off the ground, Hunt's shots especially being prettily executed. Hunt, however, could not hold the pace and seemed bothered by his right arm. He dropped his delivery in the sixth game and Murio finally ran out the set at 6-3 on this one break and consistent play behind his own service.

Games also followed service to the fifth game in the second set, Hunt leading at 1-0 and 2-1 before going behind 2-3 on a service break. Another service break the game after the next gave Murio a 5-2 lead and paved the way for the winning of the set at 6-2. Hunt was becoming really erratic now, though Murio, with apparently endless physical resources, was keeping up the writing pace. Hunt dropped the first game on service in the third set and again lost his delivery in the third game. Murio went ahead at 4-0 and 5-1 before Hunt got a big hand for

MATA HARI FAILS TO GET IN MONEY IN RICH CLASSIC

Sensational Filly Places Fourth in $47,000 Arlington Futurity; First Defeat of Her Career; Far Star Wins With Hadagal, Second, and Swinging Wood Third

Arlington Park, Chicago, July 31.—The sensational Mata Hari failed to win the $47,000 Arlington Futurity Saturday, but she had a little girl friend in the race to come along and save the day for her.

The winner was Far Star, by her performance the best two-year-old in 1933—at least until a better one comes along.

Far Star won by a length and a half with the Calumet Farm's Hadagal second. Six lengths back, in third place, came Mrs. John Hay Whitney's highly regarded Singing Wood; in fourth place was Mata Hari, the filly that had been regarded so certain to win that she made the Dixiana entry the odds-on favorite.

Far Star sprinted the six furlongs in 1.11 1-5, the same time made by Ladysman in winning the 1932 futurity, and brought her owner $31,020. The race had a gross value of $47,020.

Medica Holds Another Mark

Portland, July 31.—Jack Medica, Washington Athletic Club, to-day held a new national outdoor swimming record. He did the 1,000 yards in 11.37 2-5, in the Pacific Northwest 1933 championships Saturday.

Medica, who holds the national outdoor records in the 440 and 880 yards events, cut 47 3-5 seconds from the time of Buster Crabbe, Hollywood, who held the previous record of 12.25.

Rugby Union Track Meet Dominated By Y.M.C.A. Athletes

Joe Addison Gives Splendid Performance, Capturing Both 100 and 440

HALF-MILE GOES TO CUNNINGHAM

Y.M.C.A. track stars Saturday afternoon made a clean sweep of practically all events in the first annual track and field meet, sponsored by the Victoria Rugby Union. The event, although not particularly well attended, was highly successful and provided some of the finest competition seen on the local cinder track at Athletic Park for some time.

The feature of the day was the performance of Joe Addison, Y.M.C.A., who scored a sweet victory over two of his fellow members in the 100-yard dash. Running on rough ground and up a slight grade, Addison won the race in 10 3-5 seconds, a remarkable time for such conditions.

Addison also showed a clean pair of heels to the field in the 440-yard dash, clipping it off in 51 1-2 seconds to finish in front of G. V. Giolma and Chuck Cunningham, both from the "Y."

In the half mile event, Cunningham showed the way to win handily from T. Christiansen, Y.M.C.A., and Kostuick, running unattached.

Owen Bentley, another flashy sprinter from the Y.M.C.A., scored in the 220-yard final, after winning his heat. Bentley ran the distance in 24 2-5 seconds to lead P. Rowe and Joe Roberts, also "Y" runners.

MOORE IS WINNER

Gordie Moore, Y.M.C.A., gave a fine exhibition to win the broad jump with a jump of 19 feet 11 3-4 inches. W. Hibbert, Navy, was second.

The single victory of the day for Louis Callam and his police force athletes was in the three-legged race, when Roy Wolsey and George Clayards took first place.

One of the closest events of the day was the walking race. In this event, which was one mile, or four times around the park, Christie, of the Navy, took an early lead and held it for three laps. Throughout the whole route, however, he was followed closely by the veteran Ernie Harwood, and in the last 175 yards, Harwood passed him to win by about six yards.

The prizes were presented by Alderman John A. Worthington, chairman of the parks board, who congratulated the individual winners, and the events were witnessed by Mayor David Leeming and several other civic dignitaries.

The races were well run off by an efficient group of officials, including: General committee, A. R. C. Morton (chairman), C. Macdonald, W. Oliver; judges track events, B. R. Ker, A. Wurtele, K. Adams, W. Gray; judges field events, A. Manson, F. Nixon; judge of walking, J. A. Wiley; timekeepers, W. Lay, A. Rudge; recorder, Doug. Roberts; competitor's steward, J. Walker.

Jimmy Ball In Double Triumph

Winnipeg, July 31.—Dual victory of veteran Jimmy Ball, one-time Canadian Olympic runner, to-day stood out as highlight of the Manitoba track and field meet. Ball, whose flying feet brought fame to Canada five years ago at the Amsterdam Olympic Games, annexed the 220 and 440 yard events Saturday. His times were 23 2-5 seconds and 53 3-5 seconds respectively.

MARY HEELEY IS DEFEATED

First Ranking British Net Star Loses to Mrs. Van Ryn in East Hampton Play

Betty Nuthall and Alice Marble Winners; Mrs. Moody In Doubles Victory

East Hampton, N.Y., July 31.—Mary Heeley, first ranking British tennis player, was eliminated in the quarter-final round of the Maidstone invitation tournament yesterday by Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn, Orange, N.J., 6-4, 5-7, 6-4.

Advancing with Mrs. Van Ryn into the semi-finals were Betty Nuthall, England, and Alice Marble, San Francisco.

Later in the day, Miss Nuthall advanced to the finals by eliminating Virginia Rice, Boston, 6-3, 6-3.

Playing in her first tournament since her Wimbledon victory, Helen Wills Moody teamed up with Miss Marble to win a quarter-final doubles match from Miss Rice and Miss Sachs, 6-3, 6-0.

Sarah Palfrey and Carolin Babcock, Los Angeles, were eliminated in the double quarter-finals by Margaret Scriven, member of the British Wightman Cup team, and Elizabeth Ryan, England, 6-3, 6-4.

Miss Heeley and Miss Nuthall teamed up to gain the semi-finals by virtue of a 4-6, 6-2, 6-2 victory over Miss Cruickshank and Mrs. Van Ryn.

and Finney; Kolp, Bob Smith, Benton, Frey and Manion.

New York, July 31—After making five attempts to win his thirteenth game of the season, Ben Cantwell, lean right hander of Boston Braves, finally succeeded yesterday. He pitched Boston to a 5 to 3 victory over the Giants, holding the league leaders to eight hits.

The Braves hit Hal Schumacher hard, piling up enough runs to win the game before Carl Hubbell came in to pitch the last two innings to bring his scorless string to forty and one-third innings. He needs only four more shutout stanzas to break Ed. Ruelbach's National League record made in 1908.

winning his own delivery at love. The spurt was short-lived, however, for Murio again won his service for game, set and match, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

LOSE MIXED DOUBLES

The mixed doubles was the hardest fought of the doubles finals, though the men's event did go to five sets. After a first set, which went on interminably, Russell and Miss Bundy won out at 17-15. In the second set the Californians increased the pressure and had 3-5 and 0-40 on Williams's serve before the Victorians won two straight points after good rallies. At 30-40, however, Williams netted and the match was over.

Hunt and Russell started off in fine style against Murio and Kinnealy, winning the first set at 6-3, but except for the fourth set the eventual winners had the edge on the play and quickly ran into a 5-0 lead in the fifth set. At this point their opponents rallied to take two games, but could not hold Kinnealy's service in the eighth game.

Mary Campbell and Mrs. Wilson lost the first set at 6-3 against Miss Wheeler and Mrs. Gross, but their steady play in the second set resulted in their running it out from four-all. The third set was all theirs as they won it with the loss of just one game.

H. G. Garrett won the British Columbia veteran's singles championship from W. C. Merston, 6-2, 7-5, and Merston and Agar won the doubles from W. Peden and J. G. Brown, 6-2, 6-3. The men's consolation prize went to Harry Goldman, San Francisco youth, who downed Bob Underwood, Los Angeles junior, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, and the women's to Mae Doeg, Santa Monica, who beat Mona Miller, Victoria, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Calgary Engages Prince Albert In Decider To-night

Prince Albert Ties Up Series at Game Apiece With 2 to 1 Victory Saturday

Winnipeg, July 31. — A fierce and determined fight relentlessly maintained for more than half an hour and finally rewarded with two goals in quick succession, gave Prince Albert City Reds a 2 to 1 victory over Calgary C.P.R. Saturday evening, and left the teams tied for western Canada soccer honors, making necessary a third game to-night.

One game behind in the race for the right to meet the eastern winners in the Dominion Football Association finals here this week, the Saskatchewan champions came from behind a one-goal deficit to win the game with two quick tallies early in the second half of a gruelling battle witnessed by more than 2,500 excited fans at Carruthers Park.

In spite of Calgary's prompt jump into the lead four minutes after the whistle when Yoxall popped a lob over Milne's head, Prince Albert laid down a barrage of concerted rushes that kept play in C.P.R. territory for the rest of the half and bore fruit five minutes in the second when Duffield scored the evener on a pass from Byers. Three minutes later Jock Boyd booted the ball past McKenzie to give the Reds the lead they managed to hold to the end.

SET STIFF PACE

In half an hour Calgary were only out of their territory twice and Prince Albert were still trying desperately for the equalizer when half time came.

Five minutes into the second half Duffield at outside left took a cross from inside right, Byers poked it toward the posts and saw it dribble past McKenzie into the net corner for Prince Albert's tying counter. Less than three minutes later Jock Boyd at inside left, put them ahead when he left-hooked a corner kick into the far corner of the net.

Prince Albert appeared so satisfied with their one-goal lead they rearranged their forward line and went on a safe defensive. The two teams played a very loose contest for the remaining forty minutes, and both showed signs of tiring.

AGED CLERGYMAN DIES

Toronto, July 31 (Canadian Press).—Rev. Canon Thomas George McGonigle, member of the ministry of the Anglican Church in Canada and the United States for the last fifty years, died at his home here yesterday after a severe illness. After serving in the ministry in England for several years, Dr. McGonigle came to America as a missionary to the western states.

RALLY GIVES CAMERONS WIN

Score Four Runs in Eighth to Defeat Tillicums 7 to 6 in Senior Baseball

Rallying in the first half of the eighth inning to score four runs, Camerons nosed out the Tillicums, 7 to 6, in the Senior Amateur Baseball League game at the Athletic Park on Saturday evening. The game was called at that stage on account of darkness. It was the second defeat in as many days for the clubmen as they were beaten 7 to 1 Friday evening by the Sons of Canada. They are still in second place behind the pace-setting Camerons.

Goldie McKinney handled the pitching duties for Camerons. He was found for twelve hits, including three for extra bases, struck out eleven and walked one. The Tillicums paraded three pitchers to the hillock. Proudlove started but was yanked in the fifth in favor of Colgate, who retired in the eighth to be replaced by Jones. Camerons collected ten hits off the trio.

With the score standing 6 to 3, Camerons exploded the fireworks in the eighth. McKenzie opened up with a triple, and scored on Ashikawa's ground out. Dunc and McKinney followed with successive singles, Dunc reaching third. The latter was caught trying to steal home. Love's hit over second scored McKinney. Nex singled and Belcher followed with a double to score Love. Bridgewood walked, filling the bases. Essler was safe on an error, allowing Nex to score for Camerons' fourth run. McKenzie grounded out to Gibbons, ending the inning.

Listless Session In Wheat Market And Prices Lower

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, July 31—Wheat prices paused for breath to-day after two weeks of excited fluctuations and at the close of the most listless session in some time, values on Winnipeg Grain Exchange showed losses ranging from ⅛ to 1¼ cents from the previous finish.

Traders appeared to be awaiting new developments in the crop and export situations. Operations were decidedly routine in character and at the close July delivery was quoted at 79, October at 80, December 81¾ and May 85¾ cents.

After dropping down a cent in early dealings, prices stayed in the rut for the balance of the session. Fluctuations were extremely narrow and volume of trade not at all large.

Weather reports from western Canada were rather bearish but unofficial reports of frost in the wheat areas partially offset this. Liverpool was not as weak as expected. Near the close quotations were ⅜d to ½d lower. Most of the selling pressure appeared to come from the south while early support was credited to houses with New York and Continental connections.

Week-end export sales of Canadian wheat were estimated at only a few hundred bushels. World wheat shipments for the past week totaled a little more than 9,000,000 bushels with North America being credited with 4,000,000 bushels.

Cash grains trading was dull and uninteresting. Coarse grains slipped in sympathy with wheat, flax flopping six cents at one time.

Associated Press

Chicago, July 31.—For the third successive day, grain prices to-day fell the maximum amounts permitted under new regulations of leading American exchanges, 3 to 5 cents.

Liquidating sales were strongly in evidence and, despite numerous rallies, proved persistent enough to dominate over all other factors. During much of the day, business was virtually at a standstill, with brokers holding quantities of selling orders that could not be executed.

August monthly unofficial domestic crop summaries to be issued to-morrow were expected to show the smallest aggregate yield of wheat and oats since 1893.

MONTREAL LIST OFF FRACTIONS

Canadian Press

Montreal, July 31—Prices on Montreal Stock Exchange moved gradually lower to-day with fractional losses predominating at the close.

Brazilian Traction was unchanged at 14 while International Nickel eased 60 cents at 18.50 and Canadian Pacific Railway ⅛ at 18⅞. Montreal Power eased ¾ at 37. Canadian Industrial Alcohol "A" declined ⅞ at 17 and the "B" ⅛ at 15⅞. Consolidated Smelters lost 5⅛ points t 121⅞.

EASTERN MINES WEAKER TO-DAY

Canadian Press

Toronto, July 31.—Leaders in all sections of the standard mining board lost ground to-day, recessions ranging up to around 3.00 among some of the high-priced gold stocks. Traders were cautious.

Dome was the weakest of the gold group, dropping 3.25 to 33.25, while Lake Shore was off 2.00, McIntyre 2.10 to 32.50, Pioneer 25 to 12.00, Hollinger 15 to $9.50 and Teck Hughes and Wright Hargreaves about 20 each.

Noranda lost 1.50 to 32.25 and Nickel 90 to 18.45. Base Metals Corporation lost 10, Hudson Bay 50, and Coast Copper about 50.

Silver and oil stocks eased back also, Eldorado losing about 25, Mining Corporation 5 and Nipissing 25. Home Oil closed 15 lower and Associated down 6

HOME OIL CO. NOT INDEBTED

Canadian Press

Vancouver, July 31—"Quite contrary to a statement appearing in the current issue of the usually well-informed Toronto Financial Post, Home Oil Company is not in any way indebted to the Imperial Oil Company, or to anyone else," stated Colonel Nelson Spencer, president of the Home Oil Company Ltd., this morning. "It owns its entire Turner Valley property, land, wells and equipment, without obligation of any kind, the Imperial Oil having been completely repaid all moneys advanced by it in connection with drilling operations. The present net average monthly income from the wells, after deducting all operating and management expenses, is $2,500, but this will probably be increased to between $4,000 and $4,500, as soon as the new absorption process installed by the Imperial Oil Company comes into full operation.

"Home Oil Company has definitely entered the mining field, and its major interest lies in that direction. It has large interests in Pioneer Extension Gold, which adjoins the Pioneer mine on the east and on which crews are now working under the direction of Colonel Snill, and in other Bridge River properties, which, with Pioneer Extension are under the control and management of Home Oil.

BRITANNIA WILL INCREASE OUTPUT

Canadian Press

Vancouver, July 31.—Britannia Mines has made a substatnial increase in its working force within the past week or two and will operate its mill for several days a month more than during the past year, it was stated Saturday by C. P. Browning, general manager.

The men taken on are practically all former employees with a good record in the mine.

Copper, which averaged 14 cents a pound for about fifty years, dropped to 5 cents during the depression but is now back to 9 ments and it has been possible to increase the output to some extent, he said.

The report of the Department of Mines also states that profitable zinc values have been developed in a portion of the mine during the past year, although zinc has never hitherto been an important part of the Britannia yield.

Substantial Drops In Stock Prices In Apathetic Market

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

MONDAY, JULY 31

(By Jenks, Gwynne & Co.)

The stock market slumped considerably to-day and weakness was displayed in practically all departments. Opening about two points below Saturday's close issues fell until about 2 o'clock, when they were about five points off, and then began to strengthen in the last hour. This was the first day of the resumption of full hours on the New York Stock Exchange.

The closing Dow Jones averages were:

Twenty rails—45.46 off 2.35.
Twenty utilities—29.99 off 1.57.
Forty bonds—88.02 off 0.20.

Sales on the New York Stock Exchange, which started running on full time again to-day, reached a total of 3,090,000.

The range in the various stock divisions, as compiled by the Dow Jones Company, to-day were as follows:

INDUSTRIALS

12.00—89.89, off 4.65.
1.00—89.69, off 4.85.
2.00—88.59, off 5.95.

RAILS

11.00—46.34, off 1.47.
12.00—45.95, off 1.86.
1.00—45.26, off 2.25.
2.00—44.59, off 3.22.

UTILITIES

11.00—30.60, off 0.96.
12.00—30.65, off 1.21.
1.00—30.12, off 1.44.
2.00—29.59, off 1.98.

Associated Press

New York, July 31.—Stock prices declined one to nine points in a dull apathetic market to-day. The reaction was attributed primarily to scarcity of bids as no concerted selling pressure was apparent. Prices were around the low points in late dealings. Allied Chemical, U.S. Smelting and Case were down about nine points each. Transfers approximated 2,300,000 shares.

By Victor Eubank Associated Press Financial Writer

New York, July 31.—Security markets stumbled over the expected "secondary reaction" to-day, but trading volume dwindled appreciably on the downside, and bids and offers were far apart in many instances.

While most stock categories lacked support, with several of the recent pools apparently not yet reorganized, there was no marked liquidating pressure except in the instance of some of the recently more buoyant specialties. Wheat, corn, rye and oats went through a series of rallies and declines, and were generally heavy.

Silvers improved moderately. Bonds were soft in spots. United States dollar gyrated uncertainly in foreign exchange dealings. Sterling gained nearly 10 cents at one time and then lost most of the advance.

Most Canadian stocks and bonds displayed an irregular lower drift, while the Dominion Government 5s were a trifle higher. The 4s and 4½s sagged fractionally, as did some of the Canadian Pacific issues. Stocks off a point or more included Dome, McIntyre Porcupine and International Nickel. The Canadian dollar advanced 5-16 of a cent at 93.31¼ cents.

Most commission houses were down to around a normal rate of business to-day, and predictions were general that a quieter market could be expected during the next few weeks with price fluctuations much milder than in many past sessions. To-day's business was largely professional.

Shares off one to more than four points included U.S. Steel, American Telephone, United Aircraft, Industrial Rayon, Sears Roebuck, Chrysler, General Motors, Dupont, General Electric, American Can, American Smelting, Bethlehem Steel, Alaska Juneau, National Distillers, Commercial Solvents, American Commercial Alcohol, Crown Cork, Owens-Illinois, Cerro De Pasco, Johns-Manville, Consolidated Gas, Western Union, Westinghouse, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, N.Y. Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Illinois Central and Deere.

How To Rear Fine Youngsters | Dorothy Dix | Offers Plan Which Proved A Success

"I Have Respected My Children as Human Beings," Explains Mother Asked to Tell Formula She Used In Rearing Attractive Children; "I Have Always Tried Things Out on Myself to See How I Would Like Them Before Subjecting My Children to Them"

A WOMAN, whose sons and daughters are a crown of glory to her, was asked the other day by a group of mothers for her recipe for bringing up children.

"For the proof of the pudding is in the eating," said one of the women, "and I never saw as nice, well-behaved, well-mannered children as yours. And they are obedient in a day when an obedient child is a museum curiosity."

"Oh, I have no formula for bringing up children," replied the woman, "but I did rear mine according to a theory that I had and it has worked out pretty well. I have always had an idea that we undervalued children's intelligence, and especially that we undervalued their sense of justice and personal dignity, and so from the time that mine could understand anything at all I have respected them as human beings and tried to treat them, as nearly as I could, as I would grown-up people.

"I have always tried things out on myself to see how I would like them before I subjected my poor little helpless children to them. For instance, discussing a child before its face and having all of its faults and weaknesses dragged out in the open. What one of us could endure being pilloried before a roomful of people and have some one say how unfortunate it was that we had inherited the Smith's big nose or that we didn't get the Jones' mouth or that we looked pale and sickly or that we are overbig or undersized?

"And which one of us could endure it if we told the person that we loved and trusted above all others in the world the most sacred secret of our souls, and that person laughed at our dreams or made a funny story out of our confidence and told it as a great joke to a lot of guffawing people?

"We would feel like committing murder, wouldn't we? And we would never tell the one who had betrayed us anything again as long as we lived. Yet we let poor little Johnny or Susie be baited by the criticisms of all of the aunts and the cousins without once considering that they are just as much outraged by it as we would be, and we hold our children up to ridicule without reflecting that they are just as much mortified as we would be if we were made a public laughing stock.

"I have never committed these atrocities against my children. I have used just as much tact in dealing with them as I would with any grown-up person, and if they feel that I am their best friend and come to me with all their confidences it is because they know that no matter what they tell me I will never blab.

"As for my children being obedient, it is because, in the first place, I have never put too many restrictions on them. I have never been one of those DON'T mothers who forbid everything a child wants to do. I have given mine just as much liberty as was possible and then when I had to forbid a thing they knew there was a good reason for it and respected it.

"And I have taken the sting out of obedience by taking the trouble to explain to my children why they couldn't do certain things. To issue an arbitrary order rouses a child's fighting spirit. To explain why it is impossible or inexpedient to do it appeals to his sense of justice and fairness and he is willing to co-operate with you. Children like to know that some one is in authority over them. It gives them a feeling of safety to know that they are being directed by a strong hand, but they want to know why and they want to feel sure that they are getting a square deal and if they are assured of this they are willing to obey.

"A great many people keep all of their troubles and worries away from their children, and especially they never talk to their children about the lack of money. They say they do not wish their youngsters to be burdened with the cares of life so early. We have pursued the opposite tactics and have explained to our children that we are not rich people and cannot afford to give them the luxuries that wealthy parents give their children.

"This has not only made our children content to have plainer clothes and fewer treats, but it has made them want to help us. It has sort of put them on their honor to be good sports about it and not to whine or cry or add to their father's burdens by being discontented. They would feel that way about it if they did not know of our circumstances and thought we were just being mean and stingy to them.

"People often wonder at our children doing cheerfully and with enthusiasm chores that they wear themselves out trying to get their children to do. It is because we have made them partners in the home. It is their house as much as ours and they are responsible for doing their definite part, not only in making it comfortable, but in making it pleasant. So Mary does one thing and John another and Sally something else, and if any one falls down in his task the others make him feel a quitter.

"We have taught the children good manners by being as polite to them as we desire them to be to other people. You can't yell at a child and expect him to return the soft answer. Good manners are simply a matter of habit. We have taught our children good ones instead of bad ones, and they eat with their forks and use the right spoon and are suave and courteous because they don't know that they could do otherwise.

"In a word, we have treated our children as if they were intelligent human beings instead of puppets or slaves or playthings, and the result has been satisfactory—to their parents, at all events."

ALLEN JOURNEYS ALONE

The day of the vain smoke signal—and of the can of salmon—passed. All were rather hungry when bedtime came that day, and a new problem arose at night in the form of chill winds. Up to now the air had been fairly comfortable at this place on Greenland's shore.

The stone became loose, and tumbled to the base of the

"We ought to be able to find birds' eggs in some of the nests on the cliffs," he said to himself. "That will help."

Allen was the first to awaken in the morning. He arose and stretched himself, then placed more wood on the fire. Feeling thirsty, he took the cork from the jug and drank a little water. As he did so, he noticed that the jug was almost empty.

"Why not go to the snowfield before they wake up?" he asked himself. "I can take some wood and our burning glass with me, and I'll bring back some water."

After placing the remainder of the water in the empty salmon can, he strode toward the mountain side. It was a long walk, but there was beauty in it. The Arctic sun was in sight once more, though the time could hardly be later than 2 o'clock in the morning.

Up the mountainside he climbed until he came to a steep cliff. He remembered how Uncle Tim had helped him and Roberta get past it the day before. The cliff had a sheer prop of about eight feet, but there were jutting rocks which a person could use in climbing it. Loaded down as he was with the jug and the wood, he managed to get almost to the top. Then, by a stroke of ill fortune, he caught hold a ledge which was not firmly in place. The stone shook loose, and Allen tumbled to the base of the cliff. Bruised and dazed by the fall, he hardly knew where he was for a moment, but he managed to return to his Warren, O., July 31 (Associated Press)—Two men and two women were burned to death Sunday when their automobile collided with a truck at Vienna, near here, and gasoline from one of the vehicles burst into flames, igniting both the automobiles and the truck. Sheriff Roy Hardman said the men were identified as Gabriel Sebok of Struthers, O., and W. M. Say of Youngstown.

Identification of the bodies of the women was not immediately possible.

HAWKS FLIES NEAR ARCTIC

Noted Speed Aviator in Great Bear Lake Region; Will Greet Mollisons

No Atlantic Hops For Him, He Says, Until Flying Boats Can Land Safely on Ocean

New York, July 31.—A non-stop flight of almost 2,000 miles will bring Lieut.-Commander Frank M. Hawks from Edmonton to Bridgeport, Conn., Friday to attend a reception to Capt. James Mollison and his wife, the former Amy Johnson.

Announcement of the flight was made here by the oil company for which Hawks is aeronautical adviser At the same time the company also announced a series of flights by Hawks over the Canadian Northwest, extending as far north as Great Bear Lake on the rim of the Arctic Circle.

Hawks, who flew from New York to Regina last week for the World Grain Conference, will have covered approximately 6,000 miles when he gets to Bridgeport. Of this distance, 1,780 miles will be covered Tuesday and Wednesday in a flight from Edmonton to Great Bear Lake and return. The straight-line distance from Edmonton to Bridgeport is about 1,920 miles, which Hawks expects to cover in approximately ten hours.

Calgary, July 31.—Two hours and thirty-five minutes after he left Regina, Capt. Frank Hawks, United States speed pilot, set his fast plane down at Calgary airport at 7.40 p.m. yesterday evening. Stiff headwinds retarded his progress on the 400-mile flight, continuation of the trip he made from New York to Regina last week in ten hours.

Greeted here by a group of Calgary airmen, Capt. Hawks announced his intention of flying non-stop from Edmonton to Bridgeport, Conn., 2,050 miles, on August 4 to attend a reception in honor of Capt. and Mrs. Mollison, flying British couple who crashed at the Connecticut city while only a short distance from New York, goal of their transatlantic hop from Wales.

Some day, the captain said, he might hop non-stop across Canada, but he emphasized there would be no transatlantic flights for him until "there are machines that will do 500 miles an hour or flying boats sufficiently seaworthy to land on the ocean and stay above the surface for a while."

Capt. Hawks spent yesterday at Banff. He left for Edmonton this morning in his speedy monoplane. From Edmonton, he plans a flight to Great Bear Lake to participate in that northern settlement's annual picnic.

MAN'S SHOUTS ARE HEARD EIGHT MILES

Cumberland Gap, Tenn., July 31.—By shouting so loudly his voice was heard—according to the judges—a distance of eight miles and in three states at the same time, Lee Chrisman, thirty-two-year-old Kentucky farmer living near Danville, yesterday set what his followers claim is a world record.

In the stillness of the mountains Chrisman, who is an auctioneer, climbed to the top of the pinnacle of Cumberland Gap, then yelled as loudly as he could.

Bound for California ports, Mexico, Central America, the Panama Canal, Colombia, Havana and New York, the Grace liner Santa Rosa, Capt. Curt Zastrow, will sail from the Rithet piers this afternoon at 6 o'clock with a capacity list of passengers and a heavy general cargo. The ship left Seattle this morning at 11 o'clock and arrived here at 3 o'clock, to spend three hours before putting to sea.

A large number of passengers will join the liner here. They include several Californians, returning south after holidays on Vancouver Island. Among those booked at the local office are: Charles Eva, going to San Francisco; Miss Madeleine Bradshaw, also for San Francisco; Mrs. E. Bates, R. E. Bates, P. R. Bates, returning to New York; Mrs. L. A. Kliem, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Harmon and Mr. and Mrs. C. King.

Among those who sailed from Seattle this morning, and who are seeing Victoria this afternoon, are: William Hemphill of the Commonwealth Securities Company of Portland and Mrs. Hemphill, bound for New York; James Brewster, Mrs. Brewster, and Miss Margaret Brewster of Seattle for New York; Mrs. Henry McClure of Seattle, en route to New York; Miss Marjorie Walling of Amity, Ore., bound for Balboa, where she will be married; R. D. Prentice of the South American Development Company, bound for Guayaquil, Ecuador.

Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Bates, Chandler Bates Jr., and William Bates of New York, returning home; Henry C. McDuff, bound for New York; Misses Honoria, Catherine, Della and Madeline Hanley, for New York, and Senor Ulpiano Borja, Senora Elvira de Borja and Claudia Borja. Borja recently was appointed consul-general in San Francisco for Ecuador.

Other passengers include Mr. and Mrs. Allan Starr, returning to their home in Piedmont, Calif.; Bert Farrar, president of Burke and Farrar, on a business and pleasure trip to California; Judge and Mrs. E. J. Fleming, residents of Los Angeles, returning from an Alaska trip; A. C. Dimon, executive vice-president of the Bank of America, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Dimon, returning from a motor trip in the northwest, and Miss Ella Vanderbilt, sister of W. D. Vanderbilt, Seattle district manager for the Grace Line.

A. J. Hailey, R.N.R., among a total of 200 passengers from the Philippines, China, Japan and Hawaii.

Dr. Hu Shih, of Shanghai, celebrated Chinese philosopher and scholar, and chaiman of the international programme committee of the Pacific Institute, arrived several weeks ago on the Empress of Russia.

Capt. H. R. Marrack, R.N., commander of H.M.S. Medway, mother ship of the British submarine fleet in the China station, will also arrive on the Empress of Canada, en route to England and will make his first tour across the Dominion

Other passengers include Mrs. A. E. Digman and her sons, Jessse and Earl Digman, Portland, Ore.; A. D. Stewart, Hongkong, and Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Lampe of Seattle.

Hon. H. M. Marler, Canadian minister at Tokio, and Mrs. Marler, travelled on the Empress of Canada from Yokohama to Honolulu, where they arrived Thursday. They will remain in the Hawaiian Islands for a few weeks, rejoining the Empress of Canada August 17 for the return trip to Japan.

RANGER HERE FROM ENGLAND

Docked This Morning and Lifted Cargo of Locally Canned Loganberries

Akibasan Maru Expected To-day and Gyokoh Maru Wednesday; Nordfarer Clears

For the London market, a cargo of locally canned loganberries went out from Victoria to-day aboard the Furness motorliner Pacific Ranger, Capt. R. H. Leaman, which docked at the Rithet piers this morning at 7 o'clock from the United Kingdom, by way of the Panama Canal and California ports.

For discharge here the Ranger had fifty tons of cargo. There were eight passengers aboard, all from California ports. Four disembarked here. They were Roger Sherman, Mrs. A. MacLean, Mrs. Edith Cleveland and Mrs. E. Wheatley. Those proceeding with the liner to Vancouver at noon were Miss Ruth Dodds, Miss K. Cremin, Robert Coleman and Henning Berg.

Capt. Lehman reported a good voyage all the way from London. The weather on both the Atlantic and the Pacific was calm, he said, and it was quite hot in the Panama Canal zone.

To lift 700,000 feet of Vancouver Island lumber at this port, the Japanese freighter Akibasan Maru was expected at the Ogden Point piers late this afternoon from Japan. She will be here until Wednesday morning before proceeding to Vancouver to complete for the Orient.

Nearly 1,000,000 feet of lumber was loaded here aboard the freighter Nordfarer, which left the Ogden Point piers this morning at 1 o'clock for England. The ship was here last week for cargo, then went to Port Alberni and returned here yesterday to complete.

King Brothers, local shipping agents, who handled the Pacific Ranger, the Akibasan Maru and the Nordfarer today, expect the Japanese freighter Gyokoh Maru here Wednesday morning to lift 600,000 feet of lumber for Australia and the Ss. Golden Rod here towards the end of the week to load lumber, also for Australia.

MAN WHO BROKE JAIL REARRESTED

Port Coquitlam, B.C., July 31.—Fred Fisher, who made his getaway from Fort Saskatchewan jail in Alberta, was arrested by constables of the Cloverdale detachment of the R.C.M.P. as he tramped unsuspectingly along the Dewdney Trunk Road.

The escaped man, who had been sentenced to two years imprisonment and a $100 fine for a crime committed in Lacombe, Alberta, was traveling under the name of Paul Lehman.

He will be taken back to Alberta.

Restorer To Be Overhauled

For annual overhaul, following her recent long voyage to Guam, the United States cableship Restorer went to Esquimalt harbor early this morning. She will remain there several days before returning to her berth at the Rithet piers.

The Restorer is tied up alongside the wharf at the Dominion Government drydock. She will be cleaned, painted and generally overhauled.

The Swedish freighter Tisnaren is also in Esquimalt harbor, alongside the Yarrow outfitting wharf. Repairs to her engine will be completed in another two weeks.

MALAHAT BACK FROM MEXICO

Picturesque, Locally Built Sailing Ship Will Be Overhauled in Vancouver

Returning from duty as a liquor carrier several hundred miles off the coast of Mexico, the well-known British Columbia schooner Malahat passed close to the Victoria waterfront yesterday morning, inbound to Vancouver from sea. Her place in southern waters has been taken by the Logul.

The Malahat, with her black-painted hull, and her five towering masts, made an unsual marine picture as she steamed past Victoria yesterday, driven by her auxiliary power. She made the trip up the Coast under full sail. At Cape Flattery her sails were rolled down and she came up the Straits under engine power.

Early this morning the Malahat's skipper, Capt. Stuart S. Stone of Vancouver, died in a Los Angeles hospital. He was taken ill aboard his ship at sea and rushed to Ensenada. From there he was taken to Los Angeles and underwent an operation, from which he never recovered.

The Malahat was built at the yards of the Cameron-Genoa Mills Limited in Victoria in 1917. She is registered in Lloyd's as 1,550 tons, with a length of 245 feet, a breadth of forty-three feet and a depth of twenty-one feet. She is owned by the General Navigation Company of Canada, with offices in Vancouver.

It is not known yet if the Malahat will be returned to southern waters. She will probably be overhauled in Vancouver, during the next few months.

PRINCE GEORGE SAILS TO-NIGHT

Will Take Large List of Passengers From Many Places on Cruise to Alaska

Passengers from many parts of the North American continent will sail from Vancouver this evening at 10 o'clock aboard the Canadian National liner Prince George, on a ten-day cruise to the land of the midnight sun. This sailing is one of the most heavily booked of the season and more than 250 passengers will make the voyage.

Twenty-five school teachers from New York, on an educational tour of the Northwest and Alaska, will be aboard the Prince George this evening. They reached Victoria Saturday morning from New York aboard the Grace liner Santa Rosa. They went to Seattle aboard that ship but returned here yesterday by the Ss. Princess Kathleen, remaining for a short visit before proceeding to Vancouver.

Passengers aboard from the four corners of North America include Mr. and Mrs. J. Jacoby, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Wright, G. C. Turner, W. N. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. F. Edward, all of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. W. Gibb and Miss L. Gibb of Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. R. Ware of Calgary, Mr. and Mrs. J. Healy of North Battleford, M. R. Eckersley of Calgary, Miss M. Smith, Mrs. E. Brown, J. Marshall and son, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Stevenson and H. Stevenson, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. E. Walter of Hollywood, Mrs. W. R. Mackie, Mrs. T. R. Japanese Liner Brings Returning Victorians and Others on Visits Here

Japanese Professors Arrive on Way to Attend Great Gathering at Banff

Several Victorians, and a number of prominent Japanese university professors, were among the many interesting passengers who reached Vancouver yesterday morning from Japanese ports aboard the Nippon Yusen Kaisha motorliner Hikawa Maru, Capt. B. Kaneko.

After leaving passengers and discharging cargo in Vancouver, the Hikawa proceeded to Seattle, where she arrived early this morning. She had a good parcel of general cargo for Vancouver.

Included in the Seattle cargo were 835 bales of raw silk from Japan, which were put aboard the New York-bound liner Santa Rosa. In addition to this waterborne silk, the Hikawa Maru brought six carloads of raw silk for transhipment over Great Northern lines to New York silk mills.

Among the local people aboard the Hikawa were Percy Fletcher, returning from a brief tour of Japan; W. W. Kuhn, coming to Victoria to visit relatives; Miss N. Saunders, a graduate of the Jubilee Hospital, who has been nursing in Kobe and Shanghai, and A. W. Torrible of Hongkong, coming to visit with Capt. Alfred Torrible of "Bibraltar," the Island Highway. J. Burbank, before proceeding to Chicago, will come to Victoria for a visit.

Other passengers were Professor H. Nasu, Y. Takagi, K. Takanagi and Y. Tsurumi of Tokio, going to the Pacific Relations Conference at Banff.

Among the passengers for Seattle were Miss H. V. Barnes, a missionary, returning from Duty in Japan; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. C. Hall, going to New York, and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. C. Schaay, en route from Shanghai to Holland, by way of New York.

MISSING FLIER THOUGHT SAFE

Whitehorse, Y.T., July 31.—Capt. William Strong, for whose safety fears had been held, is presumed to be safe following the discovery of his intact plane moored to a river bar twenty miles from Tulsequah, his base.

Strong left July 17 for a flight into the Liard district and when he was overdue on his return, James Eastman of Atlin made a search with a flying boat. He found the missing plane July 25 with no one in sight and, as he was unable to make a safe landing, he notified Tulsequah and returned to Atlin.

CAPT. LANDSTROM GETS NEW SHIP

When the Ss. City of Los Angeles sails from Victoria for California ports a week from to-morrow evening she will be commanded by Capt. Frank Landstrom, well known at this port as master of steamers of the Pacific Steamship Lines.

Capt. Landstrom has been coming into Victoria for many years and has served aboard all the Alexander liners. He is now master of the Ss. Dorothy Alexander, operating between Portland and California, but will leave that ship this week to take command of the City of Los Angeles and bring her north, in place of the H. F. Alexander which is in drydock in Seattle for repairs, following her grounding in a fog off Point Wilson a week ago to-day.

MATTERN IS AT NEW YORK

Round the World Flier, Lost in Wilderness Nineteen Days, at Last Reaches Goal

New York, July 31—Grinning Jimmie Mattern did not look to-day like a man back from the dead, but he was still a bit scared (he was brave enough to say—so himself) and more than a bit puzzled.

Puzzled over those five lost days that dropped right out of his life without leaving a trace — scared over a little book he is carrying around in his pocket.

The book is a diary, recording what happened to him when he lost nineteen days in the Siberian wilds after the plane in which he was trying to break the round-the-world record smashed itself into junk June 14.

As for those lost days, he guesses they never will be recovered.

Nineteen days he was lost in the wilderness, injured and facing starvation, while the world believed him dead. He kept notes carefully, but when Eskimoes rescued him only fourteen days were recorded in the diary.

"I don't know what happened to those other five days," he said.

Yachts Here On Cruises

Fine weather is calling to northwest yachtsmen these days and hundreds of boats, ranging in size from palatial yachts to tiny cabin cruisers, are out enjoying the beauties of the Gulf and neighboring waters. Many have called into Victoria this week-end, dropping anchor in the inner harbor or at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club moorings in Cadboro Bay.

George Kidd of Vancouver, president of the B.C. Electric Railway Company, was at Cadboro Bay this morning with a party of friends aboard his handsome yacht. The Uwhilna of Seattle was also at Cadboro Bay. In the inner harbor were the Dorothy of Seattle and the Wanderer of Everett.

Dinghies and stars of the Victoria Club scheduled their weekly races for Saturday afternoon, but because of the slackness of wind they were called off.

NEW VARIETY HOUR ON KOMO TO-NIGHT

TO-NIGHT
